The Super 11 Award is presented annually to the best-performing College Sports Communicators departments in the NCAA Division I Football Bowl Subdivision. This is the third time since the FWAA unveiled the award in January of 2009 and the second time in as many years that Texas Tech has been recognized as the university previously claimed the award in 2013. SOUTH END ZONE & WOMBLE FOOTBALL CENTER

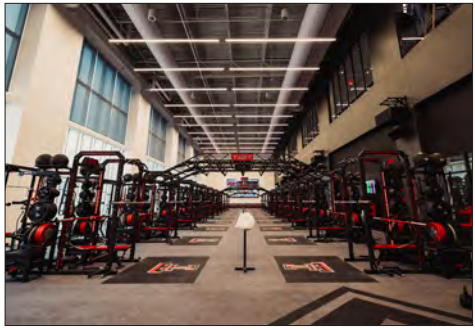
DUSTIN R. WOMBLE FOOTBALL CENTER, THE NATION'S LARGEST CONTIGUOUS FOOTBALL FACILITY

Texas Tech officially opened the South End Zone and Dustin R. Womble Football Center project during the 2024 season, featuring more than 340,000 combined square feet of space with a blend of world-class modern design and technology elements with Spanish Renaissance architecture well known to Texas Tech supporters. The $242 million project marks the largest contiguous football facility in the country, connecting the South End Zone Building to the Womble Football Center and the Sports Performance Center, which opened in 2017 as Texas Tech's indoor football practice facility and indoor track and field venue.

UNMATCHED PLAYER AMENTITIES

The entire facility significantly upgraded the amenities provided to the Red Raiders on a daily basis, notably with a two-story players' lounge, the "Uncommon Man" barber sharp, a state-of-the-art hydrotherapy recovery suite and a primary 12,000-square-foot locker room located in the Womble Football Center. Texas Tech also maintains an 85-player gameday locker room in the south end zone located not far from a gameday lounge for recruits during pregame and then letterwinners after kickoff. The Red Raiders' main locker room is located in the Womble Football Center, which includes space for 120-plus athletes and modern primary designs from Hollman that are fully ventilated and contain USB charging ports and DreamSeat technology. The Womble Football Center also features a letterwinners lounge, giving former players direct access to the facility to watch practice from a balcony overlooking the outdoor practice fields.



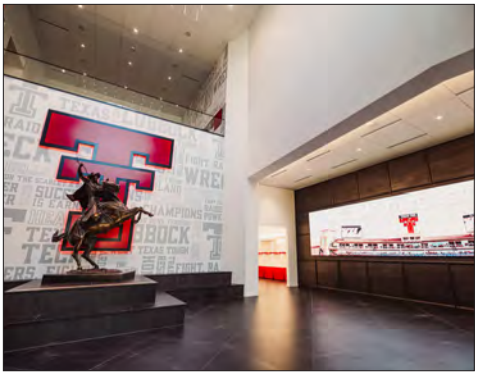
PLAYER DEVELOPMENT & RECOVERY

- The second floor of the Womble Football Center features the revolutionary 4,500-plus square foot multi-purpose Patrick Mahomes II Walkthrough Area designed for large-scale indoor team strategy implementation, instruction and technique evaluation only a few steps from the team meeting space and position rooms. The space includes a 25-by-20 yard turf surface in front of a 70-foot wide by 10.5-foot high LED screen that is the largest in both college football and the NFL for walkthrough areas. The LED screen will allow Texas Tech's coaches to simulate an opponent's formation and scheme, giving the Red Raiders real-time feedback through advanced technology during game preparations on the turf field.
- Texas Tech now boasts a 15,000-square-foot, two-level weight room, one of the largest in college football. The weight room area is located in the southwest corner of the Womble Football Center, giving the Red Raiders direct access into the Sports Performance Center and the outdoor practice fields.
- Joey McGuire and his staff moved into their new coaches' offices on the second floor of the South End Zone Building, giving them a stunning view overlooking Cody Campbell Field at Galaxy Stadium. The office location places McGuire and his staff steps from each position room and the skybridge connected to the Womble Football Center where offensive and defensive breakout rooms are located as well as a team meeting space and the state-of-the-art Patrick Mahomes II Walkthrough Area on the second level.
- Since his arrival, Joey McGuire has stressed the need for recovery. The Red Raiders have just that now with a Cryotherapy machine, red-light technology devices and multiple sleep deprovation and hyrdotherapy beds located both in a state-of-the-art training room and in a recovery room located just off the locker room. Texas Tech also utilizes five plunge pools, two in a spa area with direct access to the locker room and three others in the sports medicine area. The sports medicine area also includes it's own doctors wing for team physicians.

SOUTH END ZONE & WOMBLE FOOTBALL CENTER

GARY PETERSEN FIELD CLUB

The Red Raiders enter Galaxy Stadium each gameday through the Gary Petersen Field Club, a 12,000-square-foot premium space that is among the first of its kind in college football. It is one of several new premium areas as Texas Tech has added 17 new luxury suites to go along with 500 club and loge box seats and two spacious party decks. Texas Tech now boasts 102 premium suites throughout Galaxy Stadium to go along with more than 2,500 club and loge box seat options. The Red Raiders now enter behind the south goal post prior to kickoff each Saturday, trailing the Masked Rider in one of college football's greatest tradition. Fans in the field club get a premium look at this each gameday as the Red Raiders will touch the iconic Masked Rider saddle before being welcomed by a line of supporters moments before kickoff.



NEW TECHNOLOGY

In addition to the large-scale construction, Texas Tech also enhanced its gameday experience as part of the project, adding nine LED displays through Daktronics as well as a state-of-the-art sound system by Clair Audio, a national leader in large venue audio production. The added LED displays include the main videoboard on the north end of the stadium, expanding it to 37-feet high by 136-feet wide in size with 10-millimeter pixel spacing for excellent image clarity and contrast. Texas Tech also constructed two new video displays atop its South End Zone Building measuring 28-feet high by 48-feet wide, featuring content zoning abilities that are already a staple of the north end zone videoboard. All three new videoboards feature 10mm pixel pitch, providing every fan in the 60,000-plus seat stadium with the highest resolution display in college football.

MORE THAN $500 MILLION RAISED

The South End Zone Building and Womble Football Center closed The Campaign for Fearless Champions, one of the most-successful fundraising initiatives in university history that raised more than $500 million to transform Texas Tech's athletic facilities across every sport, while also pouring resources into the student-athlete experience through scholarship endowments and the creation of the J.T. and Margaret Talkington Office of Student-Athlete Development.

THE BEST GAMEDAY EXPERIENCE

Texas Tech previously enhanced the atmosphere inside Galaxy Stadium prior to the 2023 season with a new Musco LED lighting system to go along with a state-of-the-art playing surface from Hellas. The lighting system provides Texas Tech with the ability to utilize choreographed patterns designed to music during its pregame entertainment, in-between quarters and after touchdowns. The lighting system has already greatly enhanced the in-game fan experience, especially under the Galaxy Stadium lights where the Red Raiders have traditionally boasted one of the nation's top homefield advantages.

THE ICONIC DOUBLE T SCOREBOARD

The 2024 season marked the return of the iconic Double T scoreboard, a landmark on the Texas Tech campus since 1978. As part of the project, Texas Tech constructed a new Double T scoreboard atop the new South End Zone Building, using the same dimensions as its previous model but placing it at a much higher elevation. The new Double T Scoreboard is now 115 feet off the ground at its peak, giving students and alumni stunning views at various locations throughout campus.

JOEY McGUIRE

Head Coach | Fifth Season

Joey McGuire enters his fifth season as Texas Tech's head football coach where he has quickly built the Red Raiders into a Big 12 champion and a national contender.

The 17th head coach in program history, McGuire was named to the position on Nov. 8, 2021, by Director of Athletics Kirby Hocutt. Since then, McGuire has pushed Texas Tech to its first outright conference championship since 1955, all while recording the most Big 12 wins by any conference school since his hiring. Texas Tech capped its historic 2025 season with not only the Big 12 title but its first College Football Playoff appearance in school history, marking the fourth-consecutive bowl appearance for the Red Raiders under McGuire.

Texas Tech is a combined 35-18 during McGuire's tenure as head coach, which has included at least five Big 12 victories in each of his four seasons. The Red Raiders, who wrapped the 2025 season with a school record 12 wins and an 8-1 record in Big 12 play, are joined by Kansas State as the only active Big 12 programs to record five or more league wins in each of the past four years, regardless of conference affiliation. Texas Tech previously finished 6-3 against conference opponents in 2024, marking their most league wins since 2009 at the time.

The Red Raiders' success under McGuire doesn't stop there. In four short seasons, Texas Tech has accomplished the following:

- Texas Tech built one of the most-dominant teams in recent history during the 2025 season as all 12 wins were by at least 20 points, which included a 34-7 victory over BYU in the Edward Jones Big 12 Championship. The Red Raiders were only the fifth team in the Associated Press era (since 1936) to record 12 or more wins by 20-plus points in a season, joining the likes of Nebraska (1971), Florida State (2013), Alabama (2018) and Clemson (2018). Of that group, only the Red Raiders and Alabama recorded their 12th win by at least 20 points prior to the bowl game.
- Texas Tech's eight Big 12 wins by at least 20 points during the 2025 season were the most in league history. The Red Raiders were only the sixth team in college football history to win eight or more conference games by that margin, joining Florida State (1993), BYU (1996), Boise State (2002), Alabama (2018) and Ohio State (2019).
- McGuire is only the second head coach in program history to push the Red Raiders to a bowl appearance in each of his first four seasons, joining Mike Leach who did so in each of his 10 years in Lubbock. He is already only the fourth head coach in program history to lead the Red Raiders to four or more bowl appearances overall, joining not only Leach (9) but Spike Dykes (7) and Jim Carlen (4).
- Texas Tech has combined for 35 wins in McGuire's first four seasons, the most for a Red Raider head coach during that span in school history. He joins E.Y. Freeland (1925-28) and Leach (2000-09) as the only head coaches in program history to record a winning record in each of his first four seasons.
- The Red Raiders are a combined 22-5 at home over McGuire's four seasons, turning Galaxy Stadium into a consistent home field advantage. That record includes a 14-4 mark during Big 12 play for the Red Raiders, who have won eight-consecutive games in front of their home crowd entering the 2026 season.
- McGuire is now the only head coach in program history to lead the Red Raiders to an above .500 conference record in each of his first four seasons. Prior to his debut 2022 season, Texas Tech had not recorded a winning conference record since 2009 as the Red Raiders were a combined 36-71 (.336) in the 12 years before McGuire's arrival, with no seasons of at least a .500 record. Texas Tech's current streak is only the third time in program history the Red Raiders have recorded a winning conference record over four-consecutive seasons and the first time since the 1991-97 campaigns.
- Dating back to Texas Tech's acceptance into the Southwest Conference in 1960, McGuire has the highest conference winning percentage for a head coach in his first four seasons. McGuire, who is 25-12 against Big 12 foes when the Big 12 Championship win over BYU is included, leads the likes of Steve Sloan, who was 15-8 in his three seasons in the Southwest Conference from 1975-77, as well as Jim Carlen, who was 17-11 in his first four seasons of his 1970-74 tenure.
- McGuire became the first head coach in program history to lead the Red Raiders to a bowl victory in each of his first two seasons as Texas Tech downed Ole Miss in the 2022 TaxAct Texas Bowl and then Cal in the 2023 Radiant Technologies Independence Bowl.
- McGuire's eight-win debut in 2022 finished one victory shy for the most ever by a first-year head coach in program history as Dell Morgan previously led the Red Raiders to a 9-2 record in 1941. Texas Tech closed the 2022 season with a 42-25 victory over Ole Miss in the TaxAct Texas Bowl, marking its fourth-consecutive victory to close the season. The Red Raiders had not previously ended a season with four-straight wins since 1995.
- McGuire is the only head coach in program history to defeat Texas and Oklahoma in the same season after the Red Raiders defeated both in overtime during his debut season in 2022.
- Red Raider fans have come to expect strong finishes under McGuire as Texas Tech is a combined 13-3 in the month of November in his four seasons despite having to start three different quarterbacks each of his first two years. Texas Tech's 13 wins in November are the most for any Big 12 program during that span.

THE PATH TO THE NFL

Texas Tech has become a mainstay for the NFL under McGuire's watch, not only for his open-door policy to scouts and front office personnel but for the upgrade in talent heading to the next level. The Red Raiders have had 14 players hear their name called during the NFL Draft throughout McGuire's tenure, including a school record nine during the 2026 draft alone.

That list includes a pair of top-10 picks in rush ends Tyree Wilson in 2023 and then David Bailey this past spring. For Wilson, he was picked seventh overall by the Las Vegas Raiders, becoming the highest-drafted Texas Tech defensive player in program history at the time. Wilson earned first team All-America honors by the Football Writers Association of America (FWAA) following his 2022 senior season and was a first team All-Big 12 honoree after totaling 14.0 tackles for loss and 7.0 sacks over 10 games. He matched Ring of Honor member Donny Anderson as being the second-highest drafted Red Raider in program history at the time (all positions) and the highest in the modern era.

Bailey, meanwhile, surpassed Wilson's status as the second-highest draft pick in program history and the highest defensive player ever selected during the 2026 festivities as the New York Jets used the No. 2 overall pick on the fellow edge rusher. Bailey flourished in his lone season as a Red Raider, earning unanimous All-America honors as well as Big 12 Newcomer of the Year and Defensive Lineman of the Year accolades after sharing the FBS lead with 14.5 sacks. Bailey became the third edge rusher drafted already in McGuire's tenure, joining not only Wilson but Myles Cole, a seventh-round pick by the Jacksonville Jaguars in 2024.

Bailey kicked off a rush of Red Raiders heading to the next level during the 2026 draft as Texas Tech's nine selections more than doubled any other Big 12 school and ranked tied for fourth overall nationally. Bailey was followed by two other top-50 selections in linebacker Jacob Rodriguez with the Miami Dolphins and defensive tackle Lee Hunter to the Carolina Panthers in the second round. Fellow edge rusher Romello Height and wide receiver Caleb Douglas were both picked on night two as well, going to the San Francisco 49ers and Miami Dolphins, respectively, in the third round.

Texas Tech had six total selections from the defensive side of the ball during the 2026 draft alone as defensive tackle Skyler Gill-Howard was called in the sixth round by the Detroit Lions with safety Cole Wisniewski going a round later to the Philadelphia Eagles. Texas Tech's two other day three selections were wide receiver Reggie Virgil, a fifth-round pick by the Arizona Cardinals, and quarterback Behren Morton, who was a seventh-round selection by the New England Patriots.

The 2026 draft marked the third-consecutive years under McGuire where multiple Red Raiders heard their name called. Caleb Rogers, a stalwart on the offensive line with 55 career starts as a Red Raider, was picked in the third round of the 2025 NFL Draft by the Las Vegas Raiders, while running back Tahj Brooks was selected in the sixth round by the Cincinnati Bengals. Prior to that, Dadrion Taylor-Demerson was chosen by the Arizona Cardinals in the fourth round of the 2024 draft followed by Cole in the seventh round.

Brooks ended his Red Raider career as Texas Tech's all-time leading rusher after breaking Byron Hanspard's longtime school record during the 2024 season. Brooks rushed for at least 1,500 yards in each of his final two seasons, becoming the first Red Raider and only the third player in Big 12 player to do so twice in a career. Brooks was the first Red Raider running back to be selected in the NFL Draft since DeAndre Washington was picked by the Oakland Raiders in 2016.

Texas Tech also added three others to the NFL via free agency for the 2024 season as tight end Baylor Cupp was on the Kansas City Chiefs' roster through their run to the Super Bowl, while offensive lineman Cole Spencer was a member of the Tennessee Titans. Tyler Owens, meanwhile, was a key contributor on special teams for the Washington Commanders, appearing in 12 regular-season games for the NFC Championship Game participant.

The Red Raiders have had more than 15 players earn NFL opportunities as an undrafted free agent or training camp invite during McGuire's tenure. That list includes punter Austin McNamara, who was among the NFL's top punters as a rookie in 2025 with the New York Jets. McNamara departed Texas Tech as the school's all-time punting average leader and the only three-time All-Big 12 first team selection in school history.

McGuire previously developed four NFL Draft selections during his tenure at Baylor. That list included outside linebackers Terrel Bernard in 2022 and William Bradley-King, a seventh-round selection by the Washington Football Team in 2021, as well as defensive linemen James Lynch and Bravvion Roy in 2020. Lynch went in the fourth round of the 2020 draft to the Minnesota Vikings, while Roy was taken two rounds later by the Carolina Panthers. Bernard, meanwhile, was a third-round selection by the Buffalo Bills during the 2022 NFL Draft.

▲ DAVID BAILEY is one of two top-10 picks for the Red Raiders under Joey McGuire as he was selected No. 2 overall this past spring in the 2026 NFL Draft.

A NATIONAL AWARD WINNER

There might not have been a more-compelling story during the 2025 season than Texas Tech's own Jacob Rodriguez. A former scholarship quarterback turned walk-on linebacker under McGuire, Rodriguez's story captivated the national spotlight, all while the Red Raiders turned in one of the top defensive seasons in modern history.

Rodriguez anchored a defense that posted one of the largest single-season improvements in FBS history, lowering scoring by 23.0 points per game and total defense by 203.2 yards per game. He was especially impactful in creating turnovers, totaling seven forced fumbles, four interceptions and two fumble recoveries his senior year alone. Rodriguez became the first FBS player since 2005 to record at least five forced fumbles, four interceptions and two fumble recoveries in a single season en route to finishing fifth overall in the Heisman Trophy voting. He finished his career with 19 takeaways, including nine as a senior, helping Texas Tech lead the FBS with 32 takeaways on its way to a Big 12 title and the College Football Playoff.

One of the most decorated players in college football in 2025, Rodriguez nearly swept the nation's top defensive honors, winning the Butkus Award, Bronko Nagurski Trophy, Chuck Bednarik Award and Lombardi Trophy. He became the first Red Raider to win any of those awards and just the third player in history to claim the Butkus, Nagurski and Bednarik awards in the same season, joining Dan Morgan (2000) and Manti Te'o (2012).

Rodriguez joined with David Bailey to become sixth and seventh individuals in program history honored as unanimous All-Americans and the third set of teammates to collect first team All-America accolades. Rodriguez became Texas Tech's first linebacker to receive first team All-America honors since Pro Football Hall of Fame and College Football Hall of Fame inductee Zach Thomas. The comparison to Thomas only added more fuel during the 2026 NFL Draft when the Miami Dolphins utilized the No. 43 overall pick in the second round to select Rodriguez.

Rodriguez was also named the Jason Witten Collegiate Man of the Year, recognizing the FBS player who best exemplifies leadership, integrity and sportsmanship. A two-time All-Big 12 first team selection, Rodriguez was the program's first Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year in 2025 and was a two-time team captain.

▲ JACOB RODRIGUEZ was among the most-decorated players in college football during the 2025 season, winning numerous national accolades such as the prestigious Lombardi Award.

COACHING STAFF

AN NFL FRONT OFFICE

Under McGuire, Texas Tech's personnel department resembles an NFL front office, a first-in-its-kind approach in the world of college football. Texas Tech's personnel department is overseen by general manager James Blanchard, who was McGuire's first hire after accepting the Texas Tech position. Blanchard has the ability to offer any potential recruit he and his staff feel will fit at Texas Tech, allowing McGuire's coaching staff to prioritize player development.

The setup has helped Texas Tech land several of the nation's top high school recruits, especially in the lucrative footprint of the state of Texas. The Red Raiders have signed three top-30 classes already under McGuire, whose staff has inked a several five-star prospects in wide receiver Micah Hudson, offensive lineman Felix Ojo and edge rusher LaDamion Guyton with more likely on the way.

Texas Tech's most-recent 2026 class ranked as high as No. 13 nationally by ESPN and No. 15 by 247Sports, which led the Big 12 for the second time already in McGuire's tenure. The team of McGuire and Blanchard began their tenure with a 2023 class that was ranked as high as No. 28 by Rivals, marking Texas Tech's highest recruiting ranking in more than a decade. Texas Tech followed with another banner 2024 class that was considered in the top-25 nationally by both Rivals and 247Sports.

The Red Raiders have consistently prioritized recruiting the top talent in Texas, leaning into his staff's ties to the high school coaches throughout the state. Texas Tech has complemented that approach with several additions via the transfer portal where McGuire and his staff have delivered successful results with the likes of All-Big 12 selections such as linebacker Jacob Rodriguez, wide receivers Josh Kelly and Caleb Douglas, tight end Jalin Conyers and defensive back C.J. Baskerville, bringing all back to the Lone Star State for their best collegiate seasons.

Texas Tech landed On3's top transfer portal class following the 2024 season as McGuire and his staff signed 20 newcomers to add to an already-talented list of returners that eventually led the Red Raiders to the College Football Playoff for the first time. The class, which also ranked in the top five nationally by both ESPN and 247Sports, delivered nine players who were ranked among the top-100 portal entrees by ESPN, including outside linebackers David Bailey (No. 9 overall) and Romello Height (No. 32 overall), offensive lineman Howard Sampson (No. 18 overall) and defensive lineman Lee Hunter (No. 19 overall), among others. Texas Tech reloaded again this past offseason, signing a transfer class that ranks as high as No. 2 nationally by On3.

THE TEXAS HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL HALL OF FAMER

Texas Tech's early success should come at little surprise as McGuire previously helped build a winning program at Baylor following a stellar 14-year run at Cedar Hill High School in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex. McGuire, a 2020 inductee into the Texas High School Coaches Association Hall of Honor and a 2022 member of the Texas High School Football Hall of Fame, created one of the most-memorable turnaround stories in Texas high school football history during his 14 seasons leading Cedar Hill.

The Longhorns not only won at a high level under McGuire, but they transformed into one of the state's most dominant programs with its first state title in 2006 and then back-to-back state crowns in 2013 and 2014. Cedar Hill was an impressive 141-42 during McGuire's tenure, going from an unknown to a state champion in only his fourth season as head coach. The Longhorns' dynasty featured 12-consecutive playoff appearances, nine bi-district titles and seven district crowns under McGuire, including another appearance in the state title game in 2012 where Cedar Hill fell to Katy.

McGuire's turnaround of Cedar Hill quickly placed him among the state's most revered high school coaches as he was named the Texas Coach of the Year by MaxPreps, the Dallas Morning News and Chevy Silverado in 2013. He also earned Coach of the Year honors for Class 5A that season by the Texas Sports Writers Association (TSWA), Dave Campbell's Texas Football, the Dallas chapter of the National Football Foundation and the Padilla Poll. He garnered the honor again from the Padilla Poll in 2014. The Dallas Cowboys also honored him as the organization's high school Coach of the Year following Cedar Hill's first state title in 2006.

McGuire, at only the age of 31, was promoted to the head coach at Cedar Hill prior to the 2003 season following six seasons as an assistant coach. Cedar Hill had not recorded a winning season in the eight years prior to his promotion, a streak he quickly ended with a 6-4 campaign in his debut. McGuire was previously an assistant coach at his alma mater, Crowley High School, during the 1995 and 1996 prior to his move to Cedar Hill.

A two-time District Coach of the Year (2005-06), McGuire coached in all but two Under Armour All-America games during his tenure and was the head coach of the 2013 Semper Fidelis All-America Bowl, two events that feature the nation's top collegiate prospects. He was also the head coach for the north team in the 2014 Texas High School Coaches Association (THSCA) All-Star Game.

THE PATH TO COLLEGE FOOTBALL

The back-to-back state titles provided McGuire with several opportunities to depart for the collegiate level, a move he wouldn't make until after the 2016 season when Matt Rhule accepted the head coaching position at Baylor. Needing someone with extensive ties throughout the state of Texas, Rhule hired McGuire initially as his tight ends coach. The move was perfect timing for McGuire, who had remained at Cedar Hill to coach his son, Garret, for his final two seasons.

Baylor quickly turned into a Big 12 title contender within three years of McGuire's hire as the Bears finished 7-6 in only his second season on staff in 2018 after defeating Vanderbilt in the Academy Sports + Outdoors Texas Bowl. The Bears followed with one of their best seasons in school history in 2019, opening the season with nine-straight wins en route to an appearance in the Big 12 Championship game. Oklahoma edged the Bears in overtime, sending Baylor to an appearance in the Allstate Sugar Bowl and a top-15 final ranking to close the season.

Baylor reached bowl eligibility three times with McGuire on staff and was in the midst of an eventual run to the Big 12 title and a second appearance in the Allstate Sugar Bowl when McGuire was named Texas Tech's new head coach late in the 2021 season. McGuire served as Baylor's associate head coach during each of his final three seasons as he oversaw three different position groups during his tenure: tight ends (2017-18), defensive ends (2019) and outside linebackers (2020-21).

Baylor built a strong reputation as one of the top defensive programs in the country during McGuire's tenure, namely in 2019 when the Bears' defense featured both Lynch and Roy up front. The defensive line was possibly Baylor's most-prolific position group that season as the Bears set a program record with 46 sacks, including 13.5 from Lynch alone. Lynch departed Baylor as the Bears' single-season and career (22) sacks record holder as he was tabbed the Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year and a consensus All-American.

PERSONAL

Following his success helping rebuild the Baylor program, Texas Tech was an ideal fit for McGuire, whose daughter, Raegan, was a recent graduate of the university. McGuire had visited Lubbock numerous times previously either to see his daughter or earlier in life when several life-long friends attended the university.

McGuire likes to say he would have attended Texas Tech, himself, had he not met his wife, Debbie. He eventually earned his bachelor's degree in kinesiology from the University of Texas at Arlington in 1995. The couple has been highly-involved in the Lubbock community since their arrival, volunteering for numerous charitable organizations, including Covenant Children's Hospital and then Voice for Hope through their annual Women Behind the Brand clinic each summer.

The couple's two children are also highly successful in their own fields as Garret is in his second season as Texas Tech's running backs coach. The younger McGuire previously began his coaching career under Rhule as an offensive assistant with the NFL's Carolina Panthers during the 2021-22 seasons. He followed Rhule to Nebraska in 2023, serving two seasons as the Huskers' wide receivers coach, making him easily one of the youngest assistant coaches in the country. Prior to beginning his coaching career, Garret McGuire was a quarterback and special teams player at Baylor, playing in six games from 2017-20 where he was a two-time Academic All-Big 12 first team honoree.

Raegan, meanwhile, is the owner and founder of Sireneny, a leading fashion design company in New York City. Her designs have been worn by several high-profile figures, including Natalie Biden, the granddaughter to President Joe Biden, as well as Taylor Swift on her spring 2023 Eras Tour. Raegan and her husband, Joe Tocco, were married in May 2023.

MCGUIRE-ISMS

Listen to one Joey McGuire press conference and you'll likely be wondering: "what does that mean?" Well, here's a cheat sheet of the major terms the Red Raiders utilize on a day-to-day basis.

The Brand: The core tenant of the Texas Tech football program under McGuire revolves around The Brand, which stands for his desire that the Red Raiders be the "toughest, hardest-working, most-competitive team in the country." On his final interview for the Texas Tech position, McGuire described his vision for the Red Raider program using The Brand, which President Lawrence Schovanec said "perfectly describes West Texas."

What's Next!: No matter if something good or bad happens on the field, McGuire and his staff stress a "What's Next!" mentality, emphasizing that the focus should be on the next play or rep. McGuire now hosts his own podcast each week during the season, which is appropriately called "What's Next! With Joey McGuire." While the phrase "What's Next" is normally followed by a question mark, in the Texas Tech football program, it is always an "exclamation point" as it's never a question and only a statement. -

Take Three: The term "Take Three" is one many around the Red Raider football program have heard almost daily since McGuire's hiring. The phrase is a key element of Texas Tech's weekly Plan to Win document, highlighting the defensive goal of creating three takeaways per game. McGuire, who has "TAKE3" on the license plate on one of his vehicles, started the phrase early in his tenure at Cedar Hill High School.

Unofficial Home of the THSCA: There isn't a power-four football program in the state of Texas with better ties to its high school coaches than at Texas Tech as McGuire has hired numerous members to his coaching staff who previously worked at the prep level. McGuire, himself, is already a legend at the prep level as a member of the THSCA Hall of Honor and the Texas High School Football Hall of Fame.

JOEY MCGUIRE, THE OFFICIANT

Known as a players' coach, Joey McGuire has added another title in recent years: wedding officiant. He presided over the second wedding of a former player in 2023 for former defensive quality control assistant James Lockhart, who previously played for McGuire at Baylor. Lockhart is now the outside linebackers coach at UTRGV. McGuire previously performed the wedding for Sam Tecklenburg, another former Baylor player. He performed his third ceremony in the spring of 2025 as he was the officiant for the wedding of longtime athletics administrator Sandy Collins. His fourth wedding came prior to the Capital One Orange Bowl last season for Josh Haverfield, the coordinator for football performance and analytics on the Texas Tech strength staff.

KENNY PERRY

Associate Head Coach | Special Teams Coordinator | Fifth Season

No stranger to the state of Texas, Kenny Perry was one of Joey McGuire's first hires when he became Texas Tech's associate head coach prior to the 2022 season. In the four seasons since, Perry has already tutored Texas Tech's all-time leading rusher in Tahj Brooks as well as the school's career record holder for punting average in Austin McNamara and the single-season record holder for field goal percentage in Gino Garcia, all while helping build a Red Raider program into the Big 12 champions in 2025.

Perry was Texas Tech's running backs coach for each of the first three seasons of his tenure in addition to his role as special teams coordinator. He moved to only overseeing Texas Tech's special teams units beginning with the historic 2025 season that ended with a school record 12 wins, a Big 12 title and the Red Raiders' first appearance in the College Football Playoff. Over his four seasons, Perry has helped push the Red Raiders to four bowl appearances and a conference-leading 24 wins during Big 12 Conference play.

Perry has transformed Texas Tech's special teams into one of the most-consistent units in the country behind McNamara, a trio of kickers in Trey Wolff, Garcia and Stone Harrington as well as a pair of game-changing returners in Drae McCray and J'Koby Williams. That success – a key element in Texas Tech's weekly Plan to Win document – has pushed the Red Raiders to four-consecutive seasons with at least five Big 12 wins, marking the longest streak in school history. In fact, Texas Tech and Kansas State are the only two Big 12 schools with a winning league record in each of the past four seasons, regardless of conference affiliation.

Texas Tech has consistently put together one of the nation's best special teams units under Perry, who was recognized as the National Special Teams Coordinator of the Year by the website FootballScoop following the 2025 season. Known for his aggressive approach to special teams, Perry has consistently pushed the Red Raiders inside the top 20 of multiple statistical categories during his tenure.

The Red Raiders have also excelled in what Perry calls "the basics." Texas Tech has connected on 81.2 percent of its field goals under Perry, which ranks 14th nationally and seventh among power conference schools. The Red Raiders lead all power conference schools and rank second overall in the FBS with 87 total made field goals during that same stretch. On the opposite end, few schools have been more successful in getting to the kicker as Texas Tech's 14 total blocked kicks under Perry rank tied for third nationally in all of college football.

Perry has developed three consistent kickers during his tenure in Wolff, Garcia and then Harrington a year ago. Wolff reemerged as Texas Tech's primary field goal kicker during Perry's first season in 2022, finding the uprights on 21 of his 25 attempts, which ranked second all-time by percentage in single-season school history at the time. Wolff was one of the most reliable kickers in college football, especially in key moments, as he had nine field goals that came with under a minute remaining in the second or fourth quarters or in overtime. He had two game-winning kicks that season, sending the Red Raiders to memorable come-from-behind victories over both Texas and Oklahoma for the first time in program history.

Garcia provided Perry with another consistent kicking option a year later as he connected on 16-of-22 attempts during the 2023 season, which included 9-of-10 tries during Big 12 play. Garcia, like Wolff, was an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection that season after showcasing one of the nation's biggest legs. Garcia became the first Red Raider in program history to connect on three field goals of at least 50 yards in a season thanks to a 55-yarder versus TCU, a 54-yarder against Wyoming and a 51-yarder in the win over UCF.

Garcia followed by finding the uprights on 19-of-20 attempts during the 2024 season, setting the Texas Tech single-season record for field goal percentage. Garcia ranked fourth in the FBS for field goal percentage and had the second-highest clip among kickers with at least 15 attempts as he earned All-Big 12 second team honors by the league coaches. Garcia also set the Texas Tech record for consecutive field goals made with 16 during the 2024 season en route to closing his career ranked ninth for career made attempts.

Harrington, meanwhile, developed from a walk-on and occasional kickoff specialist to an All-Big 12 first team selection and Lou Groza Award semifinalist in 2025. Harrington became the first Texas Tech kicker in school history to connect on multiple successful field goals from at least 55 yards or longer in not only a season but also a career. He concluded the 2025 season second all-time on the Texas Tech single-season chart with 22 made field goals, including a single-game record of five in the regular-season win over BYU.

In addition to his development of kickers, McNamara was tabbed the Big 12 Special Teams Player of the Year following the 2023 season, marking the first time a Red Raider has garnered the award. McNamara, a semifinalist for the Ray Guy Award, was also named to the All-Big 12 first team as a punter, making him the first Red Raider in program history to be recognized on the first team three times in a career. He later signed a free agent agreement with the Cincinnati Bengals organization and enjoyed a successful 2025 rookie campaign with the New York Jets.

All this is not to mention Perry's work as Texas Tech's running backs coach, either, where he mentored the school's all-time leading rusher in Brooks.

Brooks snapped Byron Hanspard's career rushing record late in the 2024 season as he finished with 4,557 yards, the most all-time by a Red Raider. That total ranked fourth all-time in Big 12 history, trailing only the Texas duo of Cedric Benson and Ricky Williams and Kansas State's Darren Sproles. Brooks also set the Texas Tech career records with 23 total 100-yard games and for rushing attempts with a workload of 879 carries over his career. He became the Texas Tech single-season leader with 11 different 100-yard games in 2024.

Brooks, a sixth round selection by the Cincinnati Bengals in the 2025 NFL Draft, turned into one of college football's most-consistent rushers under Perry as he was one of only three FBS players and the lone one from the Big 12 Conference to combine for at least 3,000 rushing yards over the 2023-24 seasons. Over that stretch, Brooks recorded 22-consecutive games with at least 95 rushing yards, the longest streak for any FBS rusher dating back to 1996. He rushed for at least 100 yards in 19 of those games, all while ranking among the nation's top pass blockers with only three career sacks allowed in 287 pass blocking opportunities, according to Pro Football Focus.

Brooks became the first Red Raider in school history to rush for 1,500 yards in multiple seasons as he concluded his 2024 senior season with 1,505 rushing yards and 17 touchdowns in only 11 games to lead Texas Tech to six Big 12 wins, its most since 2009 at the time. In the process, he became only the third Big 12 player in history and the 48th FBS player since 1956 to record multiple 1,500-yard seasons. In addition, he was the first power conference rusher to total 1,500 rushing yards in 11 games or less since D'Onta Foreman of Texas in 2016. He previously rushed for 1,538 yards and 10 touchdowns as part of a breakout season in 2023 where he earned All-Big 12 first team honors. The Red Raiders had not previously boasted a running back with at least 1,500 rushing yards in a season since Ricky Williams in 1998 prior to Brooks' memorable 2023 campaign.

Perry brings a similar background as McGuire as both were successful head coaches in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex before joining the collegiate ranks. He boasts more than 20 years of coaching experience, including 14 as a high school head coach and then a decade-plus at the college level with stops at TCU, Kansas, SMU and now Texas Tech.

Perry arrived at Texas Tech after spending the 2020-21 seasons at SMU where he was a special teams quality control analyst his first year before being promoted to special teams coordinator for the 2021 campaign. SMU was a combined 15-7 during Perry's two years on staff, which included a pair of bowl selections.

SMU, similarly, boasted one of the top special teams units in the country during the 2021 campaign as the Mustangs ranked eighth nationally for both kickoff returns (27.3 yards per return) and tied for 10th for total blocked kicks after getting their hands on four as part of an eight-win season. The Mustangs were able to create several explosive plays in the return game thanks to Bryan Massey, who ranked second in the FBS for kick return average (34.3) en route to earning All-AAC second team honors. Massey took two kickoffs all the way to the end zone as a sophomore as he matched the SMU single-season and career records, while also ranking tied for second in the FBS. His 686 total kickoff return yardage, meanwhile, finished 12th nationally and was the 11th-highest total in SMU history to cap a breakout season.

SMU's special teams also featured one of the top kickers in the country during Perry's tenure in Chris Naggar, who was the American Athletic Conference Special Teams Player of the Year in 2020 as well as a Lou Groza Award semifinalist. Naggar connected on 17 of his 21 field goal attempts that season as he ranked 19th in the FBS and led the AAC with 94 total points. Naggar closed the season one field goal shy of the SMU single-season record as he hit game-winning field goals against No. 24 Memphis and Tulane.

Perry made his way to SMU following a stint as the special teams coordinator for Bob Stoops and the Dallas Renegades during the XFL's 2020 season as well as four seasons at Big 12 counterpart Kansas. Perry joined the Kansas staff as co-defensive coordinator and cornerbacks coach in 2015, a role he remained in for two seasons before transitioning to special teams coordinator and recruiting coordinator for the 2017-18 campaigns.

Kansas was Perry's second Big 12 position as he started his collegiate career as the Director of High School Relations and Recruiting at TCU in 2013. Perry moved to an on-the-field role the following season, working with the TCU cornerbacks as the Horned Frogs finished 12-1 overall. TCU claimed a share of the Big 12 title that season and defeated No. 9 Ole Miss in the Peach Bowl behind a defense that featured two of Perry's standouts in second team Freshman All-American Ranthony Texada and second team All-Big 12 honoree Kevin White.

TCU landed Perry after he built a reputation as one of the top high school coaches in the state of Texas with successful runs at Sam Houston (2000-03), Haltom City (2004-05) and Arlington Bowie (2006-12). Perry compiled a 67-22 record during his seven seasons at Bowie alone, leading the Vols to the Class 5A playoffs each year. He was named the District Coach of the Year three times during his tenure and was tabbed the Dallas Morning News Coach of the Year in 2007.

Most importantly, Perry was highly-regarded among his peers as he was selected to the Board of Directors for the Texas High School Coaches Association (THSCA) during his time at Bowie. He is also a past director of the North Texas High School Football Association.

Perry was a four-year letterwinner (1988-91) as a defensive back at the University of Houston before earning his degree in 1993. Perry was a cornerback his first two seasons as a Cougar before moving to safety his final two years. He also served as a graduate assistant for his alma mater from 1992-94, working with the special teams and defensive backs.

NOTABLE RED RAIDERS UNDER PERRY

TAHJ BROOKS, RB

Brooks developed into Texas Tech's all-time leading rusher under Perry, becoming the only Red Raider in program history and just the third Big 12 rusher to record 1,500 rushing yards in two-consecutive seasons. Brooks, who was selected in the sixth round of the 2025 NFL Draft by the Cincinnati Bengals, snapped Byron Hanspard's career rushing record at Texas Tech, finishing his career with 4,557 rushing yards over his 56 career games played.

GINO GARCIA, K

Garcia was among the most-accurate kickers in college football under Perry as he found the uprights on 19-of-20 field goal attempts in 2024, setting the Texas Tech single-season record for field goal percentage in the process. Garcia also set the Texas Tech record for consecutive field goals made with 16 during the 2024 season en route to closing his career ranked ninth for career made attempts.

AUSTIN MCNAMARA, P

McNamara closed his Red Raider career as the best punter in school history thanks to a 45.91 average that was easily the highest not only at Texas Tech but also in the Big 12 Conference record book. McNamara, who starred as a rookie in 2025 with the New York Jets, was tabbed the Big 12 Special Teams Player of the Year as a senior in 2023 after averaging an impressive 48.2 yards per punt. His career average ranked 10th all-time in NCAA FBS history.

MACK LEFTWICH

Offensive Coordinator | Quarterbacks Coach | Second Season

Mack Leftwich enters this second season at Texas Tech's offensive coordinator and quarterback backs coach after a successful debut where he oversaw one of the nation's most-balanced offenses to push the Red Raiders to a Big 12 Conference title and College Football Playoff appearance.

The Red Raiders delivered on his promise to be near a 50-50 split offensively as Texas Tech threw for 3,500 yards and rushed for 2,500 yards for the first time program history. It paved the way for one of the most-dominant seasons in recent college football history with the Red Raiders winning each of their school record 12 wins by at least 20 points. Combined with one of the nation's top defenses, the Red Raiders cruised to their first Big 12 title in history and the College Football Playoff.

Texas Tech became only the fifth team in the Associated Press era (since 1936) to record 12 or more wins by 20-plus points in a season, joining the likes of Nebraska (1971), Florida State (2013), Alabama (2018) and Clemson (2018). Of that group, only the Red Raiders and Alabama recorded their 12th win by at least 20 points prior to the bowl game. Texas Tech's eight Big 12 wins by at least 20 points set a new league record and marked only the sixth time in FBS history a team had won eight or more conference games by that margin.

Texas Tech averaged 39.4 points per game during Leftwich's debut season, its most since Patrick Mahomes II's final year leading the Red Raider offense in 2016. The Red Raiders ranked seventh in the FBS for scoring offense and 10th for total offense after averaging 461.4 yards per game backed by an explosive attack that featured 93 plays of 20-plus yards, the third-highest total in the country. Texas Tech was one of only six schools nationally with at least 3,500 passing yards and 2,500 rushing yards and the lone one to do so from the Big 12 Conference.

That balance paved the way for the Red Raiders to boast multiple 800-yard rushers for the first time in school history in sophomores Cameron Dickey and J'Koby Williams. The Red Raiders accumulated 2,560 rushing yards on the season, their most since joining the Big 12 Conference in 1996, with Dickey finishing with 1,124 yards of that total. Dickey became only the 14th different Red Raider to post 1,000 yards on the ground as he led the Big 12 with 14 rushing touchdowns and 16 total touchdowns. Williams, meanwhile, ended the season ranked 12th in the FBS with 1,525 all-purpose yards as he and Dickey were the only power conference duo with at least 1,300 all-purpose yards.

Behren Morton, meanwhile, flourished under Leftwich, who has quickly become known as one of the top quarterback developers in the country. Morton, despite battling injuries for most of the season, concluded his illustrious career with a strong final season under Leftwich, becoming only the second Red Raider in program history to start at least 10 games and throw for 2,500 yards with eight or fewer interceptions. Morton led the Big 12 with a 66.0 completion percentage and was one of only 11 FBS quarterbacks to throw for at least 2,500 yards and 20 touchdowns with six or fewer interceptions.

The strong final chapter to Morton's career enabled him to rank fourth all-time in Texas Tech history for career passing yards, career touchdown passes, career passing attempts, career touchdowns responsible for and career total yards of offense. Most importantly, Morton ended his career backed by 26 wins as a starting quarterback, the second-highest total for a Red Raider since 1995 behind only Graham Harrell.

Morton was selected in the seventh round of this spring's NFL Draft by the New England Patriots, becoming the second former Leftwich pupil to hear his name called in recent years. Leftwich previously identified and developed Cameron Ward while at Incarnate Ward before he eventually became the No. 1 overall pick in the 2025 NFL Draft after finishing his career at Miami.

Leftwich, one of the top young play-callers in college football, arrived at Texas Tech following two seasons at Texas State where he developed one of the nation's top offenses as the Bobcats led the Sun Belt Conference and ranked in the top 15 nationally for total offense and scoring during both the 2023-24 campaigns. Texas State's success offensively pushed the Bobcats to their first two bowl appearances in school history and 16 combined victories, a significant improvement for a program that had not won more than four games since 2014.

Leftwich inherited a Texas State offense that ranked 110th in the country for scoring at only 21.1 points per game prior to his arrival in 2022. He quickly changed that narrative, though, as Texas State used a balanced attack to average 36.7 points per game in 2023 and then 36.5 points in 2024, easily its highest two single-season averages since the Bobcats joined the FBS level in 2012. The Bobcats led the Sun Belt in scoring average in each of his two seasons, finishing seventh in the FBS in 2023 and then 11th in 2024.

The son of an offensive line coach, Leftwich's offenses burned opponents both through the air and on the ground as Texas State ranked in the top 30 of the FBS rankings for both passing and rushing yards per game both seasons. The Bobcats led the Sun Belt in total offense per game each season, ranking as high as fifth in the FBS in 2024 after Texas State averaged 476.9 yards per game en route to setting the school record with 6,200 yards of total offense. Texas State previously ranked 15th nationally in total offense in 2023, averaging 457.6 yards per game, up from the 325.1 yards a contest and the No. 112 national ranking the Bobcats posted the year prior to his arrival.

Texas State also set the school records for passing yards (3,522) and completion percentage (66.9) in 2023 behind quarterback TJ Finley, who became the Bobcats' all-time single-season leader for completion percentage (67.4), passing yards (3,449) and completions (279). The Bobcats snapped the school record again a year later with a 69.7 completion percentage thanks to Jordan McCloud, who ranked seventh in the FBS for completion percentage (70.2) as well as eighth in passing touchdowns (30), ninth in passing efficiency (158.6) and 19th for total passing yards (3,227). He also broke Finley's previous school record for completion percentage after converting 70.0 of his passes for 3,227 yards and a school record 30 touchdowns

It wasn't only the quarterbacks who excelled under Leftwich as running back Ismail Mahdi led the FBS with 2,169 all-purpose yards in 2023. Mahdi, who also excelled in the passing game and as a kick returner, rushed for 1,331 yards and 10 touchdowns that season, which marked the most rushing yards in a season by a Bobcat since Claude Mathis in 1997. His 2,169 all-purpose yards ranked third all-time in Texas State history and were the most by any Bobcat since joining the FBS level in 2012.

Behind Mahdi, Texas State finished with its second-highest rushing total as an FBS program at the time with 2,427 yards on the ground as a team. Mahdi followed with 991 rushing yards in 2024 as Texas State improved its rushing totals, finishing with 2,707 yards on the ground to rank 15th in the FBS and second in the Sun Belt.

Leftwich, a two-time Broyles Award nominee by the age of 30, joined the Texas State staff following five seasons at Incarnate Word. Leftwich was the Cardinals' offensive coordinator during his final season in San Antonio as he helped lead UIW to a Southland Conference title and the semifinal round of the FCS playoffs as the No. 7 national seed. It marked the furthest the Cardinals had advanced in the FCS playoffs in program history.

IUW led both the FBS and FCS levels with 51.1 points per game that season, which marked the second-highest average in NCAA FCS history. The Cardinal offense scored 50 or more points in seven different games in 2022 en route to also setting the Southland Conference record for total points in a season. It was quite the debut as a play-caller for Leftwich, whose offenses averaged 41.8 points per game between his time at both UIW and Texas State.

Leftwich previously began his tenure at UIW in 2018 as a graduate assistant under former head coach Eric Morris and was promoted to quarterbacks coach in 2019. He was part of the UIW coaching staff for three of its Southland Conference titles in 2018, 2021 and 2022.

Leftwich coached the quarterback position in each of his five seasons, helping identify three of the best signal callers in program history in Jon Copeland (2018-19), Cameron Ward (2020-21) and Lindsey Scott Jr. (2022). The trio all sit atop the UIW single-season records for both passing yards and passing touchdowns.

Ward combined for 6,908 passing yards and 71 touchdowns during his two seasons at UIW, which remain the most in school history. He was tabbed a Freshman All-American by HERO Sports following the COVID-shortened 2020 season and then a second team FCS All-American by STATS in 2021. Ward also earned the Jerry Rice Award for the spring 2021 season, which is presented annually to the top FCS freshman in the country.

Ward set the UIW single-season records with 4,648 passing yards and 47 touchdowns in 2021 en route to leading the Cardinals to their first 10-win season in program history. Both marks were snapped a year later by Scott Jr., who threw for 4,657 yards and 60 touchdowns while also totaling more than 5,300 yards of total offense in his only season with the Cardinals. Scott also had the highest passing efficiency (197.4) and completion percentage (70.9) in program history as he threw 60 touchdown passes to only eight interceptions.

Scott Jr., who also rushed for 712 yards and 11 touchdowns on the ground, was honored following the season with the prestigious Walter Payton Award, which recognizes the Offensive Player of the Year at the FCS level. He was also tabbed the Southland Conference Player of the Year, becoming the first player in school history to earn the honor.

Like many others on McGuire's staff, Leftwich has experience at the high school level as he was the offensive coordinator at Lehman High School in Katy prior to his hire at UIW. He began his coaching career as a student assistant at UTEP in 2016 where he worked directly with the offensive coordinator, serving in a quality control role and as the main on-field communicator with the quarterbacks on gameday.

Leftwich joined the UTEP staff following the end of his own playing career as a quarterback for the Miners from 2013-15. He was selected to the team's leadership council and was a three-time C-USA Academic Honor Roll selection. Leftwich graduated from UTEP in 2017 with a bachelor's of multidisciplinary studies with a focus in mathematics and education.

Leftwich and his wife, Courtney, are parents to a daughter, Lennie Marie, and a son, Hays. He is the son of longtime college football coach, Spencer Leftwich, who made stops at the likes of Arizona, Pittsburgh, UTEP and North Texas during his career. Leftwich's brother, Cutter, is also in the coaching profession as the offensive line coach at Kentucky.

SHIEL WOOD

Defensive Coordinator | Inside Linebackers Coach | Second Season

Shiel Wood, a 2025 finalist for the prestigious Broyles Award, enters his second season as Texas Tech's defensive coordinator and inside linebackers coach after orchestrating the top defensive turnaround by any college football program this century.

Wood, known for his reputation of immediately improving defenses from previous stops at Troy, Tulane and Houston, put his stamp on the Red Raiders during his debut season in 2025, pushing the Red Raiders to their first Big 12 Conference title and College Football Playoff appearance. Texas Tech led the country with 32 takeaways en route to posting the largest year-by-year improvement for both scoring (-23.0) and total yards allowed per game (-203.2) by any FBS program since 2000.

Texas Tech ranked among the nation's leaders defensively, giving up only 11.8 points per game en route to a school record 12 wins. Combined with a high-scoring offense, the Red Raiders rolled to the College Football Playoff with all 12 wins coming by at least 20 points. Texas Tech became only the fifth team in the Associated Press era (since 1936) to record 12 or more wins by 20-plus points in a season, joining the likes of Nebraska (1971), Florida State (2013), Alabama (2018) and Clemson (2018). Texas Tech's eight Big 12 wins by at least 20 points set a new league record and marked only the sixth time in FBS history a team had won eight or more conference games by that margin.

The Red Raiders were not only the nation's leader in takeaways during Wood's first season but also in rushing defensive, giving up only 68.1 yards per game on the ground behind a dominant front seven. Texas Tech also ranked in the top 10 of the FBS for eight other statistical categories, including scoring defense (3rd), total defense (3rd), first downs defense (4th), fourth down conversion percentage (5th), team passing efficiency defense (6th), third down conversation percentage (7th), turnover margin (7th) and sacks per game (10th). Texas Tech joined Indiana as the only two schools to rank in the top five nationally for scoring defense, total defense, rushing defense and takeaways.

Texas Tech's defensive rise earned Wood National Linebackers Coach of the Year honors from the website FootballScoop as well as a spot among the finalists for the Broyles Award, which recognizes the nation's top assistant coach. Wood was one of five finalists for the prestigious award and the lone representative from the Big 12 Conference.

The national honors stacked up for the Red Raiders with four members of the defense earning All-America honors, including two unanimous first team selections in outside linebacker David Bailey and inside linebacker Jacob Rodriguez. The duo became only the second and third defensive players in school history to garner unanimous first team All-America accolades, while defensive tackles Lee Hunter and A.J. Holmes Jr. were both second team selections by the Football Writers Association of America (FWAA) and Holmes by the Associated Press.

Bailey, the Big 12 Defensive Player of the Year and Defensive Newcomer of the Year, joined with fellow outside linebacker Romello Height to become the first Big 12 duo to both record 10.0 or more sacks in the same season. Both turned into eventual NFL Draft picks with Bailey selected No. 2 overall by the New York Jets and Height going to the San Francisco 49ers in the third round. Bailey became the highest-drafted defensive player in school history and was the first defensive player taken off the board among the 2026 NFL Draft class.

Rodriguez, meanwhile, captivated the nation's attention with Wood at his position coach, garnering not only All-America honors but by sweeping the vast majority of national defensive awards. Rodriguez was the recipient of the Chuck Bednarik Award, the Bronko Nagurski Trophy, the Lombardi Award and the Butkus Award, to name a few, joining only former Notre Dame linebacker Manti Te'o as the only players in history to win all four awards in the same season. He also finished fifth overall in the Heisman Trophy voting, becoming only the third linebacker since 1995 to finish in the top five for the nation's top honor.

Rodriguez became the first FBS player dating back to 2005 to record at least five forced fumbles, four interceptions and two fumble recoveries all in the same season, pairing with fellow linebackers Ben Roberts and John Curry to form one of the nation's top trios. Roberts created six takeaways of his own during the 2025 season, including two during the Edward Jones Big 12 Championship where he was named the Most Outstanding Player.

Texas Tech recorded a school record with nine NFL Draft picks this past spring with hailing from Wood's side of the ball. Rodriguez followed Bailey as the next Red Raider off the board, going to the Miami Dolphins in the second round, only a few picks before the Carolina Panthers selected Hunter. The Red Raiders have four defensive draftees in the first three rounds alone with Height included and then added to their total with defensive tackle Skyler Gill-Howard's selection to the Detroit Lions in the sixth round and then safety Cole Wisniewski heading to the Philadelphia Eagles in the seventh.

Wood's defenses have ranked inside the top 35 for total defense in all five seasons since he was first named a co-defensive coordinator at Army in 2021. Since then, he has also made stops as the defensive coordinator at Troy in 2022, Tulane in 2023 and then Houston. He was also the defensive coordinator at Wofford, his alma mater, in 2017.

His defenses helped push Troy to a 12-win season and Sun Belt Conference title in 2022, while Tulane finished with 11 wins and an appearance in the American Championship in 2023. Troy ended the 2022 season ranked as high as No. 19 in the Associated Press poll, marking the first time in program history the Trojans had appeared in the final rankings. Army, meanwhile, was an impressive 9-4 overall during his lone season as co-defensive coordinator after a victory over Missouri in the Armed Forces Bowl.

Wood immediately improved a Houston defense that ranked 105th nationally for scoring (31.5) and 112th for total defense (423.9) in the year prior to his arrival, cutting those totals to 22.9 points and 324.8 yards per game in 2024. Houston ended the season ranked 25th nationally and second in the Big 12 for total defense as well as 28th for passing yards allowed after surrendering only 188.8 yards per game through the air, another drastic improvement from the 255.3 yards and 114th ranking prior to his arrival.

Opposing offenses have averaged less than 23.0 points per game against Wood's defenses since his promotion to play-caller at Army in 2021. Tulane ranked 23rd in the FBS after allowing 20.5 points per game in 2023, while Troy was eighth at only 17.1 points per game in 2022 and Army was 33rd nationally at only 22.3 points a contest. Wood's units at both Troy and Army ranked in the top 20 nationally for not only scoring defense but also total defense and turnovers forced as well.

Wood has built a reputation for immediately improving defenses, particularly through turnovers. Both his defenses at Troy and Tulane ranked in the top 10 nationally for takeaways with the Trojans finishing eighth in the FBS with 27 turnovers gained, while the Green Wave were third a year later with the same amount. His defenses are averaging 24.2 takeaways per season over the past five years as Houston created 19 turnovers in 2024, while Army had 16 during its 2021 campaign in addition to the 32 the Red Raiders created in 2025.

Wood has tutored 16 players over his career who have earned first team All-Conference honors, including five this past season at Texas Tech and then seven during the three seasons prior to his arrival in Lubbock. That list includes linebacker Carlton Martial, who was the Sun Belt Defensive Player of the Year under Wood's direction at Troy in 2022. Martial, a finalist for the Burlsworth Award, snapped the NCAA FBS record for career tackles that season after ranking third in the FBS as a senior with 11.2 tackles per game. Following the season, he earned second team All-America accolades from FOX Sports and Action Network as well as third team honors from Phil Steele Magazine.

Martial's success came after Wood mentored a pair of All-American linebackers at Army in Andre Carter and Jon Rhattigan. Carter earned third team All-America accolades in 2021 after finishing second in the FBS with 15.5 sacks and fifth with 18.5 tackles for loss. Rhattigan, meanwhile, earned second team All-America honors from USA Today and was a finalist for the Bednarik Award, the first in Army history.

Carter and Rhattigan both joined the NFL as undrafted free agents following their careers at Army as Carter is currently a member of the Washington Commanders, while Rhattigan won two Super Bowls early in his professional career as a member of the Kansas City Chiefs. Wood added another former pupil to the professional ranks in 2024 as Troy edge rusher Javon Solomon was selected in the fifth round of the NFL Draft by the Buffalo Bills.

Wood's tenure at Army began in 2020 as the inside linebackers coach for a Black Knights program that led the country at only 275.3 yards allowed a game. Army also ranked second nationally for scoring defense at only 14.8 points per game as well as red zone defense (.645 conversion rate) and passing yards allowed per game (160.8). The Black Knights, who finished 9-3 overall, were also among the nation's best against the run, ranking 18th in the FBS after giving up only 114.6 yards per game on the ground against a schedule full of run-heavy offenses.

Wood has coached both linebackers and safeties during his career and has served as the special teams coordinator twice at both Georgia Tech (2018) and Georgia State (2019). He was part of bowl teams in both of those two stops as Georgia State played in the Arizona Bowl, matching its school record with seven wins in the process, while Georgia Tech was selected for the Quick Lane Bowl.

Wood began his coaching career on the opposite side of the ball, serving as the wide receivers coach at Wofford from 2007-10 before moving over to coach safeties from 2011-12. Wood spent a total of eight seasons as an assistant coach at Wofford, which culminated in him being named the Terriers' defensive coordinator in 2017. In all, Wofford won four Southern Conference titles and advanced to the FCS playoffs seven times during that span.

As defensive coordinator, Wood directed a unit that led the SoCon in rushing defense (121.7 yards per game) and ranked second in the league and No. 26 in the FCS for total defense at only 326.7 yards per game. Wofford finished 10-3 that season, winning the outright SoCon title with a 7-1 league record before advancing to the FCS quarterfinals where the Terriers fell to eventual national champion North Dakota State.

Wood, a native of Spartanburg, South Carolina, played wide receiver at Wofford from 2001-05 and was the Terriers' leading receiver in 2020 for a team that won the SoCon Championship and advanced to the semifinals of the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs.

Wood graduated from Wofford in 2007 with a bachelor's degree in government. He and his wife, Bernadette, are parents to two daughters, Fay and Grace. Bernadette Wood was also a student-athlete at Wofford, competing in soccer.

JUSTIN JOHNSON

Assistant Head Coach | Offensive Passing Game Coordinator | Wide Receivers Coach | Fourth Season

Justin Johnson enters his fourth season on the Texas Tech staff in his role as assistant head coach, passing game coordinator and wide receivers coach.

Johnson, nicknamed "Coach Juice" throughout his career, arrived in Lubbock after a three-year stint at Baylor where he worked alongside head coach Joey McGuire during the 2020-21 seasons. Johnson has also worked at both Houston, his alma mater, and Kansas in full-time roles and is regarded as one of the nation's top wide receiver developers after sending three of his pupils to the NFL the past two seasons alone.

Texas Tech boasted its first 1,000-yard receiver since 2018 during the 2024 season in Josh Kelly, who caught 89 passes for 1,023 yards over 12 regular-season games to earn All-Big 12 second team honors. Kelly was the nation's best receiver on third downs as he ranked ninth in the FBS for total receptions and 19th for receiving yards per game, averaging 85.3 yards through the air a contest. Kelly's numbers were boosted by his ability to move the sticks as he easily led all FBS receivers with 32 receptions on third downs alone.

Kelly, an undrafted free agent signee with the Dallas Cowboys, combined with Caleb Douglas and Coy Eakin to form one of the top pass-catching trios in the Big 12 Conference as Texas Tech ranked third nationally at 296.7 passing yards per game. The Red Raiders averaged 37.6 points per game that season en route to finishing with six Big 12 wins and a third-straight bowl appearance. It marked the most Big 12 wins for the Red Raiders at the time since 2008.

Texas Tech took a more balanced approach to the passing game during its historic 2025 season as four different Red Raiders recorded 600 receiving yards, including three from Johnson's position room in Douglas, Eakin and newcomer Reggie Virgil. It marked the first time since 2016 and only the sixth time in program history the Red Raider offense boasted four or more 600-yard receivers as Texas Tech was one of only two FBS programs in the country to do so during the 2025 campaign.

Douglas led the Red Raiders with 846 receiving yards and seven touchdowns on his way to earning All-Big 12 second team accolades. Virgil and Eakin were both All-Big 12 honorable mention selections after following with 705 and 637 receiving yards, respectively, for a Red Raider offense that ranked seventh in the FBS at 39.4 points per game, its highest clip since Patrick Mahomes II's final season at quarterback in 2016. Douglas went on to hear his name called in the third round of the NFL Draft by the Miami Dolphins this past spring, while Virgil followed two rounds later after being selected by the Arizona Cardinals.

Texas Tech's success offensively pushed the Red Raiders to a school record 12 wins, all in dominant fashion. The Red Raiders, who won their first Big 12 title in history and later reached the College Football Playoff for the first time, became only the fifth team since 1936 to record 12 or more wins in a season by at least 20 points. Texas Tech's eight Big 12 wins by at least 20 points set a new league record and marked only the sixth time in FBS history a team had won eight or more conference games by that margin.

Johnson, an All-Conference USA wide receiver at Houston, served as the running backs coach at both Baylor (2020-22) and Houston (2019) before moving back to the wide receiver room upon his hiring at Texas Tech. He was previously the wide receivers coach at Kansas for the 2018 season.

Over his three seasons in Waco, Johnson's running back room proved to be one of the best in the nation as the Bears averaged 219.3 yards per game on the ground in 2021, which led the Big 12 and ranked 10th in the FBS. Baylor ultimately won the Big 12 title that season and appeared in the Allstate Sugar Bowl, one of two bowl appearances for the Bears during Johnson's tenure.

Abram Smith powered the Baylor running game that season as the converted linebacker led the Big 12 and finished fifth nationally with 1,601 rushing yards. Smith also ranked second in the conference and seventh in the FBS with 114.4 rushing yards per game, which was boosted by his 6.23 yards a carry. Smith, an All-Big 12 second team honoree in 2021, closed the season ranked second in the conference and 14th in the FBS for yards per carry en route to signing as an undrafted free agent with the New Orleans Saints.

Smith paired with Trestan Ebner to form a strong 1-2 punch at running back during each of Johnson's first two seasons on staff. Ebner, one of the best all-purpose backs in the country throughout his Baylor tenure, garnered second team All-America honors as a return specialist after totaling 1,047 all-purpose yards and a team-leading six touchdowns (one rushing, three-receiving, two kick returns) during the 2020 COVID-shortened season.

Ebner was named the Big 12 Special Teams Player of the Year following both the 2020 and 2021 seasons as well as an All-Big 12 first team honoree by the Associated Press as an all-purpose player. He became the first player in Baylor history to total more than 1,000 career rushing and receiving yards after notching 1,775 all-purpose yards his super senior season alone. Ebner closed his career ranked second all-time in Baylor history with 4,542 all-purpose yards before being selected in the sixth round of the 2022 NFL Draft by the Chicago Bears.

Johnson moved north to Waco after one season coaching running backs at his alma mater where he helped Houston achieve its 18th-consecutive season with at least 1,500 rushing yards in 2019. The Cougars' rushing attack ranked 37th in the FBS that season, averaging 188.2 yards per contest.

Prior to his time at Houston, Johnson spent three seasons at Kansas, serving as the wide receivers coach in 2018 after two years as an offensive analyst. He was previously a quality control assistant for Houston to start his career in 2012 and then a graduate assistant at Texas A&M in 2013 where he helped the Aggies to a 9-4 record and a win over Duke in the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl.

In between, Johnson worked at the prep level like many others on the Texas Tech staff, serving as an assistant coach at both Frankford Middle School and Plano West High School in 2014 and then Berkner High School in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex a year later.

Before beginning his coaching career, Johnson was a four-year letterwinner at Houston where he remains one of the top pass catchers in program history. A first team All-CUSA selection as a senior in 2011, Johnson had an explosive final season, catching 87 passes for 1,229 and 12 touchdowns as he still ranks in the top 10 all-time in Houston history for single-season receiving yards and touchdowns.

Johnson capped his Houston career with a bowl record 12 catches for 148 yards in a 30-14 victory over No. 23 Penn State at the 2012 Ticket City Bowl. Johnson was considered one of Houston's most versatile athletes during his playing career, competing on special teams and as a running back, wide receiver and tight end at various times for a Cougars program that played in three bowl games and two Conference USA Championship games.

Off the field, Johnson was a member of Houston's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) and was selected to participate in and graduated from its Athletics Leadership Academy. He was awarded the Houston Committed Cougar Award twice. Johnson earned his bachelor's degree in kinesiology and sports administration from the University of Houston in 2011.

Johnson and his wife, Aisha, have two children, Jayden and Kingsley.

IMARJAYE ALBURY SR.

Defensive Line Coach | First Season

Imarjaye Albury Sr. enters his first season as Texas Tech's defensive line coach, bringing nearly a decade of experience at both the NFL and collegiate levels with him as the Red Raiders aim to reload up front.

Albury arrived at Texas Tech following six seasons in various roles with the Minnesota Vikings, including five on the coaching staff where he rose to assistant defensive line coach. The Vikings made two playoff appearances during his tenure thanks to a 13-4 campaign in 2022 and then a 14-3 record in 2024, which marked the second-most wins in franchise history. Minnesota barely missed another playoff appearance during his final season on staff, finishing 9-8 overall after five-consecutive wins to end the year.

Albury began his tenure in Minnesota as a defensive quality control and assistant linebackers coach from 2020-21 before transitioning to the front office as a pro scout during the 2022 season. He was named a defensive assistant a year later, working with the outside linebackers during the 2023-24 campaigns before being named the assistant defensive line coach for the 2025 season under Kevin O'Connell, who became the first Vikings head coach to record multiple 13-win seasons in the more than 60 years of the franchise.

Minnesota ranked tied for fourth in the NFL for sacks during the 2025 season, totaling 49.0 as a team with Albury's unit combining for 15.0 on their own. Jalen Redmond led the defensive line with 6.0 sacks in only his second NFL season, developing from an undrafted free agent who originally signed with the Carolina Panthers in 2023 to one of the Vikings' leaders in the middle. The Vikings were previously second in the NFL with 51.0 sacks during Albury's second season on staff in 2021, their most since 1992.

Albury played an integral role in Jonathan Greenard and Andrew Van Ginkel being named to the Pro Bowl for the first time in their respective careers during the 2024 season. Greenard led the Vikings with 12.0 sacks, while Van Ginkel was a half-sack behind to form the only NFL duo with at least 11.5 sacks on the season. The pair both ranked in the top 10 among the NFL sacks leaders that season with Greenard tied for fifth overall and Van Ginkel tied for eighth. Van Ginkel, who was also the only NFL player to return multiple interceptions for touchdowns during the 2024 season, was a second team Associated Press All-Pro selection.

In addition, fellow outside linebacker Pat Jones recorded a career-high 7.0 sacks in 2024, making the Vikings one of only three NFL teams with at least three players with at least 7.0 sacks. Albury was also instrumental in the development of rookie Dallas Turner, the 17th overall pick of the 2024 NFL Draft. Turner was one of three rookies in 2024 with at least one interception and multiple sacks.

As a team, the Vikings led the NFL in interceptions (24), passes defended (95), opponent 4th-down conversion percentage (37.1 percent) and interceptions per attempt (3.8 percent) that season as one of the league's top defenses. The Vikings also shared the league high with 33 takeaways and ranked second in opponent scoring efficiency (31.6 percent), opponent runs of at least 20 yards (5) and opponents rushing yards per game (93.5).

In his first season back from his front office role, Albury was part of a Vikings team that improved from 31st overall in 2022 to 16th for total defense, posting top-eight rankings in both rushing yards per play (fourth) and rushing yards per game (eighth). Minnesota led the NFL with 21 forced fumbles, marking the most by the Vikings since 2007. Albury worked with another Pro Bowl selection that season in outside linebacker Danielle Hunter, who shared the NFL high with 23.0 tackles for loss and was fifth overall with 16.5 sacks.

Prior to joining the front office, Albury was responsible for developing several younger players on the Vikings roster, namely D.J. Wonnum, who recorded 8.0 sacks in 2021, only his second year in the league. Albury also played a key role in the development of defensive end Kenny Willekes, a former seventh-round selection and practice squad player, who posted 2.5 sacks in six games played that season. Minnesota's defense racked up 51.0 sacks during the 2021 season altogether, its most since 1992.

Woonum previously stood out as a rookie under Albury in 2020, posting 24 tackles, 3.0 sacks, a team-leading 5.0 tackles for loss and a forced fumble. He was one of three rookie defensive linemen in the NFL that season to record at least 3.0 sacks and a forced fumble in 2020. Minnesota's front four also featured defensive tackle Jaleel Johnson, who led the line with 44 tackles, as well as defensive end Ifeadi Odenigbo, who totaled 3.5 sacks and a team-leading 12 quarterback hurries.

Albury joined the Vikings staff following two seasons as a defensive graduate assistant at Arkansas where he worked primarily with the defensive line. He coached one of his future players while with the Razorbacks in Watts, who developed into a sixth-round pick of the 2019 NFL Draft by Minnesota after recording 7.0 sacks as a senior in 2018. Watts had played only 114 snaps over his three previous season prior to a stellar senior season where he led the Razorbacks for not only sacks but with three forced fumbles.

Albury began his coaching career at Corland State University in 2017, a NCAA Division III program in New York. Albury oversaw Cortland's special teams and worked with the defensive line that season, mentoring a unit that recorded 31.0 sacks, which ranked second in the Empire 8 Conference. Albury's special teams unit also led the conference with six blocked field goals.

His coaching career also includes brief stints with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League where he served as a guest coach during the team's 2019 training camp. Albury also briefly served on staff at Western Carolina as the defensive ends coach before being hired by the Vikings.

As a player, Albury spent one season at West Virginia in 2012 before transferring to Florida International where he was a three-year starter along the defensive line. Albury combined for 76 tackles, 5.5 tackles for loss and 2.5 sacks over 36 games at FIU, serving as a team captain as a senior. Albury, who was also the program's Defensive MVP that season, played in the 2017 NFLPA Collegiate Bowl and participated in mini-camps with the Green Bay Packers and Los Angeles Chargers before joining the coaching profession.

Albury, a native of Miami, Florida, and his wife, Brittany, have a son, Imarjaye Jr., who goes by "Junior," and a daughter, Jordyn.

JOSH COCHRAN

Run Game Coordinator | Tight Ends Coach | Fifth Season

One of the top up-and-coming coaches in college football, Josh Cochran enters his fifth season as a charter member of Joey McGuire's staff at Texas Tech where he serves as the Red Raiders' tight ends coach. He is in third year in the role of offensive run game coordinator.

Cochran is the lone member of Texas Tech's offensive staff who joined McGuire upon his hiring as head coach in 2022. Since then, Cochran has been a key part in building the Red Raiders into a national contender, as evident by Texas Tech's rise to Big 12 champions and College Football Playoff participant in 2025. Texas Tech has made a bowl appearance in each of Cochran's four seasons, which includes wins over Ole Miss in the 2022 TaxAct Texas Bowl and Cal in the 2023 Radiance Technologies Independence Bowl. Additionally, the Red Raiders lead all Big 12 programs with 24 conference wins over Cochran's four seasons as Texas Tech is joined by Kansas State as the only two teams with a winning conference record each of the past four seasons, regardless of league affiliation.

The Red Raiders are coming off a school record 12 wins during the 2025 season, all that came by at least 20 points. The Red Raiders became only the fifth team since 1936 to record 12 or more wins in a season by at least 20 points. Texas Tech averaged 39.4 points per game, its most since Patrick Mahomes II's final year leading the Red Raider offense in 2016, en route to recording eight Big 12 wins by at least 20 points set a new league record. It marked only the sixth time in FBS history a team had won eight or more conference games by that margin.

Texas Tech has ranked among the nation's top offenses throughout Cochran's tenure, averaging at least 30 points per game during three of his four seasons on staff. The Red Raiders are averaging 34.8 points per game during that stretch, which leads all Big 12 programs and ranks ninth among power conference schools. Texas Tech has ranked in the top 15 nationally for passing offense, total offense and scoring each of the past two seasons after previously averaging 37.6 points per game – the fourth-highest clip in the country – a year ago. The Red Raiders previously averaged 302.0 passing yards and 34.2 points per game as one of the nation's top offenses during Cochran's first season in 2022.

Part of Texas Tech's success offensively has stemmed from its running game, which Cochran is often credited with developing of the blocking schemes that have helped the Red Raiders boast a 1,000-yard rusher over three-consecutive seasons for the first time in program history. Tahj Brooks began that run with back-to-back 1,500-yard rushing seasons in 2023 and 2024 before Cameron Dickey emerged as Texas Tech's latest feature back a year ago.

Brooks ultimately became Texas Tech's all-time leading rusher after ranking among the national leaders in rushing yards during each of his final two seasons as a Red Raider. In the process, he became only the third player in Big 12 history and the first Red Raider all-time to post multiple 1,500-yard rushing seasons. Cochran's tight end room was essential to Texas Tech's success on the ground as Brooks set the Texas Tech record with 23 career 100-yard games, including 19 that came during those final two seasons alone.

Dickey continued Texas Tech's success on the ground this past season as he became the ninth Red Raider in program history to rush for 1,000 yards in a season. Dickey, who totaled 1,124 rushing yards and 14 touchdowns, paired with fellow running back J'Koby Williams to form one of the nation's top rushing duos, pushing Texas Tech to 2,560 rushing yards a team, its most since joining the Big 12 in 1996. Texas Tech's rushing attack combined speed and power, giving the Red Raiders their first pair of 800-yard rushers in school history.

Cochran has coached four NFL free agent signees during his tenure in Baylor Cupp (Kansas City Chiefs), Jalin Conyers (Miami Dolphins), Mason Tharp (Houston Texans) and Johncarlos Miller II (New York Giants). Cupp was on Kansas City's practice squad throughout the 2024 season for a Chiefs team that appeared in Super Bowl LIX.

In his short time already in Lubbock, Cochran has already been recognized as one of the nation's promising young coaches as he was tabbed to the 30 under 30 list compiled by 247Sports in 2022 as well as the 40 under 40 honor roll put together by Dave Campbell's Texas Football. He was also selected to the AFCA 35 under 35 Coaches Leadership Institute out of a field or more than 200 applicants.

The 2022 campaign marked Cochran's first overseeing tight ends as he previously spent two seasons as the co-offensive coordinator and offensive line coach at Austin Peay. In his two seasons on staff, Austin Peay was a combined 8-4 in Ohio Valley Conference (OVC) play and had three wins over ranked opponents, which included No. 7 Jacksonville State and No. 13 Murray State during the 2021 spring slate.

Cochran's unit ranked among the best in the conference as he had five offensive linemen recognized on the All-OVC teams during his tenure, including a two-time selection to the first team in Bucky Williams. Colby McKee was also a two-time honoree on the second team for an offense that led the OVC in scoring (32.5 points per game) and total offense (419.2 yards per game) during the 2021 season.

Austin Peay was Cochran's first full-time coaching role at the FBS or FCS levels after previously serving in various roles at both North Carolina (2020) and Baylor (2017-19). His tenure at North Carolina reunited him with his former college coach Mack Brown as he was an offensive quality control coach for an eventual Orange Bowl participant up until his hire at Austin Peay in November 2020.

Cochran was a graduate assistant and offensive quality control coach during his three seasons at Baylor, assisting with the Bears offensive line during that span. He was a member of a Baylor staff that appeared in two bowl games, first at the Academy Sports + Outdoors Texas Bowl in 2018 and then the Allstate Sugar Bowl a year later following an 11-win campaign and a berth in the Big 12 Championship game.

Prior to Baylor, Cochran spent one season at East Texas Baptist University in 2015 where he was the offensive line coach, mentoring four All-American Southeast Conference selections during that year alone. East Texas Baptist featured the top-ranked scoring offense in Division III that season, averaging an impressive 49.9 points per game.

Cochran began his coaching career like several other members of the Texas Tech staff in the high-school ranks as the offensive line coach at Lindale High School in East Texas. He is a former member of the Texas High School Coaches Association, an important aspect of Texas Tech's football program.

A three-year letterman on the offensive line at Texas, Cochran was tabbed a Freshman All-American by Yahoo! Sports in 2011. He played in 31 games over his Longhorn career, making 23 starts before ending his playing career early in the 2013 season due to a chronic shoulder injury. In addition to his success in the trenches, Cochran was also a first team Academic All-Big 12 selection in 2012 and a four-time member of the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll.

A native of Hallsville, Texas, Cochran earned his bachelor's degree in kinesiology from Texas in 2014 and then his master's in sports management from Baylor in 2019.

He is married to the former Olivia Dietrichson. The couple is parents to two children in daughter Campbell and son Carter, who was born in April 2025.

ROB GREENE

Co-Defensive Coordinator | Safeties Coach | Second Season

Rob Greene enters his second season as Texas Tech's safeties coach after helping quickly reshape the Red Raider defense as one of the nation's most-opportunistic defenses. He was promoted to co-defensive coordinator following his debut season where the Red Raiders ranked as the nation's leader in takeaways en route to a Big 12 title and College Football Playoff appearance.

Texas Tech transformed its defense with the arrival of both defensive coordinator Shiel Wood and Greene, posting the largest year-by-year improvement for both scoring (-23.0) and total yards allowed per game (-203.2) by any FBS program since 2000. Texas Tech ranked among the nation's leaders defensively, giving up only 11.8 points per game en route to a school record 12 wins, all that came by 20 or more points.

The Red Raiders led the country with 32 takeaways, including 17 via interceptions from an aggressive secondary that drastically cut down on its passing yards allowed per game, going from more than 300 yards surrendered per game through the air in 2024 to only 190.1 during the 2025 season. Texas Tech ranked 26th nationally in fewest passing yards per game as part of a defense that joined Indiana as the only schools to rank in the top five of the FBS for scoring defense, total defense, rushing defense and takeaways.

Texas Tech boasted a school record nine NFL Draft picks from its 2025 team, including one from the safety room in senior Cole Wisniewski. A transfer from North Dakota State, Wisniewski successfully returned from a season-ending injury that cost him his entire 2024 season, flourishing under Greene as one of the nation's highest-graded safeties by Pro Football Focus. Wisniewski, an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection by the conference coaches, was chosen in the seventh round of the 2026 NFL Draft by the Philadelphia Eagles after ranking third on the team with 78 tackles to go along with two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery.

Greene reunited alongside Wood at Texas Tech, marking the third stint the two have worked with each other dating back to their time on staff together at Wofford in 2017 and Tulane in 2023. Greene arrived at Texas Tech following two seasons at Tulane where the Green Wave combined for 20 wins and played for two American Athletic Conference titles during his tenure after finishing 15-1 overall in regular-season conference games.

Tulane ranked among the nation's most-opportunistic defenses during Greene's two seasons, especially in 2023 when the Green Wave led the AAC for both turnovers gained (27) and total interceptions (17), finishing third and fourth nationally in the two categories. Wood was Tulane's defensive coordinator that season with Greene serving as defensive backs coach for a unit that was also 16th in the FBS for rushing defense (112.7 yards per game), 23rd for scoring defense (20.5 points per game) and 36th for total defense (341.3 yards per game).

Greene remained at Tulane following Wood's departure in 2024 as a defensive analyst and safeties coach. Tulane closed the 2024 campaign tied for the FBS high with six defensive touchdowns and ranked 15th nationally for passing yards allowed (177.7 yards per game), 24th for both total defense (323.5 yards per game) and scoring defense (20.6 points allowed per game) and then 27th with 14 interceptions.

Prior to Tulane, Greene served six seasons as an assistant coach at Wofford, his alma mater, eventually rising to defensive coordinator for three seasons starting with the COVID-shortened 2020 campaign that was played during the spring of 2021. Greene was promoted as the defensive play-caller only two weeks prior to that 2021 spring season.

Greene began his tenure at Wofford as the cornerbacks coach in 2017 for a Wood-led defense that finished 10-3 overall with a Southern Conference title. The Terriers ranked second in the conference and 26th nationally in total defense that season, giving up only 326.7 yards per game to go along with just 22.4 points a contest. Wofford created 20 takeaways during his debut season as well, including four interceptions from first team All-Southern Conference cornerback Devin Watson.

Greene took over the entire defensive backs room beginning with his second season on staff as Wofford led the Southern Conference in total defense, scoring defense, passing defense and rushing defense. The Terriers finished 9-4 that season, advancing to the Southern Conference title game yet again as well as the second round of the NCAA FCS playoffs. Wofford won its second conference title with Greene in 2019 as the Terriers ranked 20th in the nation for total defense and 24th for scoring defense, giving up 335.3 yards and 22.1 points a contest.

Greene began his coaching career as a graduate assistant working with the wide receivers at North Greenville University in 2015 before moving to the opposite side of the ball as a defensive graduate assistant at Pittsburgh in 2016. Pitt finished 8-5 that season after defeating eventual national champion Clemson as well as Penn State, both teams that finished in the top five of the final College Football Playoff rankings.

Similar to Wood, Greene played on the offensive side of the ball as a wide receiver for Wofford from 2010-13. Wood was Greene's position coach during his freshman season in 2010 before becoming Wofford's safeties coach beginning in 2011. Wofford made three NCAA FCS playoff appearances during Greene's paying career with two Southern Conference titles. He was a four-time selection to the Southern Conference academic honor roll as well as a three-time honoree to the Academic All-Southern Conference team.

Greene moved to North Greenville University in 2014 as a graduate transfer, helping push the Crusaders to a victory over Shorter University, 42-16, in the National Christian College Athletic Association (NCCAA) Victory Bowl. He signed with Wofford out of Dorman High School in Spartanburg, South Carolina, where he was a team captain his senior season for a team that went 14-1 overall and won the state championship.

Greene graduated magna cum laude from Wofford in 2014, earning his bachelor's degree in mathematics. He married his wife, Ellie, a 2017 graduate of Wofford, in May 2020. The couple welcomed their first child, a daughter, Elsie, in April 2026.

DARCEL MCBATH

Cornerbacks Coach | Third Season

Darcel McBath, one of the top defensive backs in school history, enters his third season on the Texas Tech football staff and his second as the Red Raiders' cornerbacks coach.

McBath was promoted to a full-time position coach after serving as an analyst with the Red Raiders during the 2024 season. McBath oversaw Texas Tech's advanced scouting, providing weekly analysis of opponents on both sides of the ball while assisting with the defensive backs room. McBath was Texas Tech's defensive backs coach late in the season for its appearance in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl.

The Red Raiders experienced a defensive turnaround in McBath's first season as a full-time position coach, propelling Texas Tech to its first Big 12 title in history and an appearance in the College Football Playoff. Backed by an aggressive defense that led the country with 32 takeaways, Texas Tech posted the largest year-by-year improvement for both scoring (-23.0) and total yards allowed per game (-203.2) by any FBS program since 2000 en route to a school record 12 wins, all that came by 20 or more points.

Texas Tech ranked tied for ninth in the FBS with 17 interceptions as a team, including seven from the cornerbacks room between newcomers Brice Pollock and Amier Boyd. The Red Raiders significantly cut down on passing yards allowed per game, going from more than 300 yards surrendered a contest through the air in 2024 to only 190.1 during the 2025 season. Texas Tech ended the year ranked 26th in the FBS for passing yards allowed per game.

McBath relied on a trio of newcomers to shut down opposing offenses, namely Pollock, who was an All-Big 12 first team selection after leading the team with five interceptions and eight pass breakups. Pollock was among the most highly-rated corners in college football, ranking as one of only seven FBS players to record 40 tackles, 4.0 tackles for loss and at least five interceptions during the 2025 season and the lone player to do so from the Big 12. In the process, Pollock also became the first Red Raider since 2005 to reach those thresholds in a single season.

A longtime assistant under the late Mike Leach, McBath returned to his alma mater following four seasons as the cornerbacks coach at Mississippi State (2020-23) and two additional years in a similar capacity at Washington State (2018-19). McBath, who previously coached Pollock while at Mississippi State, began his coaching career as a quality control assistant at North Texas in 2016 before moving to Washington State in the same role the following season.

Mississippi State boasted three of its top cornerbacks in school history under McBath as he mentored Martin Emerson, a third-round selection in the 2022 NFL Draft, Emmanuel Forbes, the No. 16 overall pick of the 2023 NFL Draft and Decamerion Richardson, who heard his name called in the fourth round of the 2024 NFL Draft. Forbes, a consensus All-America selection as a senior in 2022, ranked third in the country that season with six interceptions and set the NCAA FBS record after returning his sixth interception for a touchdown.

Mississippi State made three bowl appearances during his four seasons in Starkville as the Bulldogs defeated Tulsa in the 2020 Armed Forces Bowl and topped Illinois in the ReliaQuest Bowl to end the 2022 campaign. The win over Illinois capped a 9-4 record for the Bulldogs, only their 10th season in school history with nine or more wins. Mississippi State's lone loss during his tenure came in 2021 when the Red Raiders topped the Bulldogs in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl. Over his career, McBath has coached in eight bowl games and has failed to reach the postseason only once, which came during his final season at Mississippi State in 2023.

McBath was promoted to cornerbacks coach prior to his second year in Pullman in what would become a historic 2018 season for the Cougars. Washington State set the school record with 11 wins that season, ending the year ranked as high as No. 10 in the Associated Press poll following a victory over No. 25 Iowa State in the Valero Alamo Bowl. The successful season followed a 9-4 campaign in McBath's first season on the Palouse.

McBath was promoted to interim co-defensive coordinator during his final season at Washington State, taking over the role following a loss at No. 19 Utah in only the fifth game of the season. The Cougars went on to finish that season ranked fifth in the Pac-12 with 19 takeaways and tied for second overall with nine fumble recoveries.

Prior to joining the coaching profession, McBath played five seasons in the NFL after being selected in the second round of the 2009 NFL Draft by the Denver Broncos. McBath spent two seasons with the Broncos before moving on for one season with the Jacksonville Jaguars and two seasons with the San Francisco 49ers where he was a member of the Super Bowl XLVII roster.

A native of Gainesville, Texas, McBath was a four-year letterman at defensive back for the Red Raiders from 2004-08. McBath earned All-Big 12 first team honors as a senior in 2008 after leading the nation with seven interceptions as part of one of the top Texas Tech teams in program history. The Red Raiders finished 11-2 that season, rising to as high as No. 2 in the polls following 10-consecutive wins to start the season, including to top-ranked Texas.

McBath earned his degree in general studies from Texas Tech in 2008. He and his wife, Malorie, were married in 2013 and are parents to two children, Ansleigh and Duke.

CLAY MCGUIRE

Offensive Line Coach | Third Season (Ninth Overall)

Clay McGuire enters his third season back on the Texas Tech sidelines as the Red Raiders' offensive line coach. This is McGuire's third stint on the Texas Tech coaching staff and first overseeing the offensive line after coaching the position for more than 10 years overall.

McGuire previously served his alma mater in various roles from 2006-09, ultimately rising to special teams coordinator (2007-08) and running backs coach (2009) under the late Mike Leach before returning again in 2018 to be the co-offensive coordinator and running backs coach for Kliff Kingsbury. He is believed to be only the second assistant coach in school history to serve three different stints on the Texas Tech coaching staff, joining the late Carlos Mainord.

Texas Tech has boasted one of the nation's top offenses during each of McGuire's first two seasons back at his alma mater, ranking in the top 10 for both scoring and total offense both years. The Red Raiders closed the 2024 season ranked fourth in the FBS for scoring at 37.6 points per game as well as ninth for both total offense a contest (462.7) and passing yards per game (296.7). It marked Texas Tech's most points per game since its 2016 offense averaged 43.7 a contest behind quarterback Patrick Mahomes II.

The Red Raiders upped its scoring average to 39.4 points per game during their historic 2025 campaign, which propelled Texas Tech to its first Big 12 title in history and an appearance in the College Football Playoff. Texas Tech finished with a school record 12 wins, all that came via at least 20 points as the Red Raiders ranked among the most-dominant teams in recent college football history. Texas Tech became only the fifth team in the Associated Press era (since 1936) to record 12 or more wins by 20-plus points in a season, while its eight Big 12 wins by that margin set a new league record.

Texas Tech has boasted a 1,000-yard rusher in each of the last two seasons in Tahj Brooks and Cameron Dickey. Brooks became Texas Tech's all-time leading rusher during the 2024 season after carving up defenses to the tune of more than 1,500 rushing yards to again rank among the national leaders. This despite relying on an offensive line that utilized six different starting combinations up front throughout the season due to injury.

McGuire was able to utilize the same starting lineup across all 14 games during the 2025 season, creating consistency up front that allowed Dickey to total 1,124 rushing yards and 14 touchdowns on the ground. It marked the first time in school history two different players rushed for 1,000 yards in consecutive seasons. The Red Raiders rushed for 2,560 rushing yards as a team behind Dickey and teammate J'Koby Williams, the most since Texas Tech joined the Big 12 Conference in 1996.

Caleb Rogers was one consistent mainstay in McGuire's 2024 starting rotation as he earned honorable mention All-Big 12 accolades after starting at both guard and tackle as needed. His flexibility and athleticism paid dividends as Rogers was selected in the third round of the 2025 NFL Draft by the Las Vegas Raiders, marking the first time a Texas Tech offensive lineman had heard his name called in the first three rounds since Le'Raven Clark did so in 2016 by the Indianapolis Colts.

Texas Tech had two All-Big 12 third team selections along the offensive line during the 2025 season in left tackle Howard Sampson and center Sheridan Wilson. Sampson was also named to the All-Big 12 Team by Pro Football Focus, which uses its grading analytics when making its selection. Davion Carter and Jacob Ponton also earned honorable mention All-Big 12 accolades with Ponton also earning Freshman All-America honors by The Athletic after an impressive debut at right tackle.

McGuire (no relation to Joey McGuire) returned to Texas Tech following two seasons as the offensive line coach at Washington State, his second stint with the Cougars after serving in a similar capacity for six years under Mike Leach from 2012-17. Washington State transformed into one of the most-dominating offenses in the country under Leach as the Cougars averaged more than 30 points per game in each of McGuire's last five seasons. The Cougars played in five bowl games over his eight combined seasons in Pullman as McGuire has been part of 10 bowl teams during his coaching career.

Part of the Cougars' success stemmed from the offensive line as McGuire recruited and coached several All-Pac 12 selections, including Joe Dahl, one of the top offensive linemen in Washington State history. Dahl, who transferred to Washington State soon after McGuire's hire in 2012, earned second team All-America honors by USA Today as a senior in 2015 to go along with All-Pac 12 first team accolades. Dahl was later selected by the Detroit Lions in the fifth round of the 2016 NFL Draft, marking the first time a Washington State offensive lineman has been chosen since 2001. In addition, he was the highest Cougar offensive lineman taken since 1997.

McGuire sent another Cougar to the NFL ranks following the 2017 season as Cole Madison, a three-time All-Pac 12 honoree, heard his name called in the fifth round of the 2018 NFL Draft by the Green Bay Packers. The 2017 season also closed the career of another McGuire protégé in two-time All-America selection Cody O'Connell, who became only the second unanimous All-American in Washington State history in 2016 and was the school's first Outland Trophy finalist.

O'Connell was a consensus All-American in 2017 after closing his career by earning first-team accolades from the Walter Camp Foundation and The Sporting News. He was the first Cougar to earn first team All-America honors in consecutive seasons since running back Rueben Mayes in 1984-85 and the first offensive lineman ever to do so.

In addition, McGuire also mentored Andre Dillard, the No. 22 overall selection in the 2019 NFL Draft by the Philadelphia Eagles, as well as four-time All-Pac 12 selection Abe Lucas while with the Cougars. Dillard was the first Cougar offensive lineman in school history to be selected in the first round as his selection marked the third time in a four-year stretch one of McGuire's pupils entered the NFL via the draft. He started in 39 games at left tackle under McGuire, earning third team All-America honors as a senior in 2018 after allowing only one sack and 13 total pressures in 722 pass-blocking snaps.

In addition to his time at Washington State, McGuire has also mentored successful offensive lines recently at both Texas State (2019-20) and USC (2021). Those two stints followed his one season back on the Texas Tech staff where the Red Raiders averaged an impressive 37.3 points per game and 485.2 yards of total offense during the 2018 season.

McGuire, a four-year letterwinner as a blocking back for the Red Raiders from 2001-04, earned his first full-time assistant position five games into the 2007 season as he took over special teams duties, a role he earned on a permanent basis in 2008. Texas Tech opponents averaged just 6.7 yards per punt return once McGuire took over, while the kickoff coverage unit ranked second in the Big 12 in fewest return yards allowed.

Following his stint in Lubbock, McGuire joined Ruffin McNeil's staff at East Carolina where he helped reshape the Pirate's offense into one of the most explosive units in the country. East Carolina averaged 36.8 points per game in McGuire's first season alone as running back Jon Williams totaled 847 yards and 10 touchdowns on the ground. The Pirates were also drastically improved on special teams in 2010 as East Carolina ranked among the top-35 schools nationally in punt return average (30th), punt coverage(31st) and kickoff coverage (29th).

McGuire previously starred at quarterback and defensive end at Crane High School prior to becoming the first high school prospect to commit to the Red Raiders during the Leach era. He has two degrees from Texas Tech as he earned his bachelor's in history in 2004 and his master's in secondary education in 2007. His older brother, Cody, also played for the Red Raiders from 1994-97 under legendary head coach Spike Dykes.

McGuire and his wife, Jeri, are the parents of two daughters, Jorja and Addison. Jorja McGuire will be a freshman volleyball student-athlete beginning this fall at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi.

GARRET MCGUIRE

Running Backs Coach | Second Season

Garret McGuire enters his second season as Texas Tech's running backs coach where he has quickly developed one of the nation's deepest position rooms behind the tandem of Cameron Dickey and J'Koby Williams.

Texas Tech boasted multiple running backs with at least 800 rushing yards for the first time in program history during McGuire's debut season, which helped push the Red Raiders to their first Big 12 title in history and an appearance in the College Football Playoff. The two-back system with Dickey and Williams paved the way for the Red Raiders finishing with 2,560 rushing yards as a team, their most since Texas Tech joined the Big 12 Conference in1996.

The duo both eclipsed more than 1,300 all-purpose yards, becoming the only pair of running backs in the country to do so during the 2025 season. It was only the seventh time in school history and the first time since 2015 that Texas Tech had featured multiple players with at least 1,300 all-purpose yards in the same season. It was the first time, though, that both players had been part of the running back room.

Dickey became the ninth Red Raider in program history to break the 1,000-yard mark, finishing with 1,124 rushing yards on the season in an impressive breakout season as a sophomore. It was the 14th different 1,000-yard season by a Red Raider in school history, earning him All-Big 12 second team honors by the conference coaches and a selection as one of 10 semifinalists for the Doak Walker Award. Dickey led the Big 12 for both rushing touchdowns (14) and total touchdowns (16), ranking in the top 20 nationally for both categories.

Williams, meanwhile, was a finalist for the Paul Hornung Award, recognizing the most-versatile player in college football. Known for his speed as a rusher and as a returner, Williams led the Red Raiders with 1,525 all-purpose yards after totaling 868 on the ground, 388 through the air and 242 and 269 as a returner. He ranked 12th in the FBS for total all-purpose yards, bolstering a Texas Tech offense that averaged 39.4 points per game, its highest since 2016. Williams was also an All-Big 12 third team selection by the conference coaches as a returner and an honorable mention pick as a running back.

McGuire should have one of the nation's deepest running backs room when the 2026 season kicks off thanks in part to the return of Quinten Joyner, who missed the entire 2025 season due to injury. The 2026 campaign will be McGuire's sixth at either the collegiate or professional level and second in overseeing the running backs position. He previously was the wide receivers coach for Nebraska during the 2023-24 seasons after beginning his career as a coaching assistant with the Carolina Panthers in 2021. McGuire was promoted to an offensive assistant with the Panthers a year later ahead of the 2022 season.

Nebraska returned to a bowl game for the first time since 2016 with McGuire on staff in 2024 as the Huskers finished 7-6 overall following a victory over Boston College in the Bad Boy Mowers Pinstripe Bowl. McGuire contributed to consecutive top-25 recruiting classes for the Huskers as he was responsible for four four-star prospects signing with Nebraska for the 2025 class alone.

McGuire has been recognized as one of the nation's top up-and-coming coaches since being hired by Nebraska at only the age of 23. Over his two seasons, McGuire was named to the 2024 class for the AFCA 35 Under 35 list as well as the 30-Under-30 ranking of top young assistants compiled by 247Sports in 2023.

While at Nebraska, McGuire tutored a young wide receiver room with three true freshmen in Jaylen Lloyd, Malachi Coleman and Jaidyn Doss all seeing significant playing time during his debut season in 2023. Lloyd and Coleman developed into two of Nebraska's top receivers by the end of the season with Lloyd averaging an impressive 39.5 yards per catch after finding the end zone three times from at least 58 yards. Lloyd joined Ohio State's Marvin Harrison Jr. as the only Big Ten receivers with at least three 50-yard receptions in 2023.

Nebraska started three different quarterbacks in 2023 for a Huskers offense that relied on numerous newcomers in McGuire's room. McGuire's ability to identify offensive weapons benefited the Huskers again in 2024 as Jacory Barnet Jr. set the Nebraska record for most receptions by a true freshman after catching 55 passes for 447 yards. Barnet Jr. ranked third nationally among all FBS freshmen for receptions and had the most targets (76) of any player in the country without a drop, according to Pro Football Focus. He finished second on the team with 875 all-purpose yards as an additional threat in the run game and as a returner.

The Huskers ranked tied for fourth nationally in 2024 for the fewest dropped passes, trailing only Army (5), Navy (6) and fellow Big Ten peer Washington (6). McGuire's unit dropped only seven passes on the season despite 435 attempts, which led all three schools at the top of the rankings and more than doubled the amounts for both Army and Navy, traditional run-heavy offenses. The Huskers also ended the season ranked 15th in the FBS for completion percentage (66.2).

Nebraska got off to a 5-1 start to the 2024 season, which featured wins over fellow postseason teams in Colorado and Rutgers. This despite utilizing a true freshman quarterback in Dylan Raiola, who threw for the most yards and had the highest completion percentage by a freshman in school history. Raiola threw for 2,819 yards and 13 touchdowns with a 67.1 completion percentage, which ranked third all-time in Nebraska history. Raiola also ranked seventh all-time on Nebraska's single-season passing yards chart.

McGuire had two of his Huskers sign NFL free agent agreements following the 2024 season as Isaiah Neyor came to terms with the San Francisco 49ers, while Jahmal Banks was picked up by the Baltimore Ravens. Banks led Nebraska with 44 catches for 587 yards and three touchdowns in his lone season as a Husker after transferring from Wake Forest. Neyor, meanwhile, was the team leader with five receiving touchdowns as part of 34 catches for 455 yards overall.

McGuire began his coaching career as a coaching assistant on Matt Rhule's staff with the Carolina Panthers in 2021. His tenure culminated with the Panthers as one of only eight NFL teams to have more than 3,200 passing yards and 2,220 rushing yards in 2022 despite injuries that forced Carolina to utilize three different starting quarterbacks. Even still, wide receiver DJ Moore ranked 15th in the NFL with seven touchdown receptions that season.

Prior to joining the coaching profession, McGuire was a quarterback and special teams player at Baylor from 2017-20, earning first team Academic All-Big 12 honors twice while also being named a team captain as a senior in 2020. He earned his degree in health, kinesiology and leisure studies from Baylor in 2020.

McGuire married his wife, Terra, in July 2026. He is the son of Texas Tech head coach Joey McGuire and his wife, Debbie.

JACQUIES SMITH

Outside Linebackers Coach | First Season

Jacquies Smith enters his first season as Texas Tech's outside linebackers coach, bringing significant experience in developing edge rushers at both the collegiate and NFL levels.

Smith arrives at Texas Tech with experience as both a player and coach at the NFL level after spending the past two seasons on the Falcons' staff. A five-year NFL veteran as a player, Smith has also worked at the collegiate level, beginning his coaching career as a graduate assistant on the Texas staff in 2023.

The Falcons set a franchise record with 57 total sacks during the 2025 season thanks in part to rookie outside linebacker James Pearce Jr., who led the team with 10.5 sacks. Pearce, the Falcons' first round pick in the 2025 NFL Draft, easily led all rookies for sacks to go along with 26 tackles, 10.0 tackles for loss and 16 quarterback hits, making him one of five finalists for Associated Press Defensive Rookie of the Year honors.

His successful debut placed Pearce in a select category historically as his 10.5 sacks were the most for an NFL rookie since former Cowboys outside linebacker Micah Parson had 13 in 2021. In fact, Pearce became only the 23rd rookie since sacks became an official NFL individual stat to record at least 10.5 sacks in a season. He was the youngest Falcon in franchise history to reach 10.0 sacks in a season.

Smith developed a young Falcons outside linebackers room during his first season in 2024 as Atlanta's pass rush totaled 31 sacks and 71 quarterback hits on 184 pressures. Atlanta's defense recorded the longest active streak in the NFL that season with three-or-more sacks in a game, having reached that mark in each of the Falcons' Week 13-16 matchups.

Smith joined the Falcons after spending the 2023 season as a graduate assistant at Texas where he assisted with the edge rushers. Texas played in the College Football Playoff that season behind a strong pass rush that ranked second in the Big 12 with 32 sacks and 85.0 tackles for loss. Texas boasted one of the nation's top defenses that season, ranking third nationally after only allowing 82.4 rushing yards per game as well as 15th at only 18.9 points per contest.

Prior to joining the staff at Texas, Smith specialized in pre-draft training for draft-eligible prospects, passing along his own experience from a successful NFL career of his own. He worked with the likes of Travon Walker, the top overall pick of the 2022 NFL Draft, as well as Will Anderson Jr., who was selected No. 3 overall a year later, during his time as a trainer.

Smith played five seasons in the NFL, appearing in 37 games for the Buccaneers, Lions, Cardinals and Raiders from 2014-18. He began his NFL career on the practice squads for the New York Jets and Buffalo Bills from 2012-13 before breaking into the starting lineup with the Buccaneers a year later with 6.5 sacks and a fumble recovery. Smith ultimately recorded 43 tackles, 26 quarterback hits, 13.5 sacks, 10.0 tackles for loss, four forced fumbles, four fumble recoveries, three pass breakups and one defensive touchdown over his NFL career.

Smith previously starred at Missouri from 2008-11 prior to his NFL career where he was a two-time All-Big 12 selection and team captain. He finished with 142 tackles during his four-year career, including 21.0 tackles for loss and 9.5 sacks, to go along with nine passes defensed, five forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries and two defensive touchdowns for a Missouri program that had two 10-win seasons and totaled 36 wins during that span.

Smith, a native of Dallas and graduate of South Oak Cliff High School, earned his degree from Missouri in 2011. He and his wife, Jordan, are parents to three daughters, Harmony, Jaimesen and Journey.

LANCE BARILOW

Head Strength and Conditioning Coach | Fifth Season

Lance Barilow enters his fifth season as a charter member of Joey McGuire's staff as Texas Tech's head strength and conditioning coach.

Barilow oversees all in-season and offseason strength programing, one of the key components for a Texas Tech program that is coming off a Big 12 Conference title and appearance in the College Football Playoff. The Red Raiders have played in a bowl game each of Barilow's four seasons, culminating in a school record 12 wins in 2025, all that came by at least 20 points. Barilow helped build one of the nation's most dominant teams in recent history as the Red Raiders became only the fifth team in the Associated Press era (since 1936) to record 12 or more wins by 20-plus points in a season, while their eight Big 12 wins by that margin set a new league record.

The Red Raiders have combined for 24 wins during Big 12 play since Barilow joined McGuire's staff as one of his first hires prior to the 2022 season. Texas Tech leads all Big 12 programs for conference wins, regardless of league affiliation, since that time and is one of two schools to boast a winning conference record each of the past four seasons.

Barilow has helped develop 14 players who have heard their name in the NFL Draft since his arrival at Texas Tech, including two top-10 selections in outside linebackers Tyree Wilson (2023) and David Bailey (2026). Texas Tech boasted a school record nine NFL Draft picks following the historic 2025 season, namely in Bailey, the No. 2 overall selection, as well as four others in the first three rounds in linebacker Jacob Rodriguez, defensive tackle Lee Hunter, outside linebacker Romello Height and wide receiver Caleb Douglas.

Barilow arrived in Lubbock already with a championship pedigree following one season at Baylor where he served as the senior associate director of athletics performance with the football program. He concluded his tenure at Baylor with the Bears' victory in the Big 12 Championship game against Oklahoma State. Barilow has worked in the Big 12 Conference each of the past six seasons as he moved to Baylor after spending the 2020 season as the associate director of strength and conditioning at Kansas.

Prior to Kansas, Barilow was on staff at LSU from 2016-19, rising from an intern to eventually being named the associate director of strength and conditioning for football in 2018. Barilow, who also worked with beach volleyball and soccer during his tenure in Baton Rouge, was part of LSU's historic 15-0 season in 2019 that was highlighted with the Tigers topping Clemson in the College Football Playoff National Championship.

In addition to his role at the collegiate level, Barilow has four years of experience as a private sport performance coach in Wisconsin and Illinois. He holds National Strength and Conditioning Association (NSCA) and Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist (CSCS) certifications.

Barilow is a veteran of the United States Navy, serving from 2007-09 following a three-year career as a football letterwinner at Carroll College in Wisconsin. He completed his bachelor's degree in exercise science in 2007 from the university.

Barilow is married to the former Katie Raschka. The couple has three children, Brody, Lincoln and Braxson.

ANTONIO HUFFMAN

Associate A.D. / Football Administration | Eighth Season (10th Overall)

Former Red Raider defensive back Antonio Huffman enters his eighth season on the Texas Tech football staff and his sixth in the role of Associate Athletics Director for football administration. Huffman previously served as Chief of Staff before earning his current promotion.

As part of his role, Huffman oversees the day-to-day operations for the football program, all while adding administrative duties within the athletics department. Huffman, often referred to as the "head coach off the field" by Joey McGuire, is the football program's liaison to administration regarding any legislation pertaining to name-image-likeness (NIL) and the introduction to revenue sharing. He also oversees any football facility improvements, namely the south end zone and Dustin R. Womble Football Center project that opened during the 2024 season.

The Womble Football Center has been credited as a game-changer for the Red Raiders, who are coming off their first Big 12 Conference title and appearance in the College Football Playoff. Huffman was instrumental in the design process, providing critical feedback as Texas Tech developed easily one of the nation's top football headquarters that focuses on player development and recovery.

Huffman returned to his alma mater prior to the 2019 campaign to oversee the non-coaching aspects of the football program, including departmental budget, academics, team travel, summer camps and all other day-to-day operations. He spent the seven previous seasons as the Director of Football Operations at Washington State.

This is Huffman's second stint on the Texas Tech staff as he was previously the Director of Player Personnel during the 2008-09 seasons. Huffman served as the football program's liaison with athletics compliance during those two seasons, while also assisting with Texas Tech's recruiting operations where he set up official and unofficial visits, campus tours and summer camps. In addition, Huffman oversaw housing placement for each Red Raider student-athlete during his tenure and also worked closely with the academic staff at the Marsha Sharp Center for Student-Athletes. He added additional responsibility in 2009 as he supervised the presentation and maintenance of the aesthetics in the previous team headquarters, the Football Training Facility.

Huffman orchestrated many of Tech's community relations activities during his tenure, including the popular "Huff's Huggables" charity drive he founded late in his playing career. "Huff's Huggables" provided stuffed animals to the Lubbock Police Department for officers to provide to local children during difficult moments.

Following his two seasons on staff, Huffman followed former Texas Tech defensive coordinator Ruffin McNeil to East Carolina where he spent the 2010-11 seasons in a similar role with the Pirates. Huffman departed East Carolina following the 2011 season to rejoin his former head coach Mike Leach at Washington State. He spent the first four seasons of his tenure as the Director of Football Operations before earning a promotion to Assistant Athletics Director after the 2015 season.

With the Cougars, Huffman oversaw the day-to-day operations of the football staff, namely team travel, the Cougar guest coach program and summer camps and clinics. He was also the football liaison for compliance, academics and student conduct throughout his tenure, which culminated with the Cougars winning 11 games in 2018, the most in school history.

A three-year starter at defensive back for the Red Raiders, Huffman completed his Red Raider career in 2006 with 189 tackles, four interceptions and 25 pass breakups. He was named the Defensive MVP in his final game as a Red Raider after picking off a crucial interception in Texas Tech's 44-41 come-from-behind victory over Minnesota in the 2006 Insight Bowl.

Huffman excelled academically during his time as a student-athlete, earning selections to prestigious honors such as the John Wooden Leadership Cup (2007), NCAA Leadership Conference (2006), Draddy Award (semifinalist in 2006) and the President and Dean's List (2005-06). He earned his degree in human development and family studies from Tech in 2006 and has since pursued a master's degree in sociology.

Huffman, a native of Atlanta, Georgia, attended Garden City (Kan.) Community College from 2001-03 before transferring to Texas Tech. Following his collegiate career, he played one season for the Lubbock Renegades of the AFL2.

Huffman is married to the former Shelley Bartley of Lubbock. They are the parents of a son, Aeson Deon, and a daughter, Aniyah Jordan.

JAMES BLANCHARD

General Manager | Fifth Season

James Blanchard was named the first member of head coach Joey McGuire's charter staff at Texas Tech as he serves as General Manager and oversees the Red Raiders' personnel department.

Blanchard began the rise of the general manager role in college football soon after joining McGuire in Lubbock, immediately reshaping the Red Raiders' entire recruiting process from scouting to on-campus visits as part of Texas Tech's unique model that resembles an NFL front office. Few, if any, general managers across college football have the autonomy Blanchard enjoys under McGuire. Blanchard and his staff are responsible for identifying every prospect Texas Tech ultimately offers a scholarship opportunity, allowing McGuire and his coaching staff to prioritize player development and opponent scouting, especially during the season.

That setup has transformed the Red Raiders' roster in only four seasons, propelling Texas Tech into a national contender thanks to a mixture of highly-rated transfer signees and consistent top-25 classes of high school prospects. The Red Raiders have signed three top-30 high school classes already under Blanchard, including several five-star prospects in wide receiver Micah Hudson, offensive lineman Felix Ojo and edge rusher LaDamion Guyton with more likely on the way.

Blanchard and his staff identified two five-star signees in Ojo and Guyton as part of a stellar 2026 class that ranked as high as No. 13 nationally by ESPN and No. 15 by 247Sports, which led the Big 12 for the second time already during his tenure. Blanchard previously rebuilt Texas Tech's recruiting strategy soon after his arrival, signing a 2023 class that was rated as high as No. 28 by Rivals, marking the Red Raiders' highest recruiting ranking in more than a decade. Texas Tech followed with another banner 2024 class that was considered in the top-25 nationally by both Rivals and 247Sports.

Texas Tech has balanced high-end high school recruiting, especially in the state of Texas, with key additions via the transfer portal. Texas Tech landed On3's top transfer portal class following the 2024 season as McGuire and his staff signed 20 newcomers to add to an already-talented list of returners that eventually led the Red Raiders to the College Football Playoff for the first time. Texas Tech reloaded again this past offseason, signing a transfer class that ranks as high as No. 2 nationally by On3.

Blanchard was named a top rising personnel and recruiting staffers in college football by On3.com in August 2022. He was also named to the 40 Under 40 list compiled by Dave Campbell's Texas Football in its summer 2025 edition of the top coaches and football personnel in the state.

Blanchard was in his second stint as Baylor's Assistant Athletics Director for scouting prior to joining McGuire upon his hire in November 2021. Blanchard had previously rejoined the Baylor football staff in January 2021 where he was responsible for identifying and pursuing prospective scholarship student-athletes. He previously served as Director of Recruiting for the Bears from March 2019 to May 2020 before accepting a position with the Carolina Panthers in the NFL.

While with the Panthers, Blanchard was responsible for breaking down opponent film and evaluating potential free agents for Carolina's front office. He departed Baylor for the NFL alongside former Baylor head coach Matt Rhule, who accepted the Panthers head coaching position following the 2019 season.

A native of Orange, Texas, Blanchard was a member of the football program at West Orange-Stark High School before studying psychology at Lamar University.

He is married to the former Kiara Fowler. The couple has five children – Kenley, Karrington, Karter, Kali and Kason.

BRIAN NANCE
Asst. GM / H.S. Personnel
FIfth Season
Baylor '18

Brian Nance enters his fifth season on the Texas Tech staff where he has helped build the Red Raiders into one of the top recruiting operations nationally under head coach Joey McGuire and general manager James Blanchard.

Nance arrived at Texas Tech first as Director of Scouting before moving into the Director of Player Personnel role prior to the 2023 campaign. He was promoted to Assistant General Manager with oversight of high school recruiting following Texas Tech's historic 2025 season where the Red Raiders won their first Big 12 title and appeared in the College Football Playoff. In his role, Nance, pairs with Blanchard in identifying future student-athletes as part of Texas Tech's NFL model in its personnel department.

Texas Tech has signed three top-30 high school classes since Nance joined McGuire's charter staff ahead of the 2022 season. The Red Raiders have prioritized relationships throughout the state of Texas since that time, which has landed Texas Tech several five-star prospect signees such as wide receiver Micah Hudson, offensive lineman Felix Ojo and outside linebacker LaDamion Guyton.

Texas Tech is coming off a 2026 class that ranked as high as No. 13 nationally by ESPN and No. 15 by 247Sports, marking its highest ranking since internet ratings became available. The Red Raiders have balanced signing the top prospects in the state of Texas with key additions via the transfer portal. Texas Tech landed On3's top transfer portal class following the 2024 season and reloaded again this past offseason, signing another highly-rated class that ranked No. 2 by the publication.

Nance joined the Red Raider football program after previously serving on the staff at Baylor where he worked alongside both McGuire and Blanchard. Nance joined the Baylor staff in 2019, first as assistant director of football operations under then head coach Matt Rhule before moving to the recruiting side as associate director of player personnel in 2020.

Baylor played in two Big 12 title games during Nance's three seasons on staff as the Bears fell to Oklahoma in 2019 before topping Oklahoma State in 2021. Both trips led to appearances in the Allstate Sugar Bowl as Baylor was a combined 25-12 overall over his three seasons.

In addition to his time at the collegiate level, Nance joins a list of Texas Tech staffers who have experience as part of the Texas High School Coaches Association (THSCA) after serving as an assistant coach at Temple High School near Waco in 2018. He joined the Baylor staff immediately following that football season.

Nance was a three-year letterwinner at Baylor from 2014-17 where he developed into one of the top defensive linemen in the Big 12 his senior season. Nance appeared in 38 games with 10 starts as a Bear, capping his tenure with a strong senior campaign that featured career highs with 33 tackles, 8.5 tackles for loss and 2.5 sacks.

A native of Buffalo, New York, Nance earned his degree in kinesiology and leisure studies from Baylor in 2018. Nance and his girlfriend, Aereal Dickerson, a 2016 Baylor graduate, have three children: Jayvon, Brielle and Brian III.

Fifth Season
Texas Tech '10, '12

Quintin Jordan returned to his alma mater in 2022 as the Director of Football Operations as part of Joey McGuire's charter staff at Texas Tech. He was promoted to Assistant General Manager following Texas Tech's historic 2025 season where he still assists with team operations while adding additional duties with revenue share management.

In his role, Jordan has been instrumental in many of the behind-the-scenes aspects of the football program, assisting with the planning and execution of team travel, while serving as the primary contact for the initial eligibility process of incoming student-athletes, which includes Texas Tech's admissions, progress towards degree, financial aid and NCAA certification offices. Jordan also coordinates Texas Tech's annual senior and junior retreats each summer as well as numerous team events throughout the calendar year.

Jordan added additional responsibility beginning with the 2025 season as he helps oversee Texas Tech's revenue-share budget, forming a team with Associate A.D. for football administration Antonio Huffman and general manger James Blanchard to keep the Red Raiders at the forefront of the changing landscape in college football.

Jordan reunited with McGuire not long after his hiring at Texas Tech as the previously were on the same staff at Baylor over a four-year span. Jordan served as the Director of Football Operations over his final three years at Baylor where the Bears enjoyed two 11-win seasons and won the Big 12 title to close his tenure in 2022. Baylor also played in the Big 12 Championship in 2019.

Jordan began his tenure with the Bears as the associate director of student-athlete development in July 2018 being moving directly on the football staff under head coach Matt Rhule. Jordan was not only retained but promoted when Baylor head coach Dave Aranda was hired in 2020, placing him in charge of many of the logistical aspects of the program as Director of Football Operations.

In his role with the student-athlete development office, Jordan was responsible for managing the leadership development program as well as the First Year Course, Personal Skills programming and the Student-Athlete Advisor Committee (SAAC).

Prior to Baylor, Jordan spent five years as the associate director of sport services at Conference USA, serving as the primary administrator for cross country, track and field and men's tennis. Jordan was on the championships team, helping oversee logistics for Conference USA's football and basketball championships and was the league's liaison annually for Battle for Atlantis, one of the top college basketball events each season hosted in the Bahamas.

Jordan also played a significant role in student-athlete development, representing the league as a facilitator for the NCAA Student-Athlete Leadership Forum and the Emerging Leaders Seminar selections committee. In addition to his work promoting the league's student-athletes, Jordan was responsible for managing the conference's video exchange program.

Jordan began his professional career at the NCAA national office in Indianapolis where he experienced firsthand the legislation process. The position provided Jordan ample experience by answering NCAA legislative calls, conducting amateurism certifications and by working with the NCAA Eligibility Center's high school review department and the National Letter of Intent program.

Over his career, Jordan has been selected to work numerous conference and national championship events, including three College Football Playoff National Championships and five combined NCAA men's or women's Final Fours. He was also selected to participate in the NCAA Dr. Charles Whitcomb Leadership Institute in 2019, which provides tailored programming to assist ethnic minorities in strategically mapping and planning their careers in athletics administration.

Jordan, a native of Fort Worth, Texas, graduated from Texas Tech in 2010 with his bachelor's degree in business administration from the Rawls College of Business. He received his master's of science in sports management in 2012.

He and his wife, BrenShavia, are parents to three children – Josiah, Aaliyah and Quintin Jr.

DAVE MARTIN
Director of Player Development
Fifth Season
East Central Oklahoma '99

Dave Martin reunited with head coach Joey McGuire shortly after his hire at Texas Tech as he was named Director of Player Development on his charter staff.

The role is an important one for McGuire, who quickly plunked Martin to oversee many of the Red Raiders' initiatives in the Lubbock community. Martin, a former assistant coach under McGuire at Cedar Hill High School, is also the high school relations liaison, welcoming hundreds of Texas High School Coaches Association (THSCA) members annually as part of Texas Tech's open-door policy for prep coaches throughout the country. On the field, he assists with the secondary, specifically the "Star" position in Texas Tech's defense.

Martin has been a key voice behind the scenes for a Red Raider program that has developed into a national contender in only four years. Martin regularly meets with Texas Tech's captains and leadership committee throughout the calendar year, focusing on team development and locker room culture, key elements in the Red Raiders' rise to a Big 12 championship in 2025 and appearance in the College Football Playoff. Texas Tech boasts the most Big 12 wins by any conference school, regardless of league affiliation, since he and McGuire's arrival in 2022.

Martin arrived in Lubbock as one of the top high school coaches in his native state of Oklahoma as he was an impressive 138-38 over 14 seasons as the athletic director and head football coach at Jones High School in the Oklahoma City area. Martin led his alma mater to seven district championships and a playoff appearance in all but one season, making Jones easily one of the top programs in the state.

The highlight of his tenure came in 2016 when Jones claimed the Class 3A state title, the first for the Longhorns in school history. The monumental win for Jones followed similar close finishes under Martin as the Longhorns appeared in the state title game previously in 2011, his fourth season as head coach, and then the state semifinals in 2012 and 2015. Jones returned to the state semifinals a year after that state title victory in 2017 as well.

The 2016 season earned Martin a slew of coaching honors as he was tabbed the All-State Coach of the Year by The Oklahoman, the Jim Thorpe Award Oklahoma Hall of Fame Coach of the Year, the Oklahoma Sports Hall of Fame Coach of the Year, the Region 8 Coach of the Year and District Coach of the Year. He was named the top coach in the district seven times over his tenure and was twice recognized with region and Oklahoma Sports Hall of Fame honors.

As an athletics director, Martin also oversaw two other sport programs in baseball and women's basketball that claimed state titles during his tenure. His work as an administrator was twice recognized by his peers as he was named the District 8 Athletic Director of the Year following the 2018 and 2019 academic years.

Martin, a member of the Texas High School Coaches Association (THSCA), the Oklahoma Coaches Association (OCA) and the Oklahoma Football Coaches Association (OFBCA), began his coaching career alongside McGuire as the outside linebackers coach at Cedar Hill under then head coach Robert Woods. Once McGuire was promoted to head coach prior to the 2003 season, Martin shifted over to oversee the defensive backs.

Cedar Hill was the first coaching position for Martin after he earned his degree in science and education from East Central Oklahoma University in 1999. Martin returned to his native state of Oklahoma in 2004 to become the defensive coordinator at Harrah High School just east of Oklahoma City. That position helped him return to Jones as an assistant coach in 2007 before being promoted to the top chair the following season.

Martin and his wife, Tara, are parents to two children, a son, Braiden, and a daughter, Blakeley. Braiden was previously a student assistant coach for the Red Raider football program, while Blakeley is entering her junior year of high school.

JACK TEACHEY
Senior Defensive Analyst
Second Season
East Tennessee State '91

Jack Teachey enters his second season as a senior defensive analyst on the Texas Tech staff, giving defensive coordinator Shiel Wood another veteran coach with experience to continue the Red Raiders rebuild on that side of the ball.

Prior to joining the Texas Tech staff, Teachey spent 20 years in various roles at Wofford where he was on the coaching staff during the playing careers of both Wood and second-year safeties coach Rob Greene. Wood and Teachey would later work on the same Wofford staff from 2011-12 with Wood as the safeties coach and Teachey as the defensive line coach.

Teachey was promoted to Wofford's defensive coordinator during his final season on staff in 2013. He coached the defensive line for 16 of his 20 seasons, while also serving as the recruiting coordinator from 1999-2012 where he recruited and coached 19 eventual All-Conference standouts and seven All-Americans. He was also responsible for recruiting two Southern Conference Offensive Player of the Year selections.

Teachey immediately help bolster Texas Tech's play up front in his first season on staff, assisting with a defensive line that featured two NFL Draft picks in Lee Hunter (second round, Carolina Panthers) and Skyler Gill-Howard (sixth round, Detroit Lions). Hunter and fellow defensive lineman A.J. Holmes Jr. both earned second team All-America honors as part of a dominant defense that led the country in both takeaways (32) and rushing yards allowed per game (68.1), while ranking third in the FBS for scoring at 11.8 points a contest as well as total defense (258.3).

The defensive turnaround marked the largest year-by-year improvement for both scoring (-23.0) and total yards allowed per game (-203.2) by any FBS program since 2000, propelling the Red Raiders to their first Big 12 title and an appearance in the College Football Playoff. In the process, Texas Tech finished with a school record 12 wins, all by 20 points thanks to the combination of a high-scoring offense and a dominant defense.

Teachey previously began his career at Wofford as the tight ends and tackles coach in 1994 before moving to the defensive side of the ball as the outside linebackers coach from 1995-97. In addition, Teachey also served as the strength and conditioning coach at various stretches for a program that claimed four Southern Conference titles and advanced to the NCAA FCS playoffs five times overall.

Teachey departed Wofford following the 2013 season – his first as defensive coordinator – to accept a position with a local church. His time away from football didn't last long, though, as he became a volunteer defensive consultant at nearby Topsail High School in North Carolina the following year. He soon earned his teaching certificate, joining the Topsail program as a full-time assistant coach in 2015.

Teachey was named Topsail's head coach prior to the 2022 season where he led the Pirates to their first two playoff appearances in school history. Topsail marked Teachey's second stint at the prep level as he began his coaching career as an assistant coach at Cherryville High School in North Carolina – his alma mater - in 1992 and then North Pitt High School in 1993.

Prior to joining the coaching profession, Teachey was a four-year letterwinner and three-year starter at tight end for East Tennessee State. Teachey earned All-SoCon honors as a junior in 1989 and was a team captain the following season as a senior. He earned his bachelor's degree in political science from East Tennessee State in 1991.

A native of Wilmington, North Carolina, Teachey is married to the former Ellen Wilcox. The couple has four children in Emma Kate, Lillie, Ryder and Halen.

MAC ALEXANDER
Asst. Special Teams Coordinator
First Season
Colorado Mesa '14, Adams State '16

Mac Alexander enters his first season on Texas Tech's coaching staff as assistant special teams coordinator and specialists coach.

Alexander arrived at Texas Tech following three seasons as the associate head coach at Colorado State-Pueblo where he served as special teams coordinator as well as defensive backs coach and passing game coordinator. Alexander has a long history coaching special teams at the Division II level as well as a graduate assistant at Washington State from 2020-21.

This will be his second stint in the state of Texas after previously serving as the safeties coach at Tarleton State during the 2019 season. Alexander moved from there to Washington State, then Western New Mexico in 2022 and to Colorado State-Pueblo the past three seasons.

CSU Pueblo claimed the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference in each of Alexander's final two seasons, combining for 20 wins during that span with two appearances in the NCAA Division II playoffs. The 2024 conference title was CSU Pueblo's first since 2014 and was only the eighth 10-win season in program history.

Alexander's special teams units contributed to much of that success as the Thunderwolves combined for 12 blocked kicks the past two seasons alone to rank among the national leaders. He regularly fielded several of the nation's top special teams units over his three seasons as CSU Pueblo led the country in kickoff return average (29.95) in 2023 and ranked fourth in punt return coverage (2.00) in 2024.

Alexander coached 21 All-RMAC selections between his defensive backs and specialists rooms during his three seasons. The list of honorees included Daniel Bone III, who earned first team All-RMAC honors as well as All-America accolades three times during his storied career. Bone closed his career ranked 10th all-time in program history with 243 tackles, including 85 as a senior in 2024 where he was a second team All-American by the Associated Press.

Washington State played in the Tony the Tiger Sun Bowl to wrap Alexander's two-year tenure in Pullman in 2021, with the first season interrupted by the COVID-19 pandemic. Dean Janikowski earned first team All-Pac 12 honors as a kicker during the 2021 season after connecting on 14-of-17 field goal attempts, the best field goal percentage in the conference. Nick Haberer also earned Freshman All-America accolades that same season following a successful debut as Washington State's punter where he averaged 42.8 yards per punt.

Prior to joining the Washington State staff, Alexander spent the 2019 season as the safeties coach at Tarleton State. The Texans finished 11-1 and captured the Lone Star Conference title that year after an undefeated regular season thanks in part to a defensive backs room that featured three All-LSC and All-Region selections and the LSC Defensive Back of the Year in Prince Robinson, who was also a first team All-America honoree. Robinson led the Division II ranks with three interceptions returned for a touchdown during his lone season under Alexander.

Alexander's career has primarily been in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference as he was the defensive coordinator at Fort Lewis College in 2018 and an assistant coach for Colorado Mesa, his alma mater, from 2016-17. Alexander rose from a student assistant for Colorado Mesa from 2011-13, becoming a graduate assistant in 2014 and then a full-time assistant coach prior to the 2016 season.

Alexander was a defensive back for Colorado Mesa from 2009-11 and was a member of the Mavericks' basketball program from 2011-14, serving as the team captain during his senior season. He earned his bachelor's degree in exercise science from Colorado Mesa in 2014 and then added a master's degree in human performance and physical education from Adams State in 2016.

Alexander is no stranger to Texas Tech, though, as his father, Chuck, was a standout safety for the Red Raiders from 1981-83, while his grandfather, Dr. R.G. "Wick" Alexander arrived on campus on a football scholarship and was later inducted into the Athletics Hall of Honor in 2000. Chuck Alexander was named an Academic All-American as a senior, marking only the fourth time in program history a Red Raider had earned the honor and is now one of 11 in school history to garner the award.

Alexander and his wife, Chazlyn, were married in 2016 and are parents to a son, Brady, and a daughter, Haley.

JAH'SHAWN JOHNSON
Asst. Cornerbacks Coach
Fifth Season
Texas Tech '18

Former Red Raider great Jah'Shawn Johnson enters his fifth season on the Texas Tech coaching staff where he serves as an assistant cornerbacks coach.

Since returning to his alma mater, Johnson has had a front row seat to Texas Tech's defensive improvements under head coach Joey McGuire and now second-year defensive coordinator Shiel Wood. The Red Raiders have played in a bowl game in each of Johnson's four seasons and have won the most Big 12 games of any conference school, regardless of conference affiliation.

Texas Tech is coming off one of its best seasons in school history as the Red Raiders won a school record 12 games en route to their first Big 12 title and an appearance in the College Football Playoff. Texas Tech's success – with all 12 victories coming by at least 20 points – stemmed from a high-scoring offense combined with a suffocating defense that led the nation with 32 takeaways and rushing defense. The Red Raiders also ranked third in the FBS for total defense and scoring, giving up only 11.8 points per game to roll through the Big 12 schedule.

Johnson helped mentor Brice Pollock into an All-Big 12 first team selection in the process after the transfer corner led the team and ranked tied for seventh in the FBS with five interceptions. Pollock, who is projected among the top returning cornerbacks in college football for the 2026 season, became the lone Red Raider since 2005 to combine for 40 tackles, 4.0 tackles for loss and five interceptions all in the same season. His play bolstered a defense that gave up only 190.1 passing yards per game, which ranked 26th in the FBS.

Pollock became the fifth Red Raider to be recognized with All-Big 12 honors during Johnson's tenure. He previously helped tutor a pair of second team honorees in Malik Dunlap in 2022 and Dadrion Taylor-Demerson in 2023. Taylor-Demerson, who combined for seven interceptions his final two seasons, was selected in the fourth round of the 2024 NFL Draft by the Arizona Cardinals, representing one of seven Red Raider defensive backs who have received a pro opportunity during his tenure.

Prior to joining head coach Joey McGuire's staff, Johnson was an assistant coach for his alma mater at Ennis High School. Serving under legendary head coach Sam Harrell, Johnson worked primarily with the defensive backs for an Ennis program that advanced to the area round of the Class 5A Division II playoffs in each of his two seasons on staff.

Ennis was Johnson's first coaching position after completing a decorated playing career as a Red Raider where he was a four-year starter in the secondary. Johnson, a two-year captain, started 45 games in scarlet and black as he recorded 298 tackles from 2014-18, including 10.5 for a loss, while also adding six interceptions, 14 pass breakups, six forced fumbles and five fumble recoveries.

Johnson was a three-time All-Big 12 selection, earning honorable mention accolades as a redshirt freshman in 2015 and again as a senior in 2018. He was a second team All-Big 12 pick as a junior after registering 97 tackles for a Texas Tech defense that ranked sixth nationally with 29 takeaways.

Johnson, one of the early signees under then head coach Kliff Kingsbury, earned his undergraduate degree in sport management from Texas Tech in 2018. He is currently pursuing his master's degree in interdisciplinary studies from the university.

Johnson is the son of Tamara Johnson and Keith Davis. His father previously played football at the collegiate level as well at Sam Houston State before a decorated NFL career with the Dallas Cowboys (2002-07, 2008, Miami Dolphins (2008) and Oakland Raiders (2009).

JACKSON KIMBLE
Offensive Assistant (OL)
Third Season
Baylor '21, '22

The Red Raiders boasted one of the nation's top offenses during each of Kimble's first two seasons on staff, ranking in the top 10 for total offense and scoring both of those years. Texas Tech averaged 37.6 points per game – the fourth-highest clip in the country – while also averaging 452.7 total yards and 296.7 passing yards, which both finished ninth in the FBS. Texas Tech's offense helped push the Red Raiders to an 8-5 record and an appearance in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl.

Caleb Rogers earned honorable mention All-Big 12 accolades after starting at both guard and tackle throughout the 2024 season. He was later selected in the third round of the 2025 NFL Draft by the Las Vegas Raiders, marking the first time a Texas Tech offensive lineman had heard his name called in the first three rounds since Le'Raven Clark did so in 2016 by the Indianapolis Colts.

The Red Raiders followed by averaging 39.4 points per game during their memorable 2025 campaign, which propelled Texas Tech to its first Big 12 title in history and appearance in the College Football Playoff. Texas Tech used the same starting lineup up front en route to a school record 12 wins and 2,560 rushing yards, the most by the Red Raiders since joining the Big 12 Conference.

Four members of the offensive line earned All-Big 12 honors with Howard Sampson and Sheridan Wilson on the third team and Davion Carter and Jacob Ponton as honorable mention selections. Ponton was also recognized as a Freshman All-American by the Athletic following a successful debut at right tackle.

A former offensive lineman himself at Baylor, Kimble arrived at Texas Tech following one year in a similar capacity at Buffalo. Kimble helped mentor two All-MAC selections during his lone season as left tackle Gabe Wallace and right guard Tyler Doty were both recognized as third team selections by the conference coaches.

It marked the second coaching position of his young career as he was previously a student assistant coach at Baylor during the 2022 campaign. The Bears played in the Lockheed Martin Armed Forces Bowl that season.

Kimble, a native of Southlake, Texas, struggled with injuries during his career at Baylor before medically retiring following the 2021 season. He was a six-time Commissioner's Honor Roll honoree during his time at Baylor and was recognized on the Academic All-Big 12 first team during his final season.

Kimble is a two-time graduate of Baylor, earning his undergraduate diploma in business and corporate communications in 2021 and then his master's in sport management in 2022.

Kimble is engaged to Maggie Morton.

COLE MAXWELL
Defensive Assistant (DL)
Fourth Season
Baylor '22

Cole Maxwell enters his fourth season on the Texas Tech coaching staff as he serves as a defensive assistant working specifically with the defensive line.

Maxwell has already been part of three bowl appearances with the Red Raiders, who are coming off a historic 2025 season that featured the school's first Big 12 title and appearance in the College Football Playoff. Texas Tech's success started up front as the Red Raiders were among the country's most-dominant units, ranking first in the FBS for both takeaways and rushing defense and third for scoring and total defense. The Red Raiders gave up only 11.8 points per game en route to a school record 12 wins, all by at least 20 points.

Backed by two future NFL Draft picks in Lee Hunter (second round, Carolina Panthers) and Skyler Gill-Howard (sixth round, Detroit Lions), the Red Raiders recorded the largest year-by-year improvement for both scoring (-23.0) and total yards allowed per game (-203.2) by any FBS program since 2000. Hunter and fellow defensive lineman A.J. Holmes Jr. both earned second team All-America honors, giving Texas Tech four total selections on the defensive side of the ball.

The Red Raiders gave up only 26.0 points per game during Maxwell's first season on staff, their lowest at the time since 2009, behind the consistent play in the middle from Tony Bradford Jr. and Jaylon Hutchings. Both seniors earned honorable mention All-Big 12 accolades en route to pushing Texas Tech to a 5-4 record in Big 12 play and a victory over Cal in the Radiant Technologies Independence Bowl. The Red Raiders finished 8-5 during Maxwell's second season following an appearance in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl.

The 2023 season marked Maxwell's first in a coaching position following a successful playing career at Baylor where he played under head coach Joey McGuire. Maxwell started in 19 games along the defensive line for the Bears, helping push Baylor to a Big 12 title in 2021 and a victory in the Allstate Sugar Bowl. Baylor also made a Big 12 Championship appearance during his 2019 sophomore campaign, which was unfortunately cut short due to injury.

For his career, Maxwell totaled 48 tackles, including 2.5 for a loss and 1.5 sacks, while also adding a forced fumble and three pass breakups. He was an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection in 2021 after making 27 stops and 1.5 sacks over 13 starts. Maxwell had three tackles in both the Big 12 Championship win over Oklahoma State as well as the victory versus Ole Miss in the AllState Sugar Bowl, which also featured his first-career solo sack.

Maxwell signed with Baylor as part of the first signing class to ink with then head coach Matt Rhule, a staff that also featured McGuire as one of its first members. He was previously an All-State defensive lineman out of Allen High School where he was the District 6-6A Defensive MVP as a senior in 2016. MATT PANKER
Defensive Assistant (Safeties)
First Season
Colby College '23

Matt Panker enters his first season as a defensive assistant on the Texas Tech staff, working directly with co-defensive coordinator and safeties coach Rob Greene.

Panker arrived at Texas Tech following two seasons assisting with the cornerbacks at Army where he was a defensive quality control coach during the 2025 season. He began his tenure with the Black Knights as a defensive analyst under Army defensive coordinator Nate Woody in 2024.

Army put together its best season in the more than 100-year history of the program during Panker's first year on staff in 2024, finishing an impressive 12-2 overall, including a perfect 8-0 mark in the Black Knights' first season in the American Athletic Conference. The Black Knights ended the year at No. 21 in the final Associated Press poll after topping Tulane in the AAC Championship Game as well as Louisiana Tech in the Independence Bowl for the first 12-win season in program history.

Army boasted one of the nation's top defenses throughout the 2024 season as the Black Knights finished fourth in the FBS for scoring after allowing only 15.5 points per game. Army was also eighth in the country for total defense, giving up just 297.9 yards per game as part of a unit that was also ranked in the top 25 for red zone defense, passing defense, rushing defense and passes intercepted.

The Black Knights again ranked as one of the American's top defenses during the 2025 campaign, closing the season as the conference's top unit for total defense after giving up only 343.5 yards per game. Army surrendered only 21.6 points and 190.4 passing yards per game that season, which both ranked second in the league, as the Black Knights went on to throttle UConn, 41-16, in the Wasabi Fenway Bowl.

Panker joined the coaching profession immediately after his own playing career at Colby College in Maine. Like both Texas Tech defensive coordinator Shiel Wood and Greene, Panker played on the offensive side of the ball as a wide receiver for Colby from 2019-22 where he caught 44 passes for 536 yards and three touchdowns before suffering a career-ending foot injury prior to his senior season. He also played baseball at Colby, finishing his career with an impressive .308 batting average.

Panker attended Iona Prep High School in New Rochelle, New York, where he was an All-County football and baseball player. During his senior year, he caught 60 passes for 1,000 yards and scored at least one touchdown in every game, finishing with 12 on the season.

Panker earned his bachelor's degree in government from Colby College in May 2023.

LINDSEY SCOTT JR.
Asst. Quarterbacks Coach
Second Season
Nicholls State '21

Lindsey Scott Jr. enters his second season as Texas Tech's assistant quarterbacks coach after a successful debut where the Red Raiders boasted one of the nation's top offenses behind eventual NFL Draft pick Behren Morton.

The Red Raiders averaged 39.4 points per game in their debut season under offensive coordinator Mack Leftwich, pushing Texas Tech to a school record 12 wins and its first Big 12 title and College Football Playoff appearance in school history. Texas Tech was among the most-dominant teams in recent college football history as its high-powered offense helped push the Red Raiders to 12 wins all by at least 20 points.

Morton was a key part in Texas Tech's success, becoming only the second Red Raider in program history to start at least 10 games and throw for 2,500 yards with eight or fewer interceptions. He led the Big 12 with a 66.0 completion percentage en route to ending his career ranked fourth all-time in Texas Tech history for both career passing yards and career touchdown passes, among other categories. Morton was later selected in the seventh round of the 2026 NFL Draft by the New England Patriots.

Scott previously played and worked under Leftwich at both Incarnate Word and then Texas State, beginning his coaching career as an offensive analyst for the Bobcats over the 2023-24 seasons. Texas State boasted one of the nation's top offenses those two seasons, which pushed the Bobcats to their first two bowl appearances in school history and 16 combined victories.

Scott was Leftwich's starting quarterback during his lone season as the offensive coordinator at Incarnate Word in 2022. The two formed a strong bond with Scott throwing for 4,686 yards and 60 touchdowns to only eight interceptions, while also rushing for 712 yards and 11 additional scores on only 132 carries. He was honored following the season with the prestigious Walter Payton Award, which recognizes the Offensive Player of the Year at the FCS level.

Incarnate Word closed the 2022 season with a 12-2 record and an appearance in the FCS semifinal round, marking the furthest the Cardinals had advanced in program history. Scott was also named the Southland Conference Player of the Year and a first team All-American by the American Football Coaches Association (AFCA) and Associated Press, among others, after setting the Incarnate Word single-season records for completion percentage (70.9), passing efficiency (197.4), passing yards (4,686), passing touchdowns (60), total offensive yards (5,353) and touchdowns responsible for (71).

Scott ended his collegiate career with the Cardinals after previously signing with LSU out of high school. He was tabbed the 2015 Gatorade Player of the Year for the state of Louisiana out of Zachary High School outside Baton Rouge where he led the Broncos to the Class 5A state title as a senior. Scott also spent time at East Mississippi Community College (2017), Missouri (2018) and Nicholls State (2019-21) throughout his college career.

In addition to his role at Texas State, Scott also played in nine games as a rookie quarterback for the Arlington Renegades during the United Football League (UFL) spring 2024 season. He joined the Renegades as the top overall pick in the XFL Dispersal Draft after previously being selected second overall of the USFL Draft by the Pittsburgh Maulers.

Scott earned his bachelor's degree in interdisciplinary studies with a focus on mathematics from Nicholls State in December 2021. He is currently pursuing a master's of business administration through Incarnate Word with an expected graduation date this May.

XAVIER WHITE
Offensive Assistant (WRs)
Second Season
Texas Tech '22

Xavier White returned to his alma mater in a new role prior to the 2025 season, joining the coaching side of the Texas Tech football program as an offensive assistant working specifically with the Red Raider wide receivers.

His return aligned perfectly for White as the Red Raiders went on to a historic 2025 campaign during his first season on staff, winning the Big 12 Conference title and appearing in the College Football Playoff for the first time. The Red Raiders were among the most-balanced offenses in the country with four different players with at least 600 receiving yards, including three from the wide receiver room in Caleb Douglas, Reggie Virgil and Coy Eakin. Texas Tech ended the year averaging 39.4 points per game, its highest clip since Patrick Mahomes II's final year at quarterback in 2016.

Two members from the wide receiver room went on to hear their names called during the 2026 NFL Draft with Douglas going in the third round to the Miami Dolphins and Reggie Virgil following two rounds later to the Arizona Cardinals. Douglas led the Red Raiders with 846 receiving yards and seven touchdowns on his way to earning All-Big 12 second team accolades. Virgil and Eakin, meanwhile, were both All-Big 12 honorable mention selections.

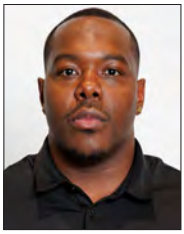
This is the first coaching position for White, who concluded his playing career in 2023 as one of the most-versatile Red Raiders in recent memory. His hire reunited the Lubbock native with not only head coach Joey McGuire but offensive passing game coordinator and wide receivers coach Justin Johnson after he was White's position coach as a senior.

White, a product of Lubbock Monterey High School, returned to West Texas after playing his true freshman season at Dodge City Community College in Kansas. He was a breakout performer of preseason camp prior to the 2019 campaign, rising from a walk-on to a member of Texas Tech's receiver rotation by the season opener. He transitioned to the running back room the next season, giving the Red Raiders a dynamic option out of the backfield and in the return game.

White moved back to the wide receiver room upon McGuire's hire in 2022 as he was Texas Tech's leader in all-purpose yards that season and its second-leading receiver. White led the Red Raiders with 556 receiving yards as a senior in 2023 en route to concluding his career with 133 catches for 1,524 yards and six touchdowns.

White appeared in 51 games overall for the Red Raiders, totaling 2,731 all-purpose yards during that span thanks to an additional 754 rushing yards and five touchdowns on the ground and 453 yards as either a punt (46) or kick (407) returner. To date, he is one of only two Red Raiders since 2000 to record multiple games with at least 100 rushing yards in a career as well as two or more 100-yard receiving performances, joining Taurean Henderson.

White earned his bachelor's degree from Texas Tech in 2022 in university studies. He married his wife, Jaiden, in June 2024.



TAYLOR YOUNG
Asst. Inside Linebackers Coach
Third Season
Baylor '16

Taylor Young enters his third season on the Texas Tech coaching staff where he assists defensive coordinator Shiel Wood as the assistant inside linebackers coach.

Young's arrival in Lubbock prior to the 2024 season reunited him with many on the Texas Tech staff from his time as a student-athlete at Baylor. Young was one of the Big 12's most-imposing linebackers over his four-year career, totaling 325 tackles, 39.0 tackles for loss and 15.5 sacks, all while earning All-Big 12 honors three times and also being named Big 12 Defensive Newcomer of the Year by the Associated Press in 2014 and the Defensive MVP of the 2015 Cotton Bowl.

Young, whose last season coincided with head coach Joey McGuire's arrival in Waco as an assistant coach, remains one of the top tacklers in Baylor history as he still ranks third in career tackles for loss, fourth for both career solo tackles and sacks and tied for eighth in total tackles. Young made 40 career starts at linebacker for the Bears before being invited to training camp with the Arizona Cardinals after completing his collegiate career.

Young was able to help pass along that same wisdom during his first season with the Red Raiders as inside linebacker Jacob Rodriguez earned All-Big 12 first team honors as one of the top tacklers in college football. Rodriguez, only the third Red Raider in program history to garner All-Big 12 first team honors, recorded 127 tackles on the season, ranking third in the FBS for the category, all while finishing as one of the country's top takeaway contributors.

Texas Tech's inside linebacker room ranked among the nation's top units during the 2025 season, propelling the Red Raiders to a school record 12 wins and the first College Football Playoff appearance in program history. The trio of John Curry, Ben Roberts and Rodriguez were key parts of a Red Raider defense that led the country for both takeaways and rushing defense, while also ranking third for scoring and total defense.

Rodriguez turned in another memorable season, capturing the nation's attention as a senior as the top linebacker in the country. Rodriguez was the recipient of the Chuck Bednarik Award, the Bronko Nagurski Trophy, the Lombardi Award and the Butkus Award, to name a few, joining only former Notre Dame linebacker Manti Te'o as the only players in history to win all four awards in the same season. He also finished fifth overall in the Heisman Trophy voting, becoming only the third linebacker since 1995 to finish in the top five for the nation's top honor.

Rodriguez, a second round pick in the 2026 NFL Draft by the Miami Dolphins, became the first FBS player dating back to 2005 to record at least five forced fumbles, four interceptions and two fumble recoveries all in the same season. Roberts, meanwhile, created six takeaways of his own during the 2025 season, including two during the Edward Jones Big 12 Championship where he was named the Most Outstanding Player.

This is Young's third coaching stint at the collegiate level as he was previously a graduate assistant for Baylor during the 2019-20 seasons as well as a quality control assistant at North Texas for the 2021 campaign. Young assisted the linebacker room at both schools, while also contributing to North Texas' special teams units during his lone season in Denton.

Like many members of McGuire's staff, Young also has experience at the high school ranks as he served as the special teams coordinator and linebackers coach at Richardson High School in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex during the 2022-23 seasons.

Young began his coaching career after earning his undergraduate degree in education from Baylor in 2016. He is the father of a son, Skylar.

Texas Tech has signed three top-30 high school classes during Kenney's tenure, including a 2026 class that ranked as high as No. 13 nationally by ESPN and No. 15 by 247Sports thanks to a pair of five-star signees in outside linebacker LaDamion Guyton and offensive lineman Felix Ojo.

Texas Tech has significantly upgraded its roster since Kenney's arrival, complementing highly-rated high school prospects with back-to-back transfer portal classes that ranked among the nation's best. In fact, Texas Tech landed On3's top transfer portal class following the 2024 season and reloaded again this past offseason, signing another highly-rated class that ranked No. 2 by the publication.

As part of his duties, Kenney assisted with on-campus visits for future student-athletes and was also responsible for creating travel plans for coaches and team personnel, updating the Alabama recruiting database and preparing scouting reports.

Alabama regularly signed a top-five recruiting class throughout Kenney's tenure in Tuscaloosa as the Crimson Tide went on to win two College Football Playoff National Championships during that span as well as four SEC titles. The Crimson Tide appeared in the College Football Playoff in all but one of Kenney's six seasons on staff.

In addition to his time at Alabama, Kenney also attended the prestigious Phil Savage Scout School in 2019, one of the top clinics in the country for prospective college and professional scouts. LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Behren Morton threw for 201 yards and four touchdowns before exiting the game following a sack in the second quarter, and No. 23 Texas Tech routed overmatched FCS member Arkansas-Pine Bluff 67-7 in the opener for both teams Saturday night.

The Red Raiders led 47-0 at halftime coming off their first preseason Top 25 ranking since 2008, and the game was shortened to a pair of 8-minute quarters following a 90-minute weather delay that hit at the break.

Morton came up limping after Tayvon Hardwick came off the edge and hit Morton low, tweaking the senior's lower right leg. Hardwick was penalized for roughing the passer.

Morton took the next snap and handed off to J'Koby Williams, who ran 5 yards for a TD and a 37-0 lead.

He was still in uniform when he returned to the sideline before halftime, and coach Joey McGuire said in a radio interview at the break that Morton was OK. He completed 16 of 18 passes.

Will Hammond replaced Morton and led two more scoring drives as the Red Raiders put up points all eight times they had the ball before halftime with six touchdowns and two field goals.

Hammond ran 64 yards for a touchdown on the fifth play of the second half and threw for a score. Terrance Carter had two TD catches.

UAPB avoided the shutout on Christian Peters' 7-yard touchdown pass to Ellis Stewart in the fourth quarter.The Golden Lions were outgained 392-52 in the first half, when Peters was 9 of 19 for 39 yards with an interception and their leading rusher was Za'Marion Webber with 9 yards on eight carries.

The game duration was 4:43 after experiencing a 1-hour, 28-minute lightning delay that began during halftime. When play resumed at 10:10 p.m., the two teams played an eight-minute third quarter and an eight-minute fourth quarter.

Texas Tech's 67 points were the 10th-most points scored all-time in a single game. It was the most points scored in a game since the Red Raiders scored 66 versus North Texas in 2024.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Behren Morton threw for three touchdowns, big defensive tackle Skyler Gill-Howard returned an interception 55 yards for a score and No. 24 Texas Tech blew out another overmatched opponent, beating Kent State 62-14 on Saturday.

Cameron Dickey had two rushing TDs and Reggie Virgil added two receiving scores as the Red Raiders (2-0) led 48-0 at halftime, one point better than the margin at the break a week ago in a 67-7 victory over FCS member Arkansas-Pine Bluff.

Morton started Saturday and was 18 of 26 for 258 yards while playing only the first half.

Dru DeShields threw for a touchdown and ran for a score in the fourth quarter for the Golden Flashes (1-1), who ended a 21-game losing streak with a 21-17 victory over Merrimack in their opener.

Kent State had negative total yards until Gavin Garcia ran 38 yards on a screen pass on its sixth possession early in the second quarter. Two plays later, Gill-Howard took his interception the other way for a 38-0 lead.

The 290-pounder from Northern Illinois, part of Texas Tech's highly touted transfer class, made the catch behind the line of scrimmage and scored untouched after Lee Hunter applied quick pressure and A.J. Holmes Jr. tipped the pass.

The Red Raiders scored on their first 14 possessions of the season, all 11 against Arkansas-Pine Bluff and the first three against Kent State. Jack Burgess' first punt this year came late in the first quarter.

Third-string running back Adam Hill was the first to 100 yards rushing for the Red Raiders this season. He had 127 yards on 16 carries, all in the second half. In fact, all 206 of his yards have come after halftime, with the outcome no longer in doubt. The blowouts have limited the action for the top two backs, Dickey and J'Koby Williams.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Behren Morton threw for 464 yards and four touchdowns, J'Koby Williams had a scoring catch and a run and No. 21 Texas Tech beat Oregon State 45-14 on Saturday night in a weather-delayed game. Play was stopped for 2 1/2 hours just 2 1/2 minutes into the game.

Cameron Dickey added a short TD run to help the Red Raiders improve to 3-0 for the first time in coach Joey McGuire's four seasons.

Oregon State's Maalik Murphy threw touchdown passes in the waning minutes to Bryce Caufield and Karson Boschma. The Beavers are 0-3 for the first time since 2011.

Morton's TD passes were 38 yards to Coy Eakin, 61 yards to Caleb Douglas, 30 yards to Williams and 23 yards to Terrance Carter.

Tech led 28-0 at halftime, 45-0 through three periods and outgained Oregon State 534 yards to 164 through three periods.

Eakin's score came on the third play after play resumed following the delay.

Upton Bellenfant kicked a 21-yard field goal.

Oregon State adjusted to the continued absence of veteran deep snapper Dylan Black after four poor snaps last week helped doom the Beavers in their 36-27 loss to Fresno State. Regular center Van Wells snapped to punter AJ Winsor, who lined up only 7-8 yards behind center and got kicks away quickly. His first two carried only 29 and 23 yards, but he finished averaging 39.6. Murphy took two quick kicks for 36 and 34 yards.

Morton played three periods for the first time this season. He has 923 yards passing and 11 TD passes heading into Big 12 play.

Texas Tech has shutout its opponent through the first three quarters in each of its first three games this season. The Red Raiders are outscoring their opponent a combined 123-0 in the first half, a combined 154-0 over the first three quarters, and 174-35 overall in three games this season.

Texas Tech scored on its opening drive; the Red Raiders have started all three games in 2025 with touchdown drives.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) – Backup quarterback Will Hammond stepped into a stagnant Texas Tech offense in the third quarter and put together four scoring drives to lead the 17th-ranked Red Raiders to a 34-10 win over No. 16 Utah on Saturday.

Hammond threw for 169 yards and two touchdowns and rushed for 61 yards. He entered the game in relief of Behren Morton, who was ruled out after sustaining an injury during the Red Raiders' (4-0, 1-0 Big 12) opening drive of the third quarter. Morton was ruled out after the hit with his team leading 10-3. He threw for 142 yards and two INTs before exiting.

The offense didn't skip a beat in Morton's absence. If anything, it revved up.

Utah QB Devon Dampier threw for 162 yards and two interceptions. The Utes (3-1, 0-1 Big 12) were held to 263 total yards and committed four turnovers.

Texas Tech opened the scoring early in the first quarter on a 1-yard touchdown run from Cameron Dickey, who finished the day with 67 yards and two scores. Stone Harrington's career-long 58-yard field goal extended the Red Raiders' lead to 10-0 late in the second quarter.

The Utes struggled to answer. Utah had turnovers on back-to-back first-half drives and a 69-yard TD pass from Dampier to Jackson Bennee called back on an ineligible receiver penalty.

After Wayshawn Parker scored on a 5-yard run to cut the deficit to 13-10 with 10:22 left in the fourth quarter, the Utes' defense unraveled. The Red Raiders reeled off three straight TDs to secure the win.

Hammond's first touchdown pass – a 24-yarder to Terrance Carter Jr. – restored a double-digit lead. Dickey put the Red Raiders up 27-10 with 3:41 remaining when he took a handoff, squeezed his way through a scrum of players and popped out the other side for a 24-yard touchdown run.

Dampier threw an interception on Utah's ensuing drive, which led to Hammond's spot-on strike to Reggie Virgil for a 21-yard score.

Texas Tech forced four turnovers; its most in a single game since facing Cal in the 2023 Independence Bowl.

Utah attempted two fourth downs, and Tech held them both times.

Texas Tech exploded for 24 points in the fourth quarter in its 34-10 win. Utah entered the game allowing 8.3 points per game, 8th-best in the nation. The most points the Utes allowed in a single season was 10 to UCLA in week one.

HOUSTON (AP) — Behren Morton threw for 345 yards and a touchdown, J'Koby Williams ran for two scores and No. 11 Texas Tech improved to 5-0 with a 35-11 victory over previously unbeaten Houston on Saturday night.

It's the first time the Red Raiders have won their first five games since opening the 2013 season 7-0 and is the eighth 5-0 start in school history.

Texas Tech (5-0, 2-0 Big 12) has dominated through its first five games, winning each contest by at least 24 points and outscoring opponents 243-56.

Conner Weigman threw for 71 yards with an interception in the first half for Houston (4-1, 1-1) before going to the locker room late in the second quarter with an apparent injury and not returning.

The Red Raiders were up by 6 late in the first quarter after three field goals when Morton found Cameron Dickey on a short pass and he juked two defenders and ran untouched for a 69-yard touchdown. The 2-point conversion failed to leave Tech up 15-3.

Jacob Rodriguez intercepted Weigman's and returned it to the Houston 25 early in the second quarter. Texas Tech cashed in five plays later when Williams scored on a 5-yard run that made it 22-3.

Zeon Chriss-Gremillion took over after Weigman exited and scrambled for 11 yards on his first play before throwing a 64-yard touchdown pass to Amare Thomas on his second about 90 seconds before halftime. He connected with Stephon Johnson on the 2-point conversion to cut the lead to 25-11.

Chriss-Gremillion threw for 93 yards with an interception and led the Cougars with 59 yards rushing.

Texas Tech missed a field goal at the end of the second quarter before hitting one from 29 yards in the third to push the lead to 28-11.

The Red Raiders missed a field goal from 53 yards later in the third before the second TD by Williams early in the fourth on a 1-yard run left Texas Tech up 35-11.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Cameron Dickey ran for a career-high 263 yards and two long touchdowns, Will Hammond scored twice after replacing injured quarterback Behren Morton and No. 9 Texas Tech beat Kansas 42-17 on Saturday night.

Dickey sprinted 71 yards on the first offensive play for the Red Raiders and added a 55-yard TD run early in the fourth quarter. With co-lead back J'Koby Williams slowed by an injury, Dickey had 21 carries, another career best.

Tech (6-0, 3-0 Big 12) had 372 yards rushing and recovered from a malaise after Morton's injury in the school's first game as an AP top 10 team since 2013.

A 21-0 Texas Tech lead was down to four points at the break when the Jayhawks (4-3, 2-2) scored on three of their first four possessions after Morton appeared to injure his lower right leg on a sack in the second quarter. He didn't return.

Hammond threw an interception and the Red Raiders punted on his other three possessions before halftime. But the redshirt freshman ran 20 yards for a touchdown on the first drive of the second half.

Dickey's second long TD put Texas Tech up 35-17, and Hammond's 10-yard run finished the scoring. Hammond had 61 yards rushing.

It's the third time Hammond has come on with Morton not returning this season. Morton hyperextended his right knee in a 67-7 victory over Arkansas-Pine Bluff in the season opener and was sidelined in a 34-10 win over Utah after taking a hard hit to the head.

Jalon Daniels threw for 228 yards and two touchdowns for Kansas, which dropped to 1-12 in Lubbock and has lost 24 of 26 meetings with the Red Raiders.

The Jayhawks had all the momentum with the way they finished the first half after Morton's injury. They couldn't sustain it. Kansas punted on its five possessions after the break.

The Red Raiders gave up some big pass plays to help Kansas get back in the game, but still sacked Daniels eight times. David Bailey had three of them. Tech had a ninth sack on backup Cole Ballard in the final seconds.

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Raleek Brown bulled in for a 1-yard touchdown run with 34 seconds left and Arizona State rallied after blowing a 12-point, fourth-quarter lead to hand No. 7 Texas Tech its first loss of the season, 26-22 on Saturday.

The Red Raiders (6-1, 3-1 Big 12) labored most of the afternoon without starting QB Behren Morton (knee), finishing with 276 total yards after averaging an FBS-best 558.8 through the first six games.

Will Hammond showed his mettle after failing to move Texas Tech's offense through three quarters, orchestrating two late scoring drives. The freshman scored on a 1-yard run and, after Texas Tech's defense held, found Reggie Virgil on a 12-yard touchdown pass.

Hammond put the Red Raiders up 22-19 by running it in for the 2-point conversion — after a holding call on Arizona State on the first attempt — but left too much time on the clock.

The reigning Big 12 champion Sun Devils (5-2, 3-1) started the final drive from their 25 with two minutes left and quickly moved down the field. Sam Leavitt completed 5 of 7 passes for 61 yards on the drive and benefited from a pass interference call on Texas Tech's Brice Pollack to set up Brown's TD run.

The Red Raiders reached Arizona State's 28 on its final drive, but Hammond's desperation heave into the end zone was swatted down.

Texas Tech followed No. 2 Miami, No. 5 Mississippi and No. 10 LSU to become the fourth top-10 team to lose this weekend.

Texas Tech was without defensive tackle Skyler Gill-Howard, who had season-ending ankle surgery this week, and the Sun Devils took advantage by racking up 394 total yards against one of the nation's best defenses. Arizona State had a hard time finishing drives, settling for four field goals by Jesus Gomez, but came through at just the right time.

Leavitt threw for 319 yards and hit Jordyn Tyson on a 2-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter after missing last week's game against Utah with a foot injury. The Sun Devils appeared to be headed toward a devastating loss after giving up two late touchdowns, but Leavitt rallied them.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — J'Koby Williams returned the opening kickoff 99 yards for a touchdown and took a short pass 26 yards for a score on Texas Tech's first play, jump-starting the No. 14 Red Raiders' 42-0 victory over Oklahoma State on Saturday.

Jacob Rodriguez returned a fumble 69 yards for a TD as Texas Tech (7-1, 4-1 Big 12) bounced back from its first loss, a 26-22 defeat at 24th-ranked Arizona State that dropped the Red Raiders out of the top 10. It was Texas Tech's first Big 12 shutout since beating Baylor 28-0 in 2005.

After lightning delayed the start for 30 minutes, Williams' return came on the first kickoff since school officials banned the yearslong tradition of fans throwing tortillas on kickoffs. The Red Raiders were penalized twice on kickoffs in their previous home game for objects thrown on the field in violation of a rule the Big 12 approved in August.

Texas Tech blocked a punt on the first possession for the Cowboys (1-7, 0-5), leading to Williams' TD on a screen from Will Hammond, who started a second consecutive game in place of the injured Behren Morton.

Third-stringer Mitch Griffis replaced Hammond in the second quarter after Hammond appeared to injure his lower right leg on a run. Morton changed from street clothes to his uniform at halftime but only had to watch as Griffis threw a touchdown pass and ran for a score in the third quarter.

Oklahoma State was limited to 182 yards in a seventh consecutive loss since beating lower-division Tennessee-Martin in the opener. The Cowboys have three shutout losses of at least 42 points since 2022.

Rodriguez's 11th career fumble recovery — second among active FBS players — never touched the ground. The senior linebacker ripped the ball out of the arms of Sesi Vailahi in the middle of the line of scrimmage and ran untouched for the score.

The Cowboys are searching for solutions at quarterback in a second consecutive lost season. Sam Jackson V made his third start as the third different starter after opening the season at receiver. He was replaced by Noah Walters, who didn't join the team until after the 69-3 loss to Oregon in Week 2.

Griffis kept Morton on the bench by leading a scoring drive for a 35-0 lead on Texas Tech's first possession of the second half. Griffis lost 3 yards on a fourth-and-1 keeper on his first play replacing Hammond. His first full possession ended with a punt

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Behren Morton threw for 249 yards and two touchdowns in his return from an injury, J'Koby Williams ran for 135 yards and a score, and No. 13 Texas Tech romped past sloppy, mistake-prone Kansas State 43-20 on Saturday.

Cameron Dickey also had a touchdown run for the Red Raiders (8-1, 5-1 Big 12), who forced five turnovers while snapping an eight-game losing streak against the Wildcats (4-5, 3-3) with their first win in Manhattan since the 2008 season. Texas Tech is off to its best start in conference play since that year, when Mike Leach guided the team to the Cotton Bowl.

Avery Johnson threw for 199 yards and a touchdown while running for 86 and two more scores. But Kansas State's quarterback also threw two interceptions and was responsible for a late fumble that Texas Tech returned for a touchdown. Along with the slew of turnovers, the Wildcats also were 0 for 4 on fourth down.

Morton, who had been out of the lineup with a leg injury, opened the game with an interception of his own. But Johnson threw a pick right back, and it was the beginning of a messy first half in which both failed on fourth down, Kansas State lost a fumble and Texas Tech nearly did the same.

The Red Raiders eventually made Kansas State pay for its mistakes, though.

They turned a fumble by Jayce Brown into a touchdown to take a 9-7 lead. They turned a three-and-out late in the first half into a 55-yard field goal. And they turned another fumble, this time from Garrett Oakley on the fourth play of the second half, into a 41-yard run by Williams that silenced the crowd and gave Texas Tech a 19-7 lead.

Johnson tried to answer with his second TD run for Kansas State, but Texas Tech's offense kept on going. Stone Harrington drilled another field goal and Caleb Douglas hauled in a short touchdown throw to make it 29-14 heading into the fourth quarter. Texas Tech's defense took care of the rest.

After the Wildcats scored with 12:44 to go, the Red Raiders stopped the 2-point try to keep it a two-score game. Later in the quarter, they stuffed Johnson for a loss on fourth down near midfield. And when the Texas Tech offense fumbled the ball right back, the Red Raiders again stopped the Wildcats on fourth down with less than 6 minutes to go. Tech linebacker John Curry returned Johnson's fumble for a touchdown with 4:52 left to put the game away.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Stone Harrington kicked a school-record five field goals and standout Texas Tech linebacker Jacob Rodriguez had two takeaways as the No. 9 Red Raiders beat No. 8 BYU 29-7 on Saturday, holding the previously-undefeated Cougars to a season-low 255 total yards in a game with Big 12 and playoff implications.

Behren Morton passed for 216 yards and threw a 9-yard touchdown to Caleb Douglas while Cameron Dickey ran for 121 yards and a 1-yard score for Texas Tech (9-1, 6-1 Big 12, No. 8 CFP), which played in its first top-10 matchup since 2008.

BYU (8-1, 5-1, No. 7 CFP) had never played in such a game, though the teams could meet again in the Big 12 championship game in four weeks in Arlington, Texas at AT&T Stadium.

Harrington kicked field goals of 47, 39, 34, 29 and 27 yards.

Rodriguez, the FBS leader with seven forced fumbles, had an interception midway through the third period leading to Harrington's fourth field goal. He recovered a backward pass late in the fourth quarter that set up Harrington's final kick.

Tech has gone from ranking 121st last season in the FBS allowing 34.8 points per game to fifth at 13.2 going into Saturday, and lowering that to 12.6.

BYU snapped a 10-game winning streak dating back to last season. The Cougars avoided their first shutout since 2017 when Bear Bachmeier threw a 6-yard touchdown pass to Chase Roberts midway through the fourth quarter.

The Cougars went into the game third in the FBS in turnover margin at plus-1.25. They lost two fumbles, threw an interception and muffed a punt.

Bachmeier was 23 of 38 passing for 188 yards. The true freshman also had two turnovers, the interception and backward pass for a fumble.

The Cougars went into play averaging 36.3 points and 434 yards per game. Its previous low offensive output this season was 332 yards in the 27-3 win over Stanford on Sept. 6.

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Linebacker Jacob Rodriguez struck the Heisman Trophy pose again after the first offensive touchdown of his career, Reggie Virgil scored three times and No. 8 Texas Tech routed UCF 48-9 on Saturday.

The Red Raiders (10-1, 7-1 Big 12, No. 6 CFP) stayed on track for a shot at their first Big 12 championship in their regular-season home finale, reaching 10 victories for the first time since going 11-2 under the late Mike Leach in 2008.

The Golden Knights (4-6, 1-6) didn't pick up a first down until they trailed 21-0 and dropped to 0-4 on the road. UCF had a season-low 52 yards rushing against the nation's No. 1 run defense.

Just as he did after a highlight-reel interception last week in a 29-7 win over BYU in a top-10 matchup, Rodriguez lifted one leg and extended an arm while surrounded by teammates after scoring on a 2-yard run in the wildcat.

Rodriguez, who scored touchdowns on fumble recoveries this season and last against Oklahoma State, set up Vigil's third TD for a 35-2 lead with his fourth interception this season.

Virgil's first two scores came on the first two carries of his career in the second quarter, a 5-yarder early and a 30-yard sprint that ended with him hopping and skipping into the end zone. Cameron Dickey also had two rushing TDs.

Behren Morton threw for 149 yards and the 8-yard score to Virgil before getting replaced by Mitch Griffis late in the first half. Morton is playing through a leg injury, and original backup Will Hammond is out for the season with a knee injury.

UCF's first points came on a safety when Texas Tech left tackle Howard Sampson was called for holding in the end zone.

All 10 of Texas Tech's wins this season have been decided by at least 20 points, most by any DI team. The only Big 12 team with more 20-point victories in a season was Oklahoma (11 in 2008, 10 in 2003).

The Red Raiders finished the regular season undefeated (7-0) at home for the first time since 2008 (7-0). It matches the all-time record for most home wins in a single season, being the fourth time (1965, 2005, 2008, 2025).

MORGANTOWN, W.Va. (AP) — Behren Morton threw for 310 yards and three touchdowns, linebacker Jacob Rodriguez scored his second offensive TD in as many games, and No. 5 Texas Tech beat West Virginia 49-0 on Saturday in the Red Raiders' final tuneup before the Big 12 championship game.

Texas Tech (11-1, 8-1 Big 12, No. 5 CFP) had already clinched a spot in the title game against No. 11 BYU in Arlington, Texas, when Arizona State lost to Arizona on Friday night. But the Red Raiders had plenty of motivation, needing a win over the Mountaineers to continue their trajectory toward at least hosting a first-round home game in the College Football Playoff.

Texas Tech was dominant from the start, scoring touchdowns on four of their first five drives.

Unlike two weeks ago when he scored on a short run against UCF, Rodriguez didn't strike a Heisman pose after taking a direct snap and rushing for a 1-yard TD on Texas Tech's first offensive series. His other TD this season came on a 69-yard fumble return.

Just before halftime, Rodriguez, who began his college career as a quarterback at Virginia, lined up in the wildcat again from the West Virginia 1. He threw a pass intended for Terrance Carter that the Mountaineers' Ben Cutter intercepted in the back of the end zone.

Morton showed no mobility problems while playing through a leg injury that prompted him to wear a boot during the team's bye week. Morton threw TD passes of 19 and 4 yards to Caleb Douglas and 4 yards to Cameron Dickey. Morton, who was replaced by Mitch Griffis early in the third quarter, completed 25 of 32 passes. Douglas had five catches for 127 yards.

Freshman Scotty Fox Jr., the fourth starting quarterback for West Virginia (4-8, 2-7) this season due to injuries, was replaced in the third quarter by Max Brown. Brown's first completion as a Mountaineer was followed by a 67-yard interception return by Texas Tech's Amier Boyd. That set up the first of Micah Hudson's two TD catches from Lloyd Jones III.

The Red Raiders advance to the championship game for the first time in school history. In their 30th season in the league, they've never won a Big 12 title.

The Mountaineers didn't get a first down until their sixth offensive series midway through the second quarter and were held to 180 total yards, including 37 on the ground.

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Texas Tech defeated BYU, 34-7, on Saturday to claim their first Big 12 Conference title and are going to the College Football Playoff for the first time.

Rodriguez had 13 tackles and Ben Roberts overcame an early injury scare with two interceptions in the second half when Tech (12-1, No. 4 CFP) forced four turnovers while holding BYU to a season-low 200 total yards. The two linebackers have both played more than 40 games for a defense transformed by additions in the transfer portal.

Behren Morton, who made his 35th start but didn't play in Tech's only loss this year at Arizona State, threw two TDs to Coy Eakin and Stone Harrington kicked four field goals.

The only losses by BYU (11-2, No. 11 CFP) are to the Red Raiders, including 29-7 in Lubbock four weeks ago. The Cougars, who likely needed to be in the top 10 for a playoff spot, won't move up when the final CFP rankings come out Sunday.

Roberts got his first interception with about 3 1/2 minutes left in the third quarter when he reached up and deflected a pass by true freshman Bear Bachmeier. On the next play, Cameron Dickey took a direct snap and ran untouched 11 yards for a touchdown and a 21-7 lead after a 2-point conversion.
Harrington, who kicked a school-record five field goals against BYU last month, missed a 49-yard field goal attempt after Roberts jumped a route to make a one-handed interception in the fourth quarter.

Midway through the first quarter on BYU's opening drive, Roberts was down on one knee at the end of a play. He came in and out of the game until halftime, then had a huge impact after that.

The Cougars avoided a slow start this time, going 90 yards in 14 plays on their opening drive for a 7-0 lead on LJ Martin's 10-yard TD run. But they had only 24 more yards before halftime, and 110 the rest of the game. They trailed 26-0 in Lubbock before their only touchdown midway through the fourth quarter.

Roberts is the first player with multiple interceptions in one of the 24 Big 12 championship games. He almost had another one, but that deflection on a fourth-down play gave the ball back to the Red Raiders.

Tech went ahead to stay on Eakin's incredible leaping 33-yard TD catch early in the second quarter that made it 10-7. He reached up with both hands to snag the ball, and got a foot down while twisting and lunging into the end zone. He had a 28-yard catch-and-run score in the fourth quarter after Romello Height's fumble recovery.

MIAMI GARDENS, Florida (AP) — Matayo Uiagalelei caused a fumble to set up an Oregon touchdown, Jordon Davison rushed for two scores and the fifth-seeded Ducks silenced No. 4 Texas Tech's offense for a 23-0 win in the College Football Playoff quarterfinal at the Orange Bowl on Thursday.

Dante Moore threw for 234 yards and Atticus Sappington kicked three field goals for Oregon (13-1), which will play either No. 1 Indiana or No. 9 Alabama in the Peach Bowl — a CFP semifinal — on Jan. 9.

The Peach Bowl winner will be back in Miami Gardens for the national title game on Jan. 19.

Texas Tech — which finished at 12-2 — came into the day second nationally in points per game (42.5) and fifth nationally in yards per game (480.3) but got nothing going. The Red Raiders turned the ball over four times, were stopped on fourth downs three other times and had four three-and-outs.

Tech quarterback Behren Morton — who finished 18 of 32 passing for just 137 yards — was stripped by Uiagalelei early in the third quarter in Red Raiders territory. Uiagalelei rumbled deep into the red zone and Davison scored one play later to make it 13-0.

Morton threw a red-zone interception early in the fourth quarter and a fourth-down stop from their own 30 midway through the fourth quarter doomed whatever comeback chances existed for the Red Raiders. Davison plunged in from the 1 with 16 seconds left to cap the scoring.

It was the sixth quarterfinal under this 12-team tournament format that started last year — there were two others coming later Thursday — and the sixth time that the team coming off an extended break lost to a team that played a first-round game.

In 2024, Boise State (against Penn State), Arizona State (against Texas), Georgia (against Notre Dame) and Oregon (against Ohio State) all went out in the quarterfinals after first-round byes. Miami added to that list Wednesday night, beating Ohio State in a quarterfinal at the Cotton Bowl. In those six games, including Thursday, the team with the bye has held the lead for less than five minutes — combined — of regulation.

▲ The home of Red Raider Football will have a new name beginning with the 2026 season in GALAXY STADIUM. Texas Tech entered into a landmark 15-year partnership with Galaxy in July that not only rebrands Texas Tech's stadium but also includes NIL opportunities as well as meaningful community involvement across West Texas.

▲ JOEY MCGUIRE led Texas Tech to an 8-1 mark against conference opponents during the 2025 season, marking the most league wins for the Red Raiders in school history. The Red Raiders are joined by Kansas State as the only Big 12 programs to record five or more league wins in each of the past four years.

RIVALRY TROPHY

BATTLE FOR THE SADDLE TROPHY - TCU

Texas Tech and TCU brought back an old tradition in 2017 with the return of the Saddle Trophy. The two schools played for the Saddle Trophy for 10 seasons from 1961-70 before the trophy suddenly disappeared. After discussions between both schools, a new saddle was created by M.L. Leddy's Boots and Saddlery in Fort Worth. It sits on a stand and includes the logos for both TCU and Texas Tech. The Red Raiders shut out a 21st-ranked TCU team in the first-ever battle for the Saddle Trophy in 1961, which at the time was dubbed the "West Texas Championship." The two schools ultimately finished 5-5 against each other during the "West Texas Championship" era and then continued to face each other annually from 1971 until the Southwest Conference's closure in 1995. The 2026 contest between Texas Tech and TCU in Lubbock will mark the 68th all-time meeting.

DOAK WALKER AWARD

Presented annually to the nation's top running back by the PwC SMU Athletic Forum based in Dallas.

Byron "Bam" Morris • 1993

Morris was only the fourth all-time winner of the Doak Walker Award in 1993 as he rushed for 1,752 yards to break Earl Campbell's single-season Southwest Conference rushing record. Morris snapped the Texas Tech single-season marks for rushing yards and rushing touchdowns after finding the end zone 22 times via the ground, a record that still stands to this day. He led the FBS that season for points per game and ranked second in total points and rushing yards.

Byron Hanspard • 1996

Hanspard became only the sixth player in FBS history to rush for 2,000 yards in a season en route to winning the Doak Walker Award in 1996. Hanspard snapped Morris' previous single-season rushing record with 2,084 yards, needing only five games to reach the 1,000 yard mark alone, the fastest any player had done so in NCAA history. He remains the Texas Tech single-season record holder for rushing yards and attempts to this day as well as the all-time leader for career rushing yards (4,219). Hanspard was tabbed a unanimous All-American selection en route to leading the Red Raiders to an appearance in the Alamo Bowl. Hanspard, a second round selection in the 1997 NFL Draft, became only the third unanimous All-America honoree in program history.

NATIONAL AWARDS

CHUCK BEDNARIK AWARD

Established in 1995, the Chuck Bednarik Award is one of the most-prestigious honors in college football, awarded annually to the most outstanding defensive player. This accolade recognizes exceptional talent, tenacity and impact on the defensive side of the ball. The award is named in tribute to Chuck Bednarik, a revered figure in football history known for his remarkable career as a linebacker.

Jacob Rodriguez • 2025

The Bednarik Award represented the fifth national award of the 2025 postseason for Rodriguez. He was tabbed the winner of the Bednarik Award during the College Football Awards Show live on ESPN on Dec. 12. Rodriguez was the first Red Raider in program history to win the Bednarik Award, which is presented annually by the Maxwell Football Club to the nation's top defensive player. The Bednarik Award selected Rodriguez over Ohio State safety Caleb Downs and Texas A&M defensive end Cashius Howell.

LOMBARDI AWARD

Established by the Rotary Club of Houston in 1970, the Lombardi Award™ has honored the nation's top college lineman or linebacker while fueling the fight against cancer. The award celebrates athletes who exemplify Coach Vince Lombardi's legacy of character, discipline, and excellence.

Jacob Rodriguez • 2025

Rodriguez was named the 2025 winner of the Lombardi Award on Dec. 10 during its annual gala held in Houston, recognizing the senior as the nation's top lineman or linebacker. It was the first time in school history a Red Raider received the Lombardi Award since its inception in 1970. The club selected Rodriguez over his teammate David Bailey (defensive end), who was also in attendance with head coach Joey McGuire, as well as over Texas A&M defensive end Cashius Howell and Alabama offensive lineman Kadyn Proctor.

BRONKO NAGURSKI TROPHY

Created in 1993 by the Football Writers Association of America, the Bronko Nagurski Trophy is awarded to the best defensive player in college football and is presented by the Charlotte Touchdown Club. The award was established to complement the Heisman Trophy Award, which at the time had never been presented to a defensive player.

Jacob Rodriguez • 2025

Rodriguez was named the winner of the 2025 Bronko Nagurski Trophy on Dec. 8 at an awards banquet in Charlotte, North Carolina. Rodriguez was the first Red Raider to win the Nagurski Trophy in program history and the first Big 12 recipient since 2009. He was the lone linebacker among a talented group of finalists that included Ohio State safety Caleb Downs, Texas A&M defensive end Cashius Howell, and Notre Dame cornerback Leonard Moore. Rodriguez was Texas Tech's first finalist for the award since Pro Football and College Football Hall of Famer Zach Thomas in 1995.

BUTKUS AWARD

Instituted in 1985, The Butkus Award is one of the elite individual honors, originally given each year to one player in college football: the most impactful linebacker in the game. In 2008, The Butkus Foundation, took stewardship of the award to fully realize the original purpose of honoring athletic achievement and service to the community. Since that time, the award has honored the nation's best high school, college and professional linebackers.

Jacob Rodriguez • 2025

In a surprise presentation at Texas Tech's team hotel on Dec. 5, the evening prior to the Big 12 Championship Game in Arlington, Matt Butkus formally revealed Jacob Rodriguez as the 2025 collegiate recipient of the Butkus Award. Butkus, the son of the award's late namesake Dick Butkus, did so alongside DeMarcus Ware, a previous Butkus Award honoree as a Dallas Cowboy in 2008 and in front of his Red Raider teammates. At the time, Rodriguez became the first Butkus Award winner in Texas Tech history and the first Red Raider to garner a national award since Patrick Mahomes II claimed the Sammy Baugh Trophy in 2016. Rodriguez would go on to garner multiple national awards in an unprecedented month for a Red Raider individual.

NATIONAL AWARDS

BILETNIKOFF AWARD

Presented annually to the nation's top receiver, regardless of position, by the Tallahassee Football Club Foundation.

Michael Crabtree • 2007, 2008

Crabtree became the first two-time winner of the Biletnikoff Award in 2008, cementing his status as one of the top wide receivers in college football history. Crabtree was the first Big 12 player to ever garner the prestigious award as well as the first player from a state of Texas school. To date, he remains one of only two players in history to be recognized with the trophy twice in a career.

Crabtree became the first freshman to win the Biletnikoff Award and the 14th overall winner when he took home the trophy for the first time in 2007. He set the Texas Tech single-season marks as well as the NCAA freshman records for receptions (134), receiving yards (1,962) and receiving touchdowns that season. His impressive debut has not been matched to this date as he still ranks third all-time in NCAA history for single-season receiving yards and first among power-five receivers. Crabtree followed with 1,165 yards and 19 touchdowns through the air as a sophomore en route to leading the Red Raiders to an appearance in the Cotton Bowl. His highlight moment came against Texas that season where he hauled in the game-winning catch from Graham Harrell, a 28-yard strike with one second remaining to top No. 1 Texas. It marked the first time in school history Texas Tech had defeated a top-ranked opponent.

PAUL WARFIELD TROPHY

Presented annually to the nation's top wide receiver by the Touchdown Club of Columbus. The trophy ceased to exist after the 2018 season.

Michael Crabtree • 2007, 2008

Like the Biletnikoff Award, Crabtree became the first two-time winner of the Paul Warfield Trophy as he earned the accolade following each of his two seasons as a Red Raider.

JOHNNY UNITAS GOLDEN ARM AWARD

Presented to the nation's top quarterback by the Johnny Unitas Foundation.

Graham Harrell • 2008

Harrell capped his legendary Red Raider career by being named the winner of the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award following a memorable senior season. Harrell threw for 5,111 passing yards and 45 touchdowns as a senior en route to becoming the first Texas Tech quarterback to earn first team All-America honors. Behind Harrell's arm, Texas Tech won its first 10 games that season, rising to as high as No. 2 in the polls after downing top-ranked Texas with his memorable touchdown pass to Michael Crabtree in the final seconds. Texas Tech matched its school record with 11 wins on its way to the fourth Cotton Bowl appearance in program history.

SAMMY BAUGH TROPHY

Presented to the nation's top quarterback by the Touchdown Club of Columbus. The award ceased to exist after the 2018 season. Texas Tech is one of only three FBS schools in the nearly 60-year existence of the award to have four different winners.

Kliff Kingsbury • 2002

Kingsbury became Texas Tech's first-ever recipient of the Sammy Baugh Trophy in 2002 after he threw for a then-school record 5,017 yards and 45 touchdowns en route to leading the Red Raiders to a 9-5 record and a victory over Clemson in the Tangerine Bowl. At the time, Kingsbury was only the third quarterback in FBS history to record 5,000 passing yards in a season as he closed his collegiate carer as the NCAA record holder for completions, passing attempts and total offensive plays.

B.J. Symons • 2003

Symons replaced Kingsbury a year later and kept the Red Raider offense rolling to the tune of an NCAA-record 5,833 passing yards. In the history of the award, it marked only the third time where two different quarterbacks had claimed the Sammy Baugh Trophy in consecutive seasons. Symons ran away with the award as he led the nation in nearly every passing category, setting FBS records for passing yards and passing touchdowns (52).

Graham Harrell • 2007

Texas Tech had to wait until the 2007 season for its third all-time winner of the Sammy Baugh Trophy as Harrell claimed the award following a strong junior campaign. Harrell was only the sixth quarterback in FBS history to throw for 5,000 yards in a season at the time as he blistered opposing defenses to the tune of 5,705 passing yards and 48 touchdowns. Texas Tech boasted the nation's top passing offense again that season as the Red Raiders ultimately finished 9-4 overall with a win over No. 20 Virginia in the Gator Bowl.

Patrick Mahomes II • 2016

Mahomes was named Texas Tech's fourth winner of the Sammy Baugh Trophy in 2016 as he became the fifth Red Raider all-time to lead the country in passing yards. Mahomes did it in only 12 games, becoming only the third quarterback in FBS history to record at least 5,000 passing yards in 12 games or less. Mahomes was also a threat with his legs, rushing for 285 yards and 12 touchdowns to become only the third FBS quarterback in history to record 5,000 yards of total offense twice in a career. Mahomes, in his final season as a Red Raider, ranked sixth all-time in FBS history for total offense and 12th for passing yards.

NATIONAL AWARDS

PONY EXPRESS AWARD

The Pony Express Award, established in 2011 but shelved until 2024, honors college football's most-outstanding teammate duo, regardless of position. The award is named in honor of former SMU running backs Eric Dickerson and Craig James. The award embodies teammates putting team first, while uplifting the team and its individuals through production, leadership and core values. The Pony Express Award is determined by a vote of current college football players, making it one of the most unique recognitions in the sport.

David Bailey & Jacob Rodriguez • 2025

Bailey and Rodriguez helped build one of the nation's top defenses for the Red Raiders in 2025, a team that led the FBS in rushing defense and was third nationally for both scoring and total defense. Bailey finished tied as the nation's leader in sacks (14.5) in 2025, while Rodriguez led the nation with seven forced fumbles as one of the top takeaway creators in recent memory. Bailey and Rodriguez were named the winners of the 2025 Pony Express Award over fellow talented duos in Ohio State quarterback Julian Sayin and wide receiver Jeremiah Smith, Georgia linebackers CJ Allen and Raylen Wilson and Notre Dame running backs Jeremiyah Love and Jadarian Price.

1961	E.J. Holub, C/LB	1st, No. 6 overall	Dallas Texans (AFL)

NOTE: The AFL held drafts from 1960-66, starting in 1967, after the NFL agreed to merge with the AFL, the two leagues conducted a "common draft" for three seasons, which was in turn replaced with the modern NFL Draft in 1970, upon the completion of the AFL/NFL merger.

The AFL Redshirt Draft was a supplemental draft held by the American Football League for players who had delayed their graduation by taking a redshirt year in college, thus still having a year of eligibility. This allowed the AFL to draft players who would be available for their teams in the following year.

RED RAIDERS IN THE AAFC DRAFT

NOTE: The All-America Football Conference (AAFC) was a major professional American football league that challenged the established National Football League (NFL) from 1946 to 1949. One of the NFL's most formidable challengers, the AAFC attracted many of the nation's best players. However, the AAFC was ultimately unable to sustain itself in competition with the NFL.

After it folded, three of its teams were admitted to the NFL: the San Francisco 49ers, the Cleveland Browns and the original Baltimore Colts (not to be confused with the second Baltimore Colts franchise that revived the name in 1953 and later moved to Indianapolis).

SUPER BOWL ACCOLADES

SUPER BOWL MVP

Patrick Mahomes II (2020, 2023, 2024)

Mahomes earned Super Bowl MVP honors following each of Kansas City's now three world titles during his reign as quarterback as he received the Pete Rozelle Trophy after Super Bowl LIV (2020), LVII (2023) and LVIII (2024). Mahomes, at only 24 years of age, became the youngest player in NFL history to collect Super Bowl MVP honors after Super Bowl LIV. After he was named Super Bowl MVP for the third time, he established a list of three alongside Tom Brady (five times) and Joe Montana (three times) who have earned Super Bowl MVP honors three or more times. Mahomes, Brady and Montana are also in rarefied air among the game's greatest quarterbacks as the only trio to have also won two MVPs and three Super Bowl MVPs.

NFL HONORS

▲ ZACH THOMAS became the first Red Raider to be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, as a member of the 2023 class. PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

ZACH THOMAS, LINEBACKER CLASS OF 2023

Miami Dolphins (1996-2007); Dallas Cowboys (2008)

Long regarded as one of the top linebackers in NFL history, Zach Thomas will now officially have his place in Canton to prove it as the Texas Tech and Miami Dolphins great has been announced as a member of the 2023 class for the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Thomas becomes the first Red Raider in program history to be named an inductee into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Thomas is already a member of the College Football Hall of Fame as a 2015 inductee as well as the Texas Tech Ring of Honor and Hall of Fame.

Thomas, a five-time first team All-Pro selection, was one of nine NFL greats selected for enshrinement as part of the 2023 class, joining the likes of cornerback Ronde Barber, linebacker Chuck Howley, defensive tackle Joe Klecko, cornerback Darrelle Revis, cornerback Ken Riley, left tackle Joe Thompson, fellow linebacker DeMarcus Ware and head coach Don Coryell.

Over his 13 NFL seasons, including 12 in Miami, Thomas quickly established himself as one of the league's most-consistent players not long after being selected in the fifth round of the 1996 NFL Draft. There were 153 players picked in that draft class prior to Thomas, but few, if any, possessed the same drive that defined his career. Once considered too small for the position, Thomas silenced his doubters with 10 seasons of at least 100 tackles, eventually finishing his career with 1,734 stops, the fifth-highest total in league history (since records began in 1987). He was a seven-time selection to the Pro Bowl, the most all-time for a Dolphins defender, and a two-time NFL Linebacker of the Year honoree.

Behind Thomas, the Dolphins developed into one of the NFL's top defensive units. Thomas was named the 1996 AFC Defensive Rookie of the Year and soon after, helped push Miami to a run of seven-consecutive seasons in the league's top 10 for total defense. His prowess for reading opposing offenses earned Thomas the reputation from opposing quarterbacks, including Peyton Manning, as one of the most difficult players to either get out of position.

Thomas becomes the third Dolphins defensive player in team history to be named to the Pro Football Hall of Fame, joining linebacker Nick Buoniconti and defensive end Jason Taylor. He is the 11th player or coach from the Miami Dolphins to earn the NFL's greatest honor.

The 2023 class for the Pro Football Hall of Fame will be formally inducted Aug. 5 at Tom Benson Hall of Fame Stadium in Canton, Ohio.

A 2008 first team All-American, Harrell won the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award and was named Sporting News Co-Player of the Year that season. He finished fourth in the Heisman Trophy voting and was a finalist for the Davey O'Brien Award, capping off a career in which he set seven NCAA records and totaled 15,793 passing yards and 134 touchdowns in his career. A master of Mike Leach's Air Raid offense, Harrell paired with Hall of Fame wide receiver Michael Crabtree to help redefine the college passing game, leading the Red Raiders to a 37-14 record during his tenure. Crabtree became the sixth Red Raider to be enshrined into the CFB HOF in 2022, while Harrell was next to be inducted in 2025.

DONNY ANDERSON, RUNNING BACK, 1963-65
INDUCTED IN 1989

Donny Anderson joined Holub in the College Football Hall of Fame as part of the 1989 class. Anderson was a three-time all-Southwest Conference halfback 1963-65 and two-time All-America halfback 1964-65. His credits for his senior year of 1965 were astonishing. He ran a kickoff back 100 yards against Oklahoma State, caught 10 passes against Arkansas, and scored 17 touchdowns on the season. The Sporting News named him co-winner (with Jim Grabowski of Illinois) of its Player of the Year Award. His 5,111 yards on all-purpose running was a Texas Tech record. This includes his career yardage by rushing, receiving, kick returns, and interception returns. He led the nation in this category in 1965. He was a two-time SWC MVP and placed fourth in the Heisman vote. Anderson played nine years of pro football after Texas Tech.

GABE RIVERA, DEFENSIVE LINE, 1979-82
INDUCTED IN 2012

Gabe Rivera earned his rightful place in the College Hall of Fame in 2012, exactly 30 years after he ended his Red Raider career as one of the most dominant defensive linemen in Southwest Conference history. Rivera dominated the SWC during his four-year career that spanned from 1979-1982. One of the most feared defensive linemen in college football, Rivera compiled 321 career tackles, 34 tackles for loss, 14 sacks, 11 pass deflections and six fumble recoveries. He garnered consensus First-Team All-America honors his senior season in 1982 while also being named an Honorable-Mention All-American as a sophomore in 1980. Following an appearance in the Blue-Gray All-Star game at the end of his senior season, he was selected in the first round of the 1983 NFL Draft by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

MICHAEL CRABTREE, WIDE RECEIVER, 2007-08
INDUCTED IN 2022

Crabtree became the sixth Red Raider to be enshrined into the College Football Hall of Fame in December 2022. It was fitting reward for Crabtree, one of the top wide receivers in college football history who was selected in his first year of eligibility. The first two-time Biletnikoff Award winner in history, Crabtree closed his career as the Texas Tech all-time leader with 3,127 receiving yards and 41 touchdown catches over only two seasons. He set the Texas Tech single-season marks and NCAA records for freshmen with 134 receptions, 1,962 receiving yards and 22 receiving touchdowns in 2007. Behind Crabtree, the Red Raiders finished 11-2 overall in a memorable 2008 season that saw Texas Tech rise to No. 2 in the national polls following a memorable win over top-ranked Texas. He had the game-winning catch against the Longhorns, capping a storied career where he was a two-time consensus All-American and first team All-Big 12 selection.

JERRY MOORE, HEAD COACH (1981-85)
INDUCTED IN 2014

Jerry Moore remains the only Texas Tech head coach in program history to be enshrined in the College Football Hall of Fame as he was inducted as part of the 2014 class. Between his time at Texas Tech (1981-85) as well as North Texas and Appalachian State, Moore recorded 242 victories over his career before finishing his career in 2012 as the 16th-winningest coach in Division I (FBS and FCS) history. Moore totaled the bulk of those wins at Appalachian State after guiding the Mountaineers to three-consecutive FCS national titles from 2005-07. Moore was the only coach to win AFCA National Coach of the Year honors in three-consecutive seasons, he led his teams to 18 FCS postseason appearances, and he won a record 13-straight postseason games in contiguous years (2005-08).

TEXAS TECH HALL OF FAME

▲ Record-setting quarterback B.J. SYMONS was one of three Red Raiders to be inducted into the Texas Tech Hall of Fame as part of the 2025 class. Symons, who was joined by former teammates Aaron Hunt and Ryan Aycock, was honored during halftime of Texas Tech's victory over BYU during the 2025 regular season.

The Texas Tech Hall of Fame is determined by outstanding athletic achievement and the individuals that have brought distinction to the Texas Tech Athletics program through their athletic accomplishments, but also continually displaying qualities of sportsmanship, character and integrity. Former athletes are eligible for consideration a minimum of 10 years after their class has graduated. More detailed information can be found at TexasTech.com.

TEXAS TECH ATHLETICS ADMINISTRATION

▲ KIRBY HOCUTT is now the longest-tenured athletics director in Texas Tech history, leading the Red Raiders to unprecedented growth and success during his tenure.

KIRBY HOCUTT
Director of Athletics

Kirby Hocutt has guided the Texas Tech athletics department to unprecedented success since being named the 13th Director of Athletics in school history on March 2, 2011.

Under his leadership the past decade, Texas Tech has developed into one of the nation's elite athletics programs, a tenure highlighted by not only success nationally but also unprecedented revenue growth, significant investments into the student-athlete experience and a transformation of athletic facilities. Hocutt, now the longest-tenured athletics director in school history, has been at the helm during Texas Tech's most-successful period in school history where all 17 athletic programs have competed in the NCAA postseason or a bowl game with nine teams finishing in the top eight nationally of their respective sports.

Texas Tech's success in competition under Hocutt has only been complimented by an athletic profile with a list of achievements such as:

SUCCESS IN COMPETITION

When Hocutt was formally announced as Texas Tech's athletics director, he stated he wanted to help build one of the nation's top departments with success across each of the university's sports programs. Hocutt has raised Texas Tech's athletics profile, establishing the Red Raiders as not only the premier athletics program in the Big 12 Conference but one of the most-successful departments in the country.

Part of that success has stemmed from one of Texas Tech's guiding principles – "win every day." Texas Tech has claimed 33 total Big 12 Conference titles under Hocutt, including 14 the past two academic years alone, which leads all league schools. The Red Raiders combined for eight Big 12 titles during the 2024-25 athletic year, which marked the most in school history, before adding six more during the 2025-26 calendar year.

Texas Tech Football was the highlight of the 2025-26 athletic season as the Red Raiders dominated the conference with nine wins by at least 20 wins en route to claiming the Big 12 Championship title and reaching the College Football Playoff for the first time. The Red Raiders were the ninth athletic program to finish their season ranked in the top-eight of their respective sport under Hocutt, joining men's basketball, baseball, softball, men's track and field (indoor and outdoor), women's track and field (indoor and outdoor), women's tennis, women's golf and men's golf.

Texas Tech has controlled the track throughout Hocutt's tenure with head coach Wes Kittley's men's program becoming the second sport in school history to win a national championship. Texas Tech has been close to raising the national championship trophy several other times under Hocutt as the Red Raider men's basketball program fell seconds shy of outlasting the 2019 March Madness field, while the softball program under Gerry Glasco has reached the championship series of the Women's College World Series in each of the past two seasons.

Glasco is one of several notable coaching hires Hocutt has made at Texas Tech, joining the trio of football coach Joey McGuire, men's basketball coach Grant McCasland and baseball coach Tim Tadlock. Under Tadlock, the Texas Tech baseball program advanced to the College World Series for the first time in school history in 2014 and has since made three return trips to Omaha in 2016, 2018 and 2019. The Red Raiders have been a mainstay in the NCAA postseason under Tadlock with eight total NCAA Regional appearances.

McGuire, meanwhile, has captivated the Red Raider fan base in only four seasons with an enthusiastic energy that has been matched by Texas Tech's performance on the field. McGuire is just the second head coach in program history to lead the Red Raiders to a bowl appearance in each of his first four seasons, which was capped this past year with Texas Tech's memorable run to a Big 12 championship and appearance in the College Football Playoff Quarterfinals at the Capital One Orange Bowl. In addition, Texas Tech has finished with a winning Big 12 record in each of his four seasons, joining Kansas State as the only league schools to do so, regardless of conference affiliation.

On the court, the Red Raiders have reached the NCAA Elite Eight round three times under Hocutt, including most recently to end the 2024-25 season under McCasland, who has pushed Texas Tech to the NCAA Tournament in each of his three seasons. Texas Tech has become one of the top college basketball jobs in the country not only because of its success the past decade but due to the fan support at United Supermarkets Arena. Texas Tech routinely boasts sellout crowds at both United Supermarkets Arena and Galaxy Stadium, making both venues among the top homefield advantages in college athletics.

RESPECT THE PAST, INVENT THE FUTURE

Not long into Hocutt's tenure, Texas Tech unveiled in August 2014 the first athletics-specific fundraising campaign in university history: The Campaign for Fearless Champions. The campaign included four components – to enhance athletic facilities, invest in the athletics scholarship endowment, grow the J.T. and Margaret Talkington Department of Student-Athlete Development and provide for the future of Texas Tech Athletics. The more than $500 million initiative ultimately benefited all 17 Texas Tech programs as the most-successful fundraising campaign in athletics history.

It's part of a key component of the Texas Tech athletics department under Hocutt: respecting the past, all while inventing the future.

Soon after the campaign's launch, Hocutt and Hall of Fame Coach Marsha Sharp created the Talkington Department of Student-Athlete Development to help prepare student-athletes for success after graduation. The department focuses on many life skills for student-athletes such as resume building, etiquette training, interview skills and leadership development. Since its inception in 2014, Texas Tech has been able to mentor thousands of student-athletes through programming such as the Suited for Success series and various internship opportunities across the country.

The student-athlete experience has been a key priority under Hocutt's leadership as Texas Tech opened the Cash Family Sports Nutrition Center in February 2020. The state-of-the-art facility is the day-to-day dining location for the university's more than 400 student-athletes, offering on-site meal preparations, a 220-person seating capacity as well as the Dean and Christi Quinn Education Kitchen for Texas Tech's nutritional staff to educate student-athletes on proper cooking prep and storage.

As part of The Campaign for Fearless Champions, Hocutt provided the vision and the plans to build the $48 million Sports Performance Center, which opened in the fall of 2017. The world-class facility houses an indoor track and field competition venue and the Petersen Family Indoor Practice Facility along with sports medicine, nutrition and strength and conditioning areas. Texas Tech regularly hosts the Big 12 Indoor Track and Field Championships in the venue, which has been praised as one of the top multi-sport facilities in all of college athletics.

Texas Tech officially opened the Dustin R. Womble Basketball Center in May 2021, a $32.2 million, nearly 59,000-square-foot training facility for the Red Raider and Lady Raider basketball programs. The facility is easily among the finest in college athletics, providing both programs with their own practice courts as well as a 6,500-square-foot strength and conditioning area, one of the largest of its kind in the NCAA that is on-par with similar team headquarters in the NBA. Texas Tech's final investment in the facility was the mounting of video boards in both gyms, making the Womble Center the only practice facility in the country at the time with interactive video boards.

Texas Tech closed The Campaign for Fearless Champions with its most-significant investment into now Galaxy Stadium to date with the completion of the $242 million South End Zone Building and Dustin R. Womble Football Center that opened during the 2024 season. The facility – boasting the iconic Double T scoreboard atop four levels – is the largest contiguous football complex in the country, providing McGuire and his staff with substantial investments in player development and recovery as the new day-to-day headquarters for the Red Raiders. Already labeled as one of the top facilities nationally, the South End Zone Building connects to the Womble Football Center and Sports Performance Center, combining for more than 340,000 square feet of space with a blend of world-class modern design and technology elements.

LANDMARK PARTNERSHIPS

In addition to raising Texas Tech's profile through philanthropic giving, Hocutt has overseen naming-rights negotiations for United Supermarkets Arena and now Galaxy Stadium. Texas Tech secured a landmark 15-year partnership with Galaxy in July 2026 that formally rebranded the home of Red Raider Football to Galaxy Stadium. Similar to other recent large-scale partnerships with Texas Tech Athletics, the collaboration with Galaxy will provide Name, Image and Likeness (NIL) opportunities for Red Raider student-athletes through branded activation campaigns and original content, expanding visibility and commercial revenue opportunities. The partnership expands beyond traditional naming rights to include not only NIL support but also high-impact branding, enhanced fan engagement and meaningful community involvement across West Texas.

Texas Tech also launched a historic 10-year partnership with adidas in July 2024 to align the Double T with not only the global apparel and footwear provider but also Texas Tech alumnus Patrick Mahomes II. Under this partnership, Texas Tech will utilize not only the adidas logo but also Mahomes' signature Gladiator logo, marking the first time an adidas athlete partner's logo has been featured on official collegiate apparel.

SUCCESS IN THE CLASSROOM

Texas Tech student-athletes have excelled in the classroom under Hocutt's watch, raising the bar multiple times in terms of the highest term and cumulative grade-point averages in school history. Texas Tech student-athletes have combined for at least a 3.0 GPA over 23-consecutive semesters through the 2026 spring term. During this span, student-athletes have set new school records for the highest semester and cumulative GPAs in history.

ON THE NATIONAL LEVEL

Throughout his tenure at Texas Tech, Hocutt has been prominent on several national committees, possibly none more recognizable than his role on the College Football Playoff Selection Committee. Hocutt was named to the CFP Selection Committee in 2015 and served as the committee chairman during the 2016-17 seasons. The CFP Selection Committee was responsible for selecting the top four teams in the playoff at the time, while also placing the next group of teams in the remaining New Year's bowls. Hocutt also wrapped a five-year stint as a member of the NCAA Baseball Committee following the 2023 season.

Hocutt's success at Texas Tech was recognized in March 2018 as he was named an Under Armour Athletics Director of the Year by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA). Hocutt was one of four sitting athletics directors at the NCAA FBS level to win the prestigious award.

PERSONAL

Hocutt arrived at Texas Tech following three years at the University of Miami (Fla.) where he was named Athletics Director on Feb. 8, 2008. He previously earned his first opportunity as an NCAA Division I athletics director at Ohio University in 2005 at only the age of 33.

A native of Sherman, Texas, Hocutt also served stints in the athletics departments at Kansas State (1996-97) and the University of Oklahoma (1998-2005). Prior to his time at Oklahoma, Hocutt was the coordinator of licensing at the National Collegiate Athletic Association. He began his sports administration career as the assistant director of marketing and promotions at his alma mater, Kansas State.

A former football student-athlete at Kansas State, Hocutt was a four-year letterman at linebacker and led the Big 8 Conference in tackles as a junior in 1993. Hocutt, who was elected captain his senior year, was named to the All-Big 8 Conference team following his junior season. The Sporting News selected him in 1993 as one of the nation's top-20 "most underrated" players.

Hocutt earned his bachelor's degree from Kansas State in 1995 and his master's of education degree from the University of Oklahoma in 2001. He and his wife, Diane, have two sons – Drew Phillips and Brooks Ryan. Drew is a Texas Tech graduate and was a three-year member of the Red Raider football program from 2022-24. Brooks is currently a student at Texas Tech.

TEXAS TECH ATHLETICS ADMINISTRATION

JONATHAN BOTROS
Deputy Athletics Director

Jonathan Botros, a native Lubbockite and two-time graduate of Texas Tech University, was named Deputy Athletics Director in June 2023 where he oversees the day-to-day operations of the athletics department as the second in command to Director of Athletics Kirby Hocutt.

In his role, Botros is the department's Chief Operating Officer (COO) and serves as the sport supervisor for both the Red Raider football and men's basketball programs. Botros was elevated to his new role after joining the athletics department in May 2016 as Senior Associate Athletics Director and Chief Financial Officer.

During his tenure, Botros has helped Texas Tech navigate one of the largest periods of budgetary growth in its history with its budget rising to more than $185 million for the 2026-27 academic year, the highest in school history. He has also overseen Texas Tech's development of the South End Zone Building and Dustin R. Womble Football Center, a $242 million project that represents the largest contiguous football complex in the country. The facility has been praised as one of the premier football complexes in the country. Botros was a key part of a team tasked with executing such a large capital project through the creation of an external LLC to manage and oversee design and construction, the first of its kind in Texas Tech's history.

Botros has most recently overseen the planning of the department's House Settlement strategy and its coordination of an implementation team. This included identifying both the internal and external structure that best positioned Texas Tech in both sharing revenue directly with its student-athletes as well as engagement with external NIL opportunities.

Core to Botros' duties has also included leadership in negotiation and execution of agreements with several key external partners such as adidas (apparel), Coca Cola (pouring rights) and Learfield (multimedia rights). Texas Tech formally signed a 15-year naming rights agreement with Galaxy in July 2026 to rebrand the home of Red Raider Football to Galaxy Stadium beginning with the 2026 season.

As part of his previous CFO duties, Botros had oversight over the department's accounts receivable, purchasing and procurement, contracting, human resources, financial reporting and travel. He was also responsible for the development and monitoring of all capital project funding plans and served as the liaison to Texas Tech's Office of General Counsel, Office of Audit Services and the University's Senior Vice President for Administration and Finance.

A major point of emphasis for Botros has been the strategic management of Texas Tech's facilities debt as he helped decrease $115 million in debt upon his arrival in 2016 down to $50 million in only five years. That plan has been carried out simultaneously with the development of capital projects to construct more than $300 million dollars in new athletics facilities, namely the Sports Performance Center, the Dustin R. Womble Basketball Center, the Cash Family Sports Nutrition Center, a new baseball team clubhouse at Rip Griffin Park and now the South End Zone Building and Womble Football Center.

In addition to his role as CFO, Botros oversaw several units including information technology, facilities and game operations as well as equipment operations and the athletics department's relationship with The Rawls Course. He also served a lengthy tenure as the sport administrator for a Texas Tech track and field program that has consistently ranked among the best not only in the Big 12 Conference but nationally as well.

Botros moved to the athletics department after previously serving as the managing director for administration and finance information systems management for Texas Tech University. In this role, Botros served as a business management analyst for Texas Tech University's Chief Financial Officer, Noel Sloan.

Botros earned a bachelor's of business administration in marketing from Texas Tech University in 2004. He added a master's of business administration in finance in 2010.

Botros, a lifelong supporter of Texas Tech Athletics, resides in Lubbock with his wife, Danna, and their two sons, Kannan and Lincoln.

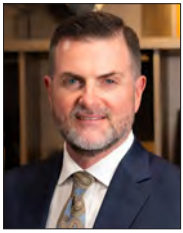
TEXAS TECH ADMINISTRATION



BRANDON CREIGHTON
Chancellor, TTU System

Brandon Creighton serves as the 6th Chancellor of the Texas Tech University System, bringing decades of experience in public service, higher education leadership, and private-sector development to a system at the forefront of growth, academic excellence, and national visibility.

An eighth-generation Texan, Creighton was born and raised in Conroe and spent much of his childhood on his family's ranch in southern New Mexico – formative years that instilled in him the values of hard work, personal responsibility, and service. He put himself through college working as a pipefitter and an electrician's helper before becoming a policy analyst in the Texas Senate. He later served as an investigator and brief writer in the Texas and Oklahoma Attorneys General Offices and built a successful private-sector career as an attorney and real estate developer.

Creighton began his elected service in the Texas House of Representatives before being elected to the Texas Senate, where he earned a reputation as a fiscal conservative and pro-business leader. As Chairman of the Senate Committee on Education K-16 and Article III of the Texas budget – responsible for nearly half of the state's $400 billion budget – Creighton authored transformative legislation, including more than $8 billion in new funding for Texas public schools, the largest teacher pay raise in history, major school finance reforms, and the nation's largest school choice launch.

He also led sweeping higher-education reforms restoring academic excellence and accountability, including eliminating DEI programs, modernizing tenure, and strengthening university governance. His legislative work further includes major natural-disaster preparedness and resilience initiatives, and landmark regulatory reform. Creighton was central to the creation and passage of the Texas University Fund (TUF), a multibillion-dollar permanent endowment that expands research capacity and long-term economic impact for the Texas Tech University System.

In 2025, Creighton was elected by his peers to serve as President Pro Tempore of the Texas Senate, placing him third in the state's line of succession. During his tenure, he served several days as Governor of Texas, including during a historic polar vortex.

As Chancellor, Creighton leads a five-university enterprise with an operating budget exceeding $3 billion, more than 21,000 employees, 64,000 students, and a global alumni network of over 400,000. The Texas Tech University System generates a statewide economic impact of $19.2 billion and manages a $3 billion endowment that fuels research, talent development, and institutional growth. Operating across 20 academic locations in 15 Texas cities and in San José, Costa Rica, the system continues to expand its footprint and national influence at a remarkable pace.

Guided by West Texas values and a commitment to sustained growth, Creighton is focused on positioning the Texas Tech University System as a national leader in research, innovation, and opportunity. His vision centers on developing the next generation of leaders, strengthening academic and research programs, elevating the system's national standing, and advancing excellence in technology, medicine, agriculture, and free-market enterprise – ensuring the Texas Tech University System remains a driving force for Texas' strength and prosperity for decades to come.

DR. LAWRENCE SCHOVANEC
President

Lawrence Schovanec serves as the 17th president of Texas Tech University, leading one of the nation's premier public research universities through a period of historic growth in enrollment, student success, research and philanthropy.

After earning his doctorate in mathematics from Indiana University, Schovanec joined the Texas Tech faculty as an assistant professor of mathematics in 1982. During more than four decades at the university, he has served as department chair, dean, interim president, provost and, since 2016, president.

Under Schovanec's leadership, Texas Tech has surpassed 43,000 students, achieved record levels of research activity with annual expenditures of nearly $300 million, secured more than $1.7 billion in philanthropic support, and invested more than $900 million in campus facilities and infrastructure. The university has expanded its leadership in areas including national security, agriculture, energy and health sciences while maintaining a steadfast commitment to student success, affordability and access.

Beyond the university, Schovanec serves on the executive board of the Inter-American Organization for Higher Education and the NAFSA Board of Directors. In 2025, he was appointed to the College Football Playoff Board of Managers, where he represents both Texas Tech University and the Big 12 Conference. He previously chaired the Texas Council of Public University Presidents and Chancellors, the Texas International Education Consortium Board, and the Big 12 Board of Directors.

Schovanec remains committed to advancing Texas Tech's national prominence while ensuring the university continues to produce successful graduates prepared to be leaders in their professions and communities, generate impactful scholarship and research, and serve the people of Texas. He and his wife, Patty, a member of the Texas Tech mathematics faculty, are inspired by the passion of the Red Raider family.

TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY

▲ TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY was founded in 1923 as Texas Technological College before eventually being renamed Texas Tech University on Sept. 1, 1969.

HISTORY OF TEXAS TECH UNIVERSITY

Texas Tech University was created by legislative action in 1923 and has the distinction of being the largest comprehensive higher education institution in the western two-thirds of the state of Texas. The university is the major institution of higher education in a region larger than 46 of the nation's 50 states and is the only campus in Texas that is home to a major university, law school and medical school.

Originally named Texas Technological College, the college opened in 1925 with six buildings and an enrollment of 914. Graduate instruction did not begin until 1927 within the school of Liberal Arts. A "Division of Graduate Studies" was established in 1935 and eventually became known as the Graduate School in 1954.

By action of the Texas State Legislature, Texas Technological College formally became Texas Tech University on September 1, 1969. At that time the schools of Agricultural Sciences, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Engineering and Home Economics also became known as "colleges." Architecture became a college in 1986. Two colleges changed their names in 1993 to reflect the broadening fields each serves: the College of Agricultural Sciences became the College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources and the College of Home Economics became the College of Human Sciences. The Honors College was established in 1998, and the College of Visual and Performing Arts opened in 2002. Mass Communications became a college in 2004 and became the College of Media & Communication in 2013.

The Texas State Legislature authorized funds in 1965 for establishing the Texas Tech University School of Law, and the Law School's first dean was appointed in 1966. The first class of 72 students enrolled in 1967. The Law School was approved by the American Bar Association in 1970 and is fully accredited by the Supreme Court of Texas (1968) and the Association of American Law Schools (1969).

As a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, Texas Tech began competing in the Big 12 Conference in 1996 after a 35-year membership in the former Southwest Conference.

TEXAS TECH TRADITIONS

▲ The GOIN' BAND FROM RAIDERLAND features more than 400 members, representing the oldest student organization on campus after being established in 1925.

ARBOR DAY
When Texas Tech first started, most of the funds went towards the buildings, but the campus was lacking its landscape. Then, in 1937, President Bradford Knapp decided to dedicate one day every spring to beautify the campus. On the first day of this now annual tradition, 20,000 trees were planted. This Tech tradition still goes on today as student and teachers plant trees and beautify the campus on Arbor Day.

BANGIN' BERTHA (SADDLE TRAMP BELL)
Saddle Tramps carry Bangin Bertha, a bell on a trailer, to all home football games and homecoming events. Bertha was designed in 1959 by Saddle Tramp Joe Winegar, and was donated by the Santa Fe Railroad. Bangin' Bertha is considered a spirit-raiser and a big tradition at Texas Tech.

BLARNEY STONE
On St. Patrick's Day in 1939, Texas Tech University unveiled that they had discovered a piece of the Blarney Stone. According to the legend the stone was discovered by a group of petroleum engineers while they were on a field trip. After doing tests it was discovered that the stone was a piece of the original Blarney Stone. The stone now lies on a stand in front of the old Electrical Engineering Building. It is said that seniors that kiss the Blarney Stone upon graduation will receive the gift of eloquent speech.

CARILLON
In 1973, Ruth Baird Larabee made a donation to Texas Tech University to buy and install a carillon in memory of her parents. The Charles and Ruth Baird Memorial Carillon is located in the west tower of the administration building at the center of the Texas Tech campus. The beautiful music of the 36-bell instrument ring out over the campus during times of celebration and solemnity. Students, faculty, and staff, as well as visitors to the university, have enjoyed the music for 50 years. The carillon became one of Texas Tech's treasured traditions.

The carillon was refurbished and extended in 2005, adding additional bells to make 3 ½ octaves. The bourdon (the largest bell) weighs approximately 800 pounds, and the smallest, only about eight pounds. Twelve of the bells were cast by Whitechapel Bell Foundry in England, 24 were cast by the Paccard Foundry in France, and the newest bells, by Meek & Watson Foundry in Ohio. The estimated value of this collection of bells today is $250,000.

According to The Guild of Carillonneurs in North America, "A carillon is a musical instrument composed of at least 23 bells, arranged in chromatic sequence, so tuned as to produce concordant harmony when many bells are sounded together. It is played from a keyboard that allows expression through variation of touch."

Every year since its inception, the Carol of Lights has featured carillon music. Additionally, each year on the Fourth of July at 1:00 p.m., the carillon is played in conjunction with the ceremonial ringing of the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia. Summer Sunday evening concerts are another Tech tradition.

CAROL OF LIGHTS
To celebrate the holiday season, Texas Tech holds an annual event called the Carol of Lights. The event starts off with the Texas Tech University Combined Choirs performing selections of classic holiday songs at the Science Quadrangle. When the lighting ceremony commences, Students, as well as those who came for the show, stand in awe as over 25,000 red, white, and orange lights illuminate the 13 buildings surrounding memorial circle.

This tradition started in 1959 when Harold Hinn came up with the idea and provided the funds to cover the science quadrangle and the administration building with lights. Unfortunately students were away on Christmas break and did not see the display. The following year, the Residence Hall Association created the Christmas Sing, which is now known as the Carol of Lights. Today, the Carol of Lights is one of Texas Tech's favorite traditions.

DOUBLE T BENCH
Located in the courtyard behind the Administration Building, this special bench was given by the seniors of the class of 1931. It was an announced tradition that no freshmen were allowed to sit on it.

DOUBLE T SADDLE MONUMENT
Before the football team runs onto the field, they touch the sculpture of a saddle. The saddle was dedicated by the Saddle Tramps to Double T, one of the many Masked Rider Horses that served proudly over the years.

DOUBLE T
There is no other symbol more recognized with Texas Tech than the Double T symbol. Though no one has yet stepped forward to claim credit for its design, historical evidence points to Texas Tech's first football coach E.Y. Freeland, who put the Double T logo on sweaters for the football players.

FIGHT SONG (FIGHT! RAIDERS! FIGHT!)
Fight, Raiders, Fight! Fight, Raiders, Fight!
Fight for the school we love so dearly.
You'll hit 'em high, you'll hit 'em low.
You'll push the ball across the goal,
Tech, Fight! Fight!

We'll praise your name, boost you to fame.
Fight for the Scarlet and Black.
You will hit 'em, you will wreck 'em.
Hit 'em! Wreck 'em, Texas Tech!
And the Victory Bells will ring out!
----Written by Carroll McMath

GOIN' BAND FROM RAIDERLAND
The Goin' Band from Raiderland is one of the largest spirit raisers on campus and among the finest bands in the country. The original band in 1925, numbering only 21 members, was dressed in matador uniforms. In recent years, the band's 400 members have returned to variations on that original look. The Goin' Band performs at home and away football games, parades and at other special events. Following home games, devoted fans stick around to join the band in their traditional march out of Galaxy Stadium, through the engineering key, around the circle, by the Administration Building and ending at the band parking lot behind the Music Building. The band was the 1998 recipient of the prestigious Sudler Trophy as the nation's top marching band.

GUNS UP
The "Guns Up" sign is the widely recognized greeting of one Red Raider to another. It is also the sign of victory displayed by the crowd at every athletic event. The sign is made by extending the index finger outward while extending the thumb upward and tucking in the middle, little and fourth fingers to form a gun.

The sign can be traced back to L. Glenn Dippel, a 1961 alumnus of Texas Tech. He and his wife Roxie were living in Austin and faced the daily presence of the "Hook 'em

TEXAS TECH TRADITIONS

Horns" hand sign used by University of Texas fans. So, the Dippels decided to retaliate. They looked to mascot Raider Red and his raised guns for their inspiration and in 1971 developed the Guns Up hand symbol. The Saddle Tramps and Texas Tech cheerleaders immediately adopted Guns Up and a new tradition was born.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming is an exciting week full of activities for Texas Tech students. Such activities include a bonfire, parade, float competitions, open houses, award programs, and of course the homecoming football game. Another favorite event, which has been around since 1954, is the election of the homecoming queen.

MASKED RIDER

The Masked Rider is the oldest and most popular mascot of Texas Tech University that still exists today. Originally the Masked Rider started as a dare in 1936 and was then called the ghost rider, because no one knew the rider's identity. These ghost riders circled the field at home football games and then disappeared.

The Masked Rider did not become an official mascot until 1954, when Joe Kirk Fulton led the team out onto the field at the Gator Bowl. Fulton, wearing Levi's, red shirt, a black cape and mounted on a black horse, awed the crowd as the team made one of the most sensational entrances ever.

MATADOR SONG (ALMA MATER)

Fight, Matadors, for Tech!
Songs of love we'll sing to thee,
Bear our banners far and wide.
Ever to be our pride,
Fearless champions ever be.
Stand on heights of victory.
Strive for honor evermore.
Long live the Matadors!
----Music by Harry Lemaire, words by R.C. Marshall

RAIDER RED

Prior to the 1971 season, the Southwest Conference passed a rule that prevented members of the conference from taking live animals to non-home games unless the host team had no objections. So Jim Gaspard, a member of the Saddle Tramps, created Raider Red from a drawing by the late Lubbock cartoonist Dirk West as an alternative to the Masked Rider. Raider Red's student persona is kept a secret from the Tech community. Red is a public relations mascot who shakes hands with the crowds at athletic events and poses for pictures. Raider Red fires his two 12-gauge shotguns using powder-filled shells after every Tech touchdown and field goal.

SADDLE TRAMPS

Formed by Tech student Arch Lamb in 1936, this all-male booster organization supports men's athletics at Texas Tech. The name Saddle Tramp came from the stories of traveling men who would come to a farm for a brief time, fix up some things and move on. Lamb said he decided that he could fix up some things himself before moving on, and the Saddle Tramps were born. Since that time the Saddle Tramps believe if something was for the betterment of Texas Tech then they would work at it.

These Midnight Raiders "paint the campus red" with crepe paper before big home games, form the legendary "Bell Circle" moments before kickoff, ring Bangin' Bertha, participate in parades and other campus events (including the Carol of Lights), and ring the Victory Bells after Red Raider victories.

TEXAS TECH SEAL

Designed by the campus' master planner, William Ward Watkin, in 1924, the Texas Tech Seal's symbols are the lamp, which represents "school," the key for "home," the book for "church," and the star for "state." Cotton bolls represent the area's strong cotton industry and the eagle is suggestive of our country. The seal first appeared on Tech diplomas in 1948, but it wasn't officially approved as "The" Seal of Texas Tech University until 1953. On April 27, 1972, the seal was placed at the Broadway and University entrance to the campus in what became known as the Amon G. Carter Plaza. It is made of red granite and stands 12 feet high. It has been referred to by students through the years as "the Oreo."

TTAA CLASS RING AND CEREMONY

Since 1999, the official Texas Tech Alumni Association Class Ring has been the universal symbol of academic achievement at Texas Tech. The single ring is a tradition that was brought back from the 1950s that encompasses the Double T, Masked Rider, Administration Bell Tower, and the Texas Tech seal. Cast inside each ring is "Strive For Honor," taken from "The Matador Song." Rings are presented by the University president at the Official Ring Ceremony in the Merket Alumni Center.

VICTORY BELLS

In 1936 victory bells were given to Texas Tech as a class gift. The bells rang for the first time at the 1936 class's graduation. It is said that after the win over TCU, the following year, the bells rang throughout the night. The bells kept Lubbock residents up all night. Thereafter, the bell ringing was limited to 30 minutes. Saddle Tramps ring the bells after Texas Tech victories and during special occasions. The Victory Bells - one large and one small, which combine to weigh 1,200 pounds - hang in the east tower of the Administration Building.

WILL ROGERS AND SOAPSUDS

One of the most well-known landmarks on campus is the statue of Will Rogers and his horse Soapsuds. This memorial was dedicated on February 16, 1950 by longtime friend of Rogers, Amon G. Carter. Carter believed Texas Tech was the perfect setting for the statue and that it would fit into the traditions and scenery of West Texas.

The statue stands at 9'11" tall and weighs 3,200 pounds; its estimated cost was $25,000. On the base of the statue, the inscription reads "Lovable Old Will Rogers on his favorite horse, 'Soapsuds,' riding into the Western sunset."

Today, Texas Tech tradition and legends surrounds the statue. According to one legend, the plan to face Will Rogers so that he could be riding off into the sunset did not work out as it would cause Soapsuds' rear to be facing downtown. To solve this problem, the horse and Will was turned 23 degrees to the east so the horse's posterior was facing in the direction of Texas A&M, one of the school's rivals.

Before every home football game the Saddle Tramps wrap Old Will with red crepe paper. Will Rogers and Soapsuds have also been wrapped up in black crepe paper to mourn national tragedies.

THE MASKED RIDER PROGRAM

▲ THE MASKED RIDER remains one of the most recognizable traditions in college football after Joe Kirk Fulton first led the team out onto the field at the 1954 Gator Bowl.

MASKED RIDER HISTORY

On Jan. 1, 1954, Texas Tech fans attending the Gator Bowl in Tampa, Florida, witnessed the evolution of a beloved tradition that Red Raider fans would embrace for decades to come. Dressed in black with a long flowing cape and mounted on a solid black horse, Joe Kirk Fulton caught the eyes of the nation when he charged onto the playing field to lead the Red Raider football team. Ed Danforth of the Atlanta Constitution wrote: "No team in any bowl game ever made a more sensational entrance." The dramatic entry by the horse and rider electrified the crowd as well as the Red Raiders, who beat Auburn, 35-13.

Roughly 70 years later, the Texas Tech Masked Rider is one of the most recognizable college mascots in the country. Wearing black riding clothes, mask, bolero hat, and scarlet cape, and perched atop Centennial Champion, a jet black quarter horse, the Masked Rider is a colorful symbol of school spirit and pride. The Masked Rider leads the team onto the field before each home game and appears at other Red Raider sporting events. The rider and horse also represent Texas Tech at rodeos, parades, civic events and school activities around the state.

In total, Texas Tech has featured 64 different Masked Riders in its history on 16 different horses. Sofie Jones, a third-generaton Red Raider and Honors College student from Houston, has been selected as the 65th Masked Rider for the 2026-27 academic year and will do so on a new horse dubbed "Matador."
